HOOVER FORESEES HOOVER AS LEADER IN GREAT ERA

Election Held Certainty Because He Fills Requirements of Vast Development to Come

BY JAY G. HAYDEN

[Copyright, 1928, by North American Newspaper Alliance.]

DETROIT, Sept. 6. (Exclusive)—Herbert Hoover will be elected President because he peculiarly fits the scheme of things, Henry Ford declared today, and the "scheme of things" for the immediate future which he then proceeded to outline envisaged the greatest industrial development the world ever has known.

Mr. Ford had been asked to explain in greater detail than before his reasons for supporting Mr. Hoover. From his office window he talked could be seen, through a glass partition, the vast expanse of his experimental plant—on the right the sea of drafting tables and lathes where the new Ford recently was born, and to the left an acre or more of floor space devoted to research in "The American people are not going to go chasing off after a barrel [illegible]," he continued. "Not only [illegible] agitation for revision of [illegible] Amendment bring [illegible] the politicians who are [illegible], but you won't hear [illegible] prohibition after this [illegible] is over. After next No- [illegible] will be settled finally, [illegible] right.

"[illegible] agitation has been [illegible] in recent years and [illegible] change. Nominee at Work on Speeches

Southern Address Likely to Deal With Problem of Water Power

New Jersey Visitors Tell of Better Conditions for Republicans

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6. (AP)—With his plans for the campaign now shaping into a definite program, Herbert Hoover today centered his attention upon the subject matter of the speeches he has set for himself.

Dates already have been fixed for three of the four addresses the Republican Presidential candidate plans to make, including two of the three offensive points on his drive to carry the East and the one move he contemplates making toward corralling the southern votes.

While the dates for the speeches at Newark, N. J., New York City and Elizabethton, Tenn., already have been fixed, the candidate has laid the framework for only one of these three addresses. He expects to expand upon the views he already has expressed on labor in the Newark address on the 17th inst. and has gone far in working out the general outline of the speech.

SOUTHERN TOPIC

Although the subject for his New York address yet is to be chosen, he has tentatively decided to talk on water power and industrial development at Elizabethton, which is the center of a rapidly developing industrial district. He will go on October 6 to Elizabethton, in the Tennessee Mountains near the North Carolina line and will speak in a large tabernacle on the grounds where will be held the annual industrial celebration of that section. The nominee will invade the home city of his Democratic opponent for the Presidency on October 17.

There still remains to be set a date for the trip he contemplates making into New England. Although

Wheat Field Workers Said to Have Been Kept in Underground Cage

Immigration Officials Asked to Investigate Asserted Labor Horrors

WINNIPEG (Man.) Sept. 6. (AP)—Charges that British harvesters bound for [illegible] at [illegible] ern Canada had been imprison[illegible] in an underground cage guarded by police and armed soldiers were made today by Thomas Johnston, Labor member of Parliament from Sterling, Scotland, at a conference on colonization attended by delegates of the Empire Parliamentary Association.

Johnston said he had seen the imprisoned workmen he described at a Winnipeg railroad station he believed to be on the Canadian Pacific Railroad. Thomas Shaw, Minister of Labor in the Ramsay MacDonald government, said he also had seen the conditions Johnston charged.

F. W. Crispo, chairman of the immigration committee of the Winnipeg Board of Trade, urged that the immigration department be asked to investigate the charges.

David Kirkwood, Labor membrr of Parliament from Dumbarton, Scotland, earlier in the day started an investigation into charges by the Catholic Herald of London that British harvesters in Western Canada had been used as substitutes for men on strike and that one had been found hanged and was believed by his friends to have been slain.

At a conference with railway and dominion immigration officials, which was attended by Ramsay MacDonald, former Premier of Great Britain, Mr. Kirkwood said the charges had been cabled to him and asked for explanations. Thomas Gelly, dominion Commissioner of Immigration, and the railway officials denied all knowledge of the charges.

NO REPORTS ON HARVESTERS RECEIVED

OTTAWA (Ont.) Sept. 6. (AP)—Department of Immigration officials said today that they had received no information regarding reports from Winnipeg that 300 British harvesters passed through that city last night en route from Canadian harvest fields to their homes. They said that Robert Forke, Minister of Immigration, now is in Western Canada.

Court Employee Suspended in Stinnes Inquiry

BERLIN, Sept. 6. (AP)—A woman stenographer employed by the court which has been investigating the German war loan transactions of Hugo Stinnes, Jr., has been suspended pending investigation of an asserted leak.

The court acted on a suspicion that Stinnes's friends have been receiving transcripts of the questions and answers which have comprised the court's proceedings.

From the court viewpoint, the chief purpose in detaining Stinnes without bail is to prevent him from having communication with asserted henchmen. It is stated that this preventive measure has been defeated by the leaks of the past few days.

Albania Plans Costly Palace for New King

TIRANA, Sept. 6. (AP)—The Albanian National Assembly is expected soon to vote an appropriation of $500,000 for the construction of a palace for Ahmed Bey Zogu, the country's new king. Artisans, it is said, already are at work on an elaborate gold crown for him to wear on state occasions.

Coccio Cotta, former Minister of Interior, completed the formation of the new Albanian Cabinet today.

Will Rogers Remarks:

BEVERLY HILLS, Sept. 6.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Politics are receiving a lot of attention because we have nothing else to interest us.

We don't have to worry about anything. No nation in the history of the world was ever sitting as pretty. If we want anything all we have to do is go and buy it on credit.

So that leaves us without any economic problem whatever, except perhaps some day to have to pay for them. But we are certainly not thinking about that this early.

Yours for more credit and longer payments.

WILL ROGERS.

Thirst, Wild Men and Lions Hold Back African Party Seeking to Study Pygmies

[The Cameron-Cable Expedition has entered the Kalahari Desert in Central South Africa to get a complete story of the Kalahari's strange pygmies, the only people in the stone age state of civilization who are living today.]

BY DR. C. ERNEST CABLE

[Copyright, 1928, by North American Newspaper Alliance.]

VICTORIA FALLS (South Africa) Sept. 6. (Exclusive)—The Cameron-Cable Kalahari Desert expedition has emerged from its first thrust into the desert, well pleased with the progress made thus far in its study of this wild country and its strange people.

We entered the desert at Kachechecha, and traveled up a valley which extends more than 300 miles to the Mobobe Flats country. This uncharted waste land is uninhabited except by wild animals and wild men, and it is not practicable to penetrate it for more than 200 miles because of the torture of thirst.

The bushmen get water from secret subterranean springs, but all we could find to assuage our thirst was a scanty supply of water in the eggs of ostrich shells.

WHITE MAN PERISHED

Twenty-five years ago a white man, with his family, made his way to Mobobe, and there perished. His two little children were seized by the bushmen, but later they were rescued by other natives and brought back to civilization.

The lion is the ruler of this land of mystery. Nearly every night these animals tried to drive us out of our camp. Snarling and pacing at the edge of the firelight, they challenged us to come out and fight. But that was a challenge we didn't accept.

We have obtained many interesting facts about the life of the bushmen. Dr. W. J. Cameron of Chicago has been making a detailed study of the teeth of these savage creatures. In this way he hopes to get a detailed, pictorial story of the development of mandibles and human teeth, and he believes this story will have great significance in the dramatic records of human evolution.

RIDDLE OF HUMANITY

Prof. R. L. Mannen, geologist of the University of Texas, and I have been wrestling with the mighty problem of the birthplace of man. Prof. Mannen discovers that there has been no geologic change in these parts since the age of man began. And I have been able more definitely to confirm that man emerged in the lap of this brooding mother, this strange, wild country.

On the next leg of our journeying we hope to find the lowest type of humanity, which may connect the highest simian with the most primitive man.

British Prince Just Officer in Del Monte Visit

DEL MONTE, Sept. 6. (AP)—Prince George, fourth and youngest son of King George and Queen Mary of England, arrived here today for a visit of the Monterey Peninsula.

The young Prince, designated as "just an officer" of H. M. S. Durban, British light cruiser, said he expected to remain three days for informal diversions. A program of entertainment for the Prince and thirty of his brother officers has been arranged for the three-day stay of the Durban off shore.

Newspaper men and news-reel cameramen swarmed aboard the Durban today but were informed no pictures could be taken of the Prince aboard ship as he is merely a lieutenant, "just like the others." The cameramen then withdrew and awaited his arrival on shore where they photographed him off duty.

German Sailors Will Take Turns Pedaling on Trip With New Ocean-cycle

HAMBURG, Sept. 6. (AP)—The German tread boat in which two local sailors, Header and Hirschberg, plan to cross the Atlantic by foot-power, started for the open sea today under a favorable sky. Header and Hirschberg will take turns of four hours each on the pedals which furnish the locomotive power.

Railway Strike Vote Withheld by Officials

CHICAGO, Sept. 6. (AP)—Officials of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and the Order of Railway Conductors refused to announce the results of today's conference relative to a peace plan for the settlement of their wage increase dispute with fifty-five western railroads. The conference will be resumed tomorrow morning.

ALL DENVER FIREMEN AT HUGE BLAZE

Five Injured as Flames Sweep Over Market Block in Downtown Section

DENVER, Sept. 6. (AP)—Every available piece of fire-fighting equipment in the city was called out tonight to fight a fire that threatened to destroy the Loop market block in downtown Denver.

Five firemen have been injured by flying glass, falling embers and smoke. Four of them were rushed to the hospital, apparently seriously injured.

Late tonight it seemed probable that the first floor of the building would cave in at any time. Fire Chief Healy received reports that several employees of the Loop market were in the basement when the blaze started. He ordered rescue crews into the heart of the blaze, but members of the crews were unable to penetrate the flames. Ambulances were standing by to rush any possible victims to hospitals, but it is believed that anyone in the building must certainly have been killed.

Flood Estate Claimant Here

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6. (AP)—Mrs. Thomas J. Deno of Chicago arrived here today announcing that she is the real "Constance May Flood," heiress to a share of the millions left by the late James L. Flood.

Mrs. Deno said Constance May Gavin, wife of a Los Angeles bank clerk, is mistaken in her claim that she is Flood's legitimate daughter. Mrs. Gavin filed her claim to a daughter's share of the estate about two years ago, and the case is still in the courts.

Russians Fear Airplane Lost

MOSCOW, Sept. 6. (AP)—There has been no news of the Russian plane Soviet of the North, which left Vladivostok recently, intending a flight across the edge of the Arctic Circle to Leningrad. Nothing has been heard since the plane's start and it is feared that it is lost in the uninhabited wastes of Northern Siberia.

Fever Epidemic in Athens Ends

ATHENS (Greece) Sept. 6. (AP)—The epidemic of dengue fever which has been prevalent here has abated considerably with the arrival of cooler weather and by institution of preventive measures.

Premier Veniselos, who was stricken last week, is reported following the normal course of an attack of the fever.

Manager Named by Sacramento

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 6. (AP)—Harry Kluegel, San Francisco engineer, was appointed City Manager of Sacramento to succeed Harrison C. Bottorff, who was ousted by the City Council here tonight. Kluegel was former chief of the State division of water rights.

NATIONAL CONTEST PILOTS ARRIVE AT KANSAS CITY

Twenty-seven Set to Hop at Dawn to Third Control at Fort Worth; Four Drop by Wayside

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 6. (AP)—Flying under ideal weather conditions, Earl Rowland of Wichita, Kan., piloting a Cessna monoplane, led the pack into Kansas City today in the Class A transcontinental air race, holding the lead that he took at the outset of the race yesterday.

The first four planes to check in for the night arrived in the same order as at Columbus yesterday with Rowland leading, followed at an interval of twenty-five minutes by Robert Dake of Pittsburgh in an American Moth.

Rowland's official arrival time was 12:41:25. W. N. Emery, Jr., of Bradford, Pa., held to third place by piloting his Travelair into Richards airport at 1:22 p.m.

Rowland's unofficial elapsed time from Roosevelt Field, New York, to Richards Field here is eight hours and seven minutes, Dake's is eight hours and thirty-five minutes and Emery's is nine hours and one minute.

CHALLENGER FOURTH

Fourth into the overnight control was Theodore W. Kenyon, Boston, flying a Challenger, who arrived at 1:31:27 o'clock.

James Chaldres of Richmond, Va., who was fifth into Columbus yesterday, dropped into sixth place when Tex Rankin, Tarrytown, N. Y., crossed the finish line ahead of him.

Favorable weather continuing, the planes will hop off at one-minute intervals starting at 5 a.m. tomorrow for Fort Worth, the third night control, with a fueling stop at Wichita and Oklahoma City.

Of the thirty-one planes which left Columbus this morning twenty-seven checked in at Kansas City.

FAILS TO ARRIVE

L. H. Connell of Wichita, flying a Swallow, was eighth into St. Louis from position No. 2 at the start today.

Connell was reported out of St. Louis at 11:42, and has not arrived at Kansas City. Reports from the Swallow airplane factory at Wichita tonight were they had shipped some parts to Jonesburg, Mo. Efforts to reach Jonesburg have thus far been unavailing.

D. R. Robertson of Anglum, Mo., is in a hospital near Carthage, Ind., where his engine blew up and he suffered cuts and bruises in a forced landing. His companion is unhurt.

George Bennett of Kansas City, in an Eaglerock, and J. W. Hunt of Moundsville, W. Va., in a Swallow, are held at Indianapolis because of motor trouble.

After delays east of St. Louis that brought him into that city just before 3 o'clock, Don Phillips of Seattle made a quick flight, arriving at Kansas City at 5:30. He was followed a few minutes later by A. K. Owen and Albert C. Carl of Reading, Pa., who had made three landings between Terre Haute and St. Louis and were delayed several hours at St. Louis making repairs.

Rowland won $325 offered by the Kansas City Chamber of Commerce for the plane making the fastest time from St. Louis. Dake took second money, $100, and Emery won $75.

HOW THEY FINISHED

Following is the unofficial flying time from New York to Kansas City:

(1.) Earl Rowland, Wichita, Kan., 8h. 7m.

(3.) W. N. Emery, Bradford, Pa., 9h. 1m.

(4.) T. W. Kenyon, Boston, 9h. 39m.

(6.) James S. Chaldres, Richmond, Va., 10h. 1m.

(7.) Eugene Detmer, Tarrytown, N. Y., 10h. 20m.

(9) Warren B. Smith, Forps, N. J., 10h. 26m.

(10.) Louis Derryberry, Abilene, Tex., 10h. 43m.

(13.) Dale G. Jackson, St. Louis, 11h. 4m.

AIR EVENTS TO THRILL

Flying History in Making

National Races Will Open Show at Mines Field at 1:30 p.m. Tomorrow

Mass Formation Will Give Proof of Greatness of Exposition

The eyes of the world are focusing on Los Angeles. Aviation, the subject considered foremost in present conversations, is about to write more history in the execution of what is said to be the most comprehensive program ever developed for the furtherance of an industry, the National Air Races, which center here, and which will be opened formally tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 o'clock.

Hundreds of planes are winging their way to Mines Field, some of them racing in the transcontinental Class A event, others waiting to start in the Class B and C races from New York and still others are tuning up for the great international race from Windsor, Ont., Can., and the nonstop transcontinental race from New York. They are coming from every part of the United States and Canada and virtually every civilized country on earth will be represented by spectators and observers.

AIR EXPERTS SPEAK

Nationally known aeronautical experts and officials of the air race association told 400 members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce yesterday of the progress of plans for the exposition. Among the speakers before this organization, which marked the air lanes to Mines Field and established a radio station there for the use of visiting pilots, were Clarence M. Young, director of aeronautics of the Department of Commerce; Carl Schory of the National Aeronautical Association of Washington; Lieuts. Hodges and Harding, around-the-world flyers; Dudley Steele, chairman of the contest committee, and Cliff Henderson, president of the National Air Race Association.

"The entire achievement of the aviation industry, both military and civil, for the year 1928 will be on exhibition," Young said. "Every new type of plane, motor, instrument and aviation necessity will be on display. It will be the greatest aviation exhibition in history."

ARMY-NAVY PLANES

Final reports were made by subcommittees when the contest committee held its last meeting last night prior to the grand opening tomorrow. Chairman Steele made all assignments to duties and as the meeting adjourned announced that everything will be in readiness to open the races and exposition on time and run every event on schedule.

Entries in all civilian races have been received from 216 fliers, Steele said, eleven of whom are in the nonstop transcontinental race, sixty-two in the transcontinental class races and the balance in the closed

MAN ONCE ROARED LIKE LION

Pantomime and Grunts Also Came Before Speech in World's Dawn, Scientist Declares

GLASGOW (Scotland) Sept. 6. (AP)—Tongues of prehistoric men could not form words and the initial communication between members of the human race was mostly by gestures, said Sir Richard Paget, specialist on the development of inventions, to the British Association for the Advancement of Science today.

Sir Richard, who combines scientific research with his work as a barrister and a member of Parliament, said that primitive man sang, grunted or roared to express emotion, just as the higher animals do now.

To illustrate his ideas of the evolution of speech, the speaker used a pipe, an organ reed and a cork plunger. With this apparatus he was able to produce numerous sounds of human quality, including some recognizable words.

Sir Richard said that in addition to his animal-like vocal productions, primitive man used pantomime of face and limbs to convey his ideas to others. As he pantomimed with his hands, his tongue naturally followed these motions. Then our ancestors developed crafts and their hands became too busy for speech.

This stage, said the speaker, led man to rely on gestures of the face and tongue and lips. Finally the time came when the hands were retired and the tongue took their place.

Man then found that if he sang, roared or grunted while using his lips and tongue for gestures, there was a mysterious effect on the vocal part of the conversation. It got so that the mouth pantomime could be recognized by ear, and could even be understood in the dark or when the pantomimist was out of sight of the listener. Then humanity had speech.

Prof. Douglas Johnson of the physiography staff of Columbia University, New York, discussed the theory that the Atlantic Coast of Northern United States was slowly sinking. He believed that such a movement had taken place gradually through several thousand years, but that it stopped some 3000 years ago.

Oceanic Given Mail Contract

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6. (AP)—Postmaster-General New today awarded to the Oceanic Steamship Company of San Francisco the contract for carrying mail from San Francisco to Sydney, Australia. The contract will run ten years and the compensation will be at the maximum rates allowed by the Jones-White Merchant Marine Act.

BAD FLYING WEATHER HALTS START OF CLASS B

ROOSEVELT FIELD (N. Y.) Sept. 6. (AP)—A day of bad flying weather over the first part of the course prevented the start of the Class B race of the transcontinental air derby today, and race officials here are pessimistic regarding the possibility of getting under way tomorrow.

Lieut. H. B. Clark, Roosevelt Field manager, notified starters tonight that the hop tomorrow, scheduled for 7 a.m., has been deferred until 9 a.m. because of fog in the Allegheny Mountains. If the weather has not cleared by that time, he said, the start will be delayed until 7 a.m. Saturday.

The day's idleness was punctuated by dissension and arbitration among Class B entries, some of whom registered protests over the entry of two planes they declare to be special racing models in violation of a race regulation that only stock model planes be entered in their class.

At one time five pilots, headed by Clyde Cessna, designer of five planes in the race, informed derby officials that they would withdraw from the competition. Later their difficulties were adjusted, officials announced, and only one pilot of the twenty-one entered scratched his name.

He is Francis Bowhan of Wichita, Kan., who was to fly a Cessna with Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Grace of Omaha as passengers.

Class C entries, which were to have started today after Class B planes had been cleared, also were held to the ground by reports of unfavorable weather from McKeesPort, Pa., where the first thirty-minute stop will be made, and from Columbus, O., where the second stop is scheduled. The first night in both class races will be spent at Terre Haute, Ind.

HOOVER WORKS ON SPEECHES

plans have been laid for his journey back to the Pacific coast late in October and two addresses in that month already on his program, he has been urged to visit the northeastern territory around October 1 for a speech probably at Boston.

FEW VISITORS SEEN

There were few visitors at the headquarters of the nominee today and he spent most of the long rainy day in deliberating over the next phases of his drive for the Presidency.

Louis V. Aronson, a Newark (N. J.) business man, brought him a report that sentiment reflected by traveling men in his concern indicated that New Jersey might be found in the Republican column in November.

"Many people who have been shouting for the Democratic nominee are leaving him," Aronson said after his visit, "and will support Hoover because continuance of Republican protective tariff policies is essential to the prosperity and welfare of the worker and the home."

During the day a report also came from Andrew Irshay, a Trenton (N. J.) publisher, that fourteen Hungarian language newspapers in that State are supporting Hoover's campaign because of his humanitarian work during the war and "because of his sympathetic understanding of the immigration question."

MONTAVILLE FLOWERS ENCOURAGES HOOVER

Montaville Flowers of Pasadena, Cal., who has been given credit for the development of the motor-bus speaking campaign which has been inaugurated by the Republican National Committee, told Chairman Work today that sentiment for Mr. Hoover is overwhelming in Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont and upState New York. Mr. Flowers recently completed a trip through these States.

"SMITH FOR HOOVER" CLUBS LATEST RAGE

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6. (Exclusive)—"Smith for Hoover" clubs are the latest in the Republican Presidential campaign.

C. N. Smith of San Jose started it by organizing a group in Santa Clara county composed of members of the W. K. Smith clan who took to Hoover rather than their namesake as the proper prospective President.

Now that the ice has been broken, campaign headquarters for California has decided to spread the move throughout the State.

At the same time, announcement was made of the completion of the San Francisco unit of the Republican War Veterans' League to support Hoover actively.

Walter A. Dold, assistant City Attorney, was named chairman. The organization is headed in the State by Lieut.-Gov. Buron Fitts War veteran and prospective District-Attorney-elect of Los Angeles county.

An intensive drive among war veterans is to be launched at once and a series of luncheon meetings to mark campaign activities is now being arranged. George J. Hatfield United States Attorney here, is Northern California chairman of the group.

Flyer Brings Flotsam Clew to Lost Airmen

Bringing with him bits of wreckage which he believes to be part of the Golden Eagle, lost Dole flight plane, Charles H. Dolan, Honolulu aviator, arrived in San Francisco yesterday en route here to compete in the national air races.

According to information from the north, Dolan found the wreckage on the beach of Oahu Island. It is said to be water-corroded and to consist of the duraluminum framework of an airplane fin.

Dolan expects to have the wreckage examined by various exhibitors at the air exposition in an effort to have complete identification made. The Golden Eagle disappeared in the dole flight from Oakland to Honolulu, carrying Jack Frost and Gordon Scott to their deaths.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 6. (AP) Two sons of Premier Mussolini today led 1000 junior Fascists into Constantinople to cement in dramatic fashion the new Turco-Italian pact of friendship. PUNTA DELGADO (The Azores) Sept. 6. (AP)—Sir J. Austen Chamberlain, British Foreign Minister, was sufficiently improved in health from his sea voyage to receive today the British Consul and local authorities who boarded the steamer Oreama to pay their respects.

He told his visitors that his health had improved. He declined, however, an invitation to land and view the gardens and the suburbs of this town.

course events to be held at Mines Field.

ACTION APPROVED

Official approval of the chairman's action on the protests made by sixteen entries in the Class B transcontinental relative to six of the entries being racing rather than stock model planes was given by the contest committee. Steele reported that he informed protestants in New York that no action would be aken on the matter at this time but that proests would be accepted here after the race had terminaed.

All of he entries are expected to start as a result of this decision by the race official.

Nineteen navy airplanes are expected to arrive from San Diego today while the army is expected to have more than 100 ships parked on Mines Field by tomorrow noon, some of them arriving today.

No detail has been overlooked in plans for handling the exposition, it was indicated by reports last night, and while it is by far the greatest spectacle of its kind ever attempted the officials are confident it will be the most orderly.

Full recognition is being given the event by the United States government. Both the Army and Navy are sending large numbers of planes, pilots, observers and parachute jumpers. Huge bombing planes, fast pursuit planes, trim observation and combat ships, land-sea and amphibian planes will take part in the races and maneuvers, and the government observers expect to learn much which will prove advantageous in the development of the country's air forces.

A score and a half planes were in Kansas City last night after completing the second lap of their controlled race across the continent, which will end here Monday. Two dozen more waited in New York yesterday for fair weather to take off in the race which culminates at Mines Field Tuesday. Squadrons of army planes were winging their way across Texas, New Mexico and Arizona and will arrive here in time for the opening.

FORMATION TO FLY

And as the clock strikes 1:30 tomorrow, Southern California will witness the greatest peace-time air spectacle ever presented. More than 300 planes will leave Mines and near-by fields for a massed formation which will fly over Los Angeles and neighboring cities to announce the opening of the air exposition.

Then will follow nine days of thrilling races, stunts, parachute jumps and air spectacles. Airplanes will fly in the air controlled from the ground. Signal devices have been installed at the municipal airport which automatically pick up the hum of an airplane motor and turn on field lights which guide the pilots to a safe landing place. A 30,000,000-candle power beacon has been installed at Mines Field and it will cast its beams from a mammoth tower for a distance of 100 miles. It will be turned on for a final test tonight.

All of this has taken time and the efforts of scores of workers. They were making final preparations yesterday for the army of airplanes which began arriving then and will continue to come in for the next several days. An extensive parking system for the ships has been arranged and Dudley Steele, chairman of the race committee, was displaying the first parking tickets ever printed for an airplane field. The planes will be handled by the same system used in automobile parks.

The opening night's festivities are beginning to take on the atmosphere of a theatrical first night, race officials reported, and the city's leading social, motion picture, theatrical, civic and aviation luminaries are planning to attend.

The night performances will be the greatest air norturnal spectacles ever staged according to plans, and will be featured every night by air extravaganzas, a symbolical fantasy participated in by 125 girls, pyrotechnical displays and band concerts.

Parachute flares of 400,000 candle power will be dropped from planes and Al Wilson, famous stunt flyer of the films, will perform feats in the air while discharging fireworks.

NAVY HEROES BOOKED

The famous "Three Eea Hawks," of the Second Light Bombing Squadron of the Navy, will be seen in night formation flying on Tuesday and Friday. This trio has won an international reputation for daring during recent years.

Among noted planes to be here will be the Columbia, the plane which was piloted from New York to Germany by Clarence Chamberlin. Charles Levine, the ship's owner, entered it in the nonstop race at the last moment. Maj. V. Casjus, military attache of the Spanish Embassy at Washington, has been detailed here as an observer by his government, it was announced yesterday.

One of the associations attracted here by the air exposition is the Society of Automotive Engineers. This organization will hold its annual convention at the Biltmore Tuesday and Wednesday and chief among topics to be discussed will be "Aeronautic Standards from an Airplane Manufacturer's Standpoint."

AVIATORS WARNED

GLENDALE, Sept. 6.—Warning was given aviators who have been flying low over the northwest section of the city that they must obey the flying ordinance, or subject themselves to arrest.

FLYERS' GUIDE SIGNS PAINTED ON ROOF OF AUTOMOBILE CLUB

Signs which will show both location and direction to flyers have been painted on the roof of headquarters of the Automobile Club of Southern California at Adams and Figueroa streets, it was announced yesterday. The signs will be readily visible from a reasonable altitude during the day and will be illuminated at night during the National Air Races and exposition.

The name of the club was painted on the Adams-street wing of the building in letters nine feet wide and sixteen inches thick while an arrow denoting maknetic North is atop the Figueroa wing. White enamel was used to paint the signs and will be kept clean at all times, officials stated.

The roof guide, which was painted at the suggestion of Admiral Moffett, chief of the Navy's department of aeronautics, is declared to be the only one of its kind in Los Angeles.

Invitations have been extended by the Auto Club to all visiting flyers to make use of the club's facilities and they have made available maps giving locations of airports and other information essential to flyers.

HUMAN FLY PLUNGES ON LAST CLIMB

Liberty Loan Dare-devil Tries Comeback After Eight Years and Takes Fall

JERSEY CITY, Sept. 6. (AP)—Having fallen three stories in "just one more climb," Steve Peterson, "human fly," is in a hospital today.

Peterson, who in war days scaled New York skyscrapers to stimulate Liberty Loan drives, was "going up" for the first time in eight years. He is an electrical linesman, but came back yesterday for "just one more climb" to aid the drive for funds for the Clinton E. Fiske Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

He slipped twice on the smooth marble facade of the sixteen-story Labor Bank Building, Jersey City's tallest structure, before he finally gained the third floor. The crowd, which was watching the climb, only laughed. They thought he was clowning. As he stopped to rest a moment before continuing his climb one foot slipped on the smooth cornice and he plunged forty feet to the sidewalk, hitting feet first.

Smoking a cigarette on the way to the hospital, Peterson said: "I got a bad break that time." His right ankle and left arm are fractured and he is injured internally.

LOS ANGELES POSTOFFICE SHOWS GAIN

Goes to Seventh Place in Total Receipts Due to Air-Mail Increase

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6. (Exclusive)—Los Angeles, in August, last, went into seventh place in total of postal receipts for the United States. Only Los Angeles and Detroit showed increases this year over last. Los Angeles' total postal receipts for August, last, was $799,494.79, an increase over August, 1927, of $31,976.43. Los Angeles was well ahead of Kansas City and Cleveland, O., and was surpassed in total postal collections only by New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston, St. Louis and Detroit.

In all of the above cities total postal receipts between this August and last showed decreases with the exception of Detroit. Philadelphia showed the largest decrease with 7.46 per cent loss, New York with 5.09, Chicago had a loss of 2.31 per cent and Kansas City showed a loss of 5.03 per cent. St. Louis also showed a decrease of 1.35 per cent.

A large part of the increase in the Los Angeles postal receipts was due to the remarkable increase in the use of air mail despite the reduction of postage in this special service of 80 per cent in cost starting August 1.

COOLIDGE RUNS FROM PACKING

Summer Home Topsy-Turvy, He Goes Fishing

Rescues Tackle Set Aside to Go Into Trunk

President Leaves Next Week for Washington

SUPERIOR (Wis.) Sept. 6. (AP)—His summer home in a perfect packing turmoil, with trunks and boxes littering all the rooms, President Coolidge decided to make himself scarce around Cedar Island Lodge today and devote one of his last vacation days to more fishing.

With departure for Washington scheduled for early next week, the chief activities at the executive residence and offices are devoted to preparing for the return trip to the capital. Thees had gone so far that Mr. Coolidge early this morning found his fishing tackle laid aside with a heap of other things, destined for burial today in a deep trunk. Hastily rescuing his rod and line, the President summoned his guide and canoe and was off for one of the private lakes on the Cedar Island Lodge estate to fish for trout.

President Coolidge is not contemplating appearing in public before his departure from Wisconsin. Yesterday he attended the local fair, where thousands had the opportunity to see him. A last chance will be provided at the station when the Chief Executive will board his special train for the East. No plans are made up to tonight, however, for him to show his appreciation of his vacation among the Wisconsin woods by speaking in public or by receiving local delegations.

Tomorrow Mr. Coolidge will call at his executive offices on his regular Friday routine to fulfill a number of engagements. B. H. Meyer, a member of the Interstate Commerce Commission, who has been vacationing near here, will present his respects to Mr. Coolidge. A. C. Bachus, publisher of the Milwaukee Sentinel, will follow on the same errand, succeeded in turn by various local delegations.

ADMIRAL WRIGHT DIES

ST. AUGUSTINE (Fla.) Sept. 6. (AP)—Admiral A. C. Wright, 84 years of age, member of the fast-thinning ranks of the men who saw service in the Confederate navy during the war between the States, and who had devoted years to the records of that branch of the Confederate service, died here yesterday.

Real happines for retired Mothers and Fathers

Plan now to provide them peace and contentment in this land of healthful living, where life's span lengthens

Haven't you always planned to provide a home for your mother and father where they could enjoy rest, recreation, unhurried living? Where they could do the things they've "always wanted to do?"

Nature created just the ideal place for such a home—at Del Mar. Here they can enjoy in peace and quiet those "play days" that are coming to them. Many other mothers and fathers are already here.

Seashore and hillside blend into a setting of incomparable beauty at Del Mar . . . a restful atmosphere of Monterey Cypress, giant eucalyptus in all their native grandeur.

Ocean breezes murmur in the pines. A quaint, colorful garden to putter around in. Leisurely paths in the secluded country to tramp, away from dangerous street crossings.

HOW TO REACH DEL MAR
3½ hours south of Los Angeles on main Coast Highway. 2½ hours by Santa Fe.

347 sun-flooded days each year. Invigorating air with the salt tang of the sea. A caressing climate, cool in summer . . comfortably warm in winter . . . with the usual year 'round temperature 72 degrees. Life lengthens its span in this healthful environment.

Within an area of a few blocks are a broad, clean beach and gentle surf; open air, filtered salt water plunge; 18-hole, all-grass golf course; riding stables and alluring trails; quarter-mile fishing pier. World-famed Hotel Del Mar nearby for entertaining.

Doesn't this appeal to you? Wouldn't you like to give your loved ones this happiness? Here you could spend delightful visits with them on week-ends and vacations. After every trip to Del Mar you will come back to the office with more energy, new enthusiasm . . . and broader perspective.

Come this week and see Del Mar. See why world-wide travelers acclaim it the most picturesque beauty spot in all the land. You will be amazed at the low prices, far below any other high grade property on the south coast. But prices must soon advance. This property is going fast. There is a limited area available, so reserve yours now.

Prosperity Menaced if Duties Fall, Says Statement

Benefits of Protective Policy Presented in Analysis

Manufacturing East Given Special Warning

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6. (Exclusive)—The prosperity now enjoyed by every class in the United States, and the future welfare of the American home would be gravely menaced if the Republican protective tariff were supplanted by the "ruinous competitive tariff" which the Democratic party proposes to enact if placed in control of the Federal government. This statement sums up the contentions contained in the tariff section of the 1928 text-book of the Republican National Committee which was made public today and which will be used by speakers and party workers as a guide to presentation of the outstanding economic argument for the election of the Hoover-Curtis ticket and a Republican House and Senate.

This is the second section of the text-book to be used. The first dealt with the Republican party's achievements for agriculture and the constructive farm program the party is pledged to carry out under Hoover leadership.

TARIFF ANALYZED

The text-book presents a complete analysis of the tariff question and points out the benefits that the protective policy has brought industry, the wage earner, the farmer and the nation as a whole.

It shows the vital necessity of continuing this protective policy and contrasts with that the disastrous conditions which it is declared inevitably would follow adoption of the so-called "competitive" plan which the Democrats expound.

The Republican party, the text-book makes clear, stands pledged to continuance and perfection of the tariff policies which have made the United States the most prosperous and happy nation in the world. Tariff quotations from the speeches and writings of Mr. Hoover are quoted to show his complete adherence to the protective-tariff policies.

FORT WARNS EAST

Simultaneously with the issuance of the tariff section of the text-book here, Representative Fort of New Jersey, secretary of the Republican National Committee, was hammering away on the tariff issue in a speech at Acton, Mass. He warned the Northeast, probably more sensitive to tariff discussion than any other part of the country, that putting the Democratic party into power would mean yielding a share of American markets to foreign producers with the result that "probably not a spindle would turn in all New England because of the 'effective competition' with Europe's lower wages."

The Democratic platform declaration on the tariff is so worded, Fort asserted, as to camouflage the real purpose to reduce the tariff without regard for the protective principle.

PARADE OF STOCK FAIR ATTRACTION

Gov. Young Mingles With Thousands at Annual Event in Sacramento

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 6. (AP)—The State Fair's annual stock parade was held today with animals valued at more than $1,000,000 passing in review before Gov. Young and between 7000 and 8000 other persons.

The number of persons who witnessed the parade was estimated to set a record for attendance on similar occasions in the past.

Gov. Young, accompanied by Robert A. Condee, president of the State Fair board, arrived before the start of the parade, but the Governor became so interested in the animals that he left his box and joined the crowd standing in front of the grand stand.

Prize bulls, horses, goats, pigs, cows and sheep in all variety of breeds, classes and ages were in the parade.

This was Governor's day at the fair and the Governor's reception was held at noon in the horticultural building.

BRITISH MINE LEADER FAINTS ON PLATFORM

LONDON, Sept. 6. (AP)—A. J. Cook, secretary of the Miners' Federation of Great Britain, fainted today while addressing a meeting of the Trades Union Congress. He had to be carried from the hall. He was in the midst of a vigorous denunciation of the proposals for industrial peace made a year ago by Lord Melchett, formerly Sir Alfred Mond. Cook became internationally famous as "Emperor Cook of the general strike," and has been one of the most active leaders of the radical unionist wing.

COFFEE MEN URGE BANANA TAX INQUIRY

PANAMA, Sept. 6. (AP)—Mail advices to the Star-Herald from Costa Rica say coffee planters have prepared a memorial for Congress urging an investigation into the banana industry of the United Fruit Company for the purpose of increasing the taxation on banana exports. The planters say that though banana exports are greater in volume than coffee exports, a tax of less than 1 per cent is paid upon the yearly profit of about $7,500,000 derived from the export of bananas.

FARM-LABOR PARTY PICKS TICKET HEAD

Senator Reed of Missouri Refuses to Run as Nominee for Vice-President

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 6. (AP)—After Col. Frank Elbridge Webb of San Francisco had accepted the Presidential nomination of the Farmer-Labor party, which was tendered him by the executive committee today, Senator Reed of Missouri, named by the committee as the Vice-Presidential candidate, refused to make the race.

"I am not running on the Farmer-Labor ticket or any other ticket," the Missouri Senator said in a long-distance telephone conversation from Sayner, Wis., where he is fishing, to the Kansas City Star.

"I am positively astounded," Reed added with emphasis. "I never dreamed of such action. I am for Al Smith and the Democratic party."

Col. Webb, an engineer, accepted the nomination in a telegram to the executive committee of the party, now in session here.

The committee planned to stay in session until it found a Vice-Presidential candidate. It convened yesterday.

MOTHER HIT BY SON ASKS MERCY FOR HIM

CHICAGO, Sept. 6. (AP)—Mrs. Minnie Hanke, 85 years of age, in a critical condition from a blow over her head, pleaded with police yesterday not to punish her son, even if she should die. "A mother should close her eyes to the wrongs her child does her," she whispered through her bandages. The son, Emil, is held on an assault-to-commit-murder charge. Police say he beat his mother to gain possession of her home. Her skull is fractured.

RELIGIOUS FIGHT DENIED BY DRYS

Anti-Saloon League Says Issue Not Theirs

Accuses Smith's Friends of Insincerity

Votes Sought on False Plea of Intolerance

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6. (Exclusive)—The Anti-Saloon League is not fighting Gov. Smith because of his religion, and the Democrats themselves are raising this issue to becloud Smith's "wetness" and win votes on the ground of religious liberty, F. Scott McBride, general superintendent and political spokesman for the league, declared in a statement tonight. The statement follows:

"The charge that the Anti-Saloon League is opposing Gov. Smith on account of his religion is absolutely false. Never in its thirty-five years of fighting against the liquor traffic has the Anti-Saloon League opposed any candidate because he was a Catholic. The league repeatedly has supported dry Catholics when their opponents were wet Protestants. If the Republicans had nominated Nicholas Murray Butler or Senator Wadsworth and the Democrats had nominated Senator Thomas Walsh of Montana or Col. Patrick Henry Callahan of Louisville, Ky., the league would have supported the dry Catholic instead of the wet Protestant.

"The statement by Senator Pat Harrison and more recent declarations by Smith's supporters that the drys are fighting him because of his religion are a part of the campaign to distract attention from Smith's wetness. They are trying to hide their indefensible fight for booze under the respectable cloak of an appeal for religious liberty. The religious issue has been and is being raised by Smith's friends and not by the drys. The apparent purpose is to win voters with a campaign for religious liberty whom they could not hope to win on the real issue, which is enforced prohibition versus the licensed liquor traffic. They hope to win the vote of dry Catholics in spite of Smith's wetness and of dry Protestants on the ground of religious liberty.

"The Anti-Saloon League is opposing Smith solely because of his record and attitude on the liquor question. The issue in booze, not religion. Smith was the outstanding defender of the saloon until the nation went dry and now is the chief warrior for the return of liquor. We oppose Smith because he is the creation of Tammany, which has aggressively defended and supported the saloon throughout its history."

Flight of Byrd's Planes Delayed

MITCHEL FIELD (N. Y.) Sept. 6. (AP)—Low visibility today caused a postponement of the flight of four planes of Commander Richard E. Byrd's Antarctic expedition to Hampton Roads.

Bernt Balchen was to have led the air squadron to Virginia, where the planes were to have been placed on a ship at Norfolk. The flight will be made tomorrow, weather permitting.

"CANNED MUSIC" GOES ON UNION BLACKLIST

ATLANTIC CITY, Sept. 6. (AP)—A resolution blacklisting all forms of "canned" music was passed at the fiftieth annual convention of the New Jersey State Federation of Labor today. In introducing the measure Elmer J. Madden of Newark, chairman of the resolution committee, declared that the phonograph, player piano, talking motion pictures and other inventions tend to deteriorate the public's enthusiasm for music and swell the ranks of unemployed by putting musicians out of work.

FRIEND DOUBTS PHILLIPS' DEATH

Doctor Says Body Buried Was Too Robust

Believes Sewer Pipe Magnate Has Played Trick

Investigation Requested of New Jersey Officials

NEW YORK, Sept. 6. (AP)—The Evening Post says today that Dr. Louis H. Taylor, family physician and close personal friend of John M. Phillips, indicted Queens sewer-pipe magnate, has expressed serious doubt that it was Phillips's body that was buried recently.

"The trick wouldn't be beyond him," Dr. Taylor was quoted as saying. "The body didn't look like Jack Phillips. He had been a very sick man and the man in the coffin was robust."

"I wouldn't be surprised to see Jack Phillips walk in here at any time."

He said that he thought the body ought to be exhumed and an autopsy performed.

Dist.-Atty. Newcombe, in reply to questions by reporters as to whether he was taking any action on the matter, said that he and his staff were busy at the moment in the investigation of the death of William D'Olier, a witness at the investigation which resulted in the indictment of Phillips.

Shortly after the funeral services for Phillips, who died in Atlantic City, a Federal grand jury in Brooklyn requested that New Jersey authorities investigate and consider the circumstances of the death, which was attributed to alcoholism.

DOCTOR DECLARES DEAD MAN PHILLIPS

ATLANTIC CITY, Sept. 6. (AP)—Scouting any possibility of mistaken identity in the case of John M. Phillips, late Queens sewer-pipe king, who died here July 3, Dr. Victor E. Johnson, who attended him, declared positively today that the man for whose death he signed a certificate, was unquestionably Phillips.

BULGAR KING ACTS IN CRISIS

Establishment of Coalition Government Seen as Boris Confers With Party Leaders

SOFIA (Bulgaria) Sept. 6. (AP)—King Boris today took up the task of deciding who is to head the new cabinet that must replace the ministry which resigned yesterday. He received in audience President Zankoff of the Chamber of Deputies and A. Malinoff, leader of the Democratic party.

Formal acceptance of the Cabinet's resignation was given by King Boris today. When he was notified yesterday of the circumstances under which the ministry had quit, he sent ten high military officers from posts in the capital to scattered regions in the provinces.

This disciplinary measure resulted from a cabinet split on the question of dealing with the Comitadji, the troublesome Macedonian revolutionary organization. Border disturbances engineered by the revolutionaries had created an international situation and A. D. Buroff, Minister of Foreign Affairs, blamed the ministry of war and high military officers for this condition. He asserted that Gen. Ivan Volkoff, as head of the War Department, not only refused to take active steps against the Comitadji, but also is an active sympathizer with them.

Advocates of the coalition idea found encouragement later in the day when the King received S. Kostourkoff, leader of the Radical party, and K. Pastouhoff, head of the Socialist party.

RADIO HEADS THINK JAZZ TASTE LESS

Americans and Britons Developing Appetite for Real News, They Hold

GENEVA, Sept. 6. (AP)—Two men who reach vast radio audiences believe that both American and English people want something besides jazz on the air.

James G. MacDonald of New York and Vernon Bartlett of England, both of whom give weekly radio talks on foreign affairs, met at Geneva and compared notes. They agreed that the people of the United States and Great Britain are showing a keener interest in international problems and that the radio is developing a healthy curiosity in questions affecting nations generally.

Mr. MacDonald has just visited twelve countries to amass new material. He saw Premier Poincare of France, Premier Mussolini of Italy, President Masaryk of Czecho-Slovakia and Premier Venizelos of Greece. He said they all told him they are convinced that radio is a big future domain for education and will bring the peoples into a closer communion of understanding.

MAD JAPANESE POISONER HELD

Fugitive from Napa Asylum Wanted in Tokio

Nippon Consul States Man Meshed in Plots

Menaced Titled Persons in Orient, Official Says

OAKLAND, Sept. 6. (AP)—A poison plot conceived in the mind of a madman and calculated to kill royal and titled Japanese was revealed here today with the arrest of M. Higashi, a Japanese who escaped from the Napa State Hospital for the Insane.

Higashi was arrested at a Japanese-Chinese club after a six-month search in which all of the intelligence forces of the Japanese government were utilized.

Toyogi Kaneko, Japanese Vice-Consul at San Francisco, asked the man's deportation so that he could be "dealt with by Japanese authorities." Kaneko charges he sent poisoned fruit to Prince Iyesato Tokugawa, president of the Japanese House of Peers, and Prince Fumimaro Konoye, member of the House of Peers, and other titled Japanese.

A GRAPHIC EXHIBITION OF DOBBS FINE HATS

Mullen and Bluett, Sixth and Broadway store, features next Monday and throughout the week a series of exhibits depicting in a most interesting manner the transformation of a double-handful of fluffy fur into a Dobbs Hat.

The exposition includes: skins of various animals... their furs prepared for use... hat bodies in the several stages of manufacture... shaping processes... derby and silk hat methods... cap making... a most absorbing and instructive display.

Of even greater interest are the brilliant collections of new Fall headwear. Veritable triumphs of hat-making genius, they are. New to the extreme... new proportions... new trimmings... new colorings in new stylings that are of utmost importance to well-dressed men.

A cordial invitation is extended to all of the friends of Mullen and Bluett and Dobbs to inspect these carefully planned exhibits... The invitation, of course, includes the ladies.

Mullen and Bluett store will be in gala attire in celebration of Dobbs week. A full battery of windows will be devoted to Dobbs Hats and experts will be on hand to explain any point in the delicate process of fine hat making.

AMERICAN IDEAL

"So I hear when you say mar-...ket means buying power. Buy-...ing power is dependent on wages. ...That is why the American idea is ...to increase and stabilize the eco-...nomic prosperity of the masses first. Mr. Hoover has the same ideas on this subject."

Mr. Ford produced a copy of the Republican candidate's keynote speech and read:

"We in America today are nearer to the final triumph over poverty than ever before in the history of the land. The poorhouse is vanishing from among us. We have not yet reached the goal but given a chance to go forward with the policies for the next eight years, and we shall soon, with the help of God, be in sight of the day when poverty will be banished from the nation. There is no guarantee against poverty equal to a job for every man."

"That is exactly what I am talking about," continued Mr. Ford. "That is what I mean when I say we are only at the beginning of 'the industrial and comfortable age.' Less poverty, because more industry means more jobs, more of the comforts of life.

NOT YET AT APEX

"The development of the past few years makes some people think that we are at the apex of the industrial age, that we are even now in sight of the end. But let me repeat, we have scarcely begun. We are still in the stage-coach age, comparatively speaking. The fuller development of industry will be something far more beautiful than anything we have yet seen—more human, more just, more satisfying to the real life of men.

"When we say 'industrial age' we don't mean the present spectacle—we mean the real thing that is yet to come. Mr. Hoover has caught sight of that.

"President Coolidge's job has been primarily one of stabilization and he was peculiarly fitted for that. He has cleaned up the debris left by the war, he has brought governmental expenses back to normal and he has reduced taxes. This job of reconstruction now, however, is about completed. The business of the next President will be to push ahead to new and better things, and there is where Mr. Hoover comes in.

"First of all, he is an engineer of wide practical experience. He knows the technique and he is not afraid to look a big job in the face. The way he tackled food relief in Europe and the Mississippi flood are fair examples.

FLOOD PREVENTION

"And he is too much of an engineer to be satisfied with flood relief; what he will work at now is flood prevention.

"He understands the point of view of the business man. His biggest work in the Department of Commerce, to my mind, has been in bringing the men engaged in each industry closer together and teaching them that they could co-operate one with the other and still do more business all around. He has visualized the government as an aid and not an obstruction to business. At the same time, he has had in mind at all times the welfare of the American family.

"And with all these things Mr. Hoover is thoroughly experienced in the affairs of government. He knows not only our own government, but the other governments and peoples of the world. How could you have a man more ideally fitted for the work that the next President will have to do?

"I have talked with Mr. Coolidge only three or four times in my life. I never have had a favor to ask of him. I don't suppose I will see Mr. Hoover any oftener or even as often, and the Ford Motor Company has no favors to ask of him. As a business man, however, I do like to feel that we have a President who understands the part which American business has to play in serving the American family. I think that is the point of view of most American business men.

PROHIBITION NEED

"Let me return a moment to prohibition," Mr. Ford went on. "What is really needed there, as in every other phase of governmental activity, is an executive capable of making the machinery of enforcement work and of marshaling American public opinion in its support.

"This country has definitely left liquor behind. In the modern world, the drinking nations are going down and the nondrinking nations are moving to the top. America is geared too high today to even contemplate a return to the old conditions. Think of the traffic problem alone as it would be if we had booze freely mixed with it!

"Furthermore, there is no place in the new American industry for the man who drinks. And I haven't the slightest notion that the electorate is at all impressed by political promises of beer. It is all on too low a plane to command the respect of Americans. Besides, every woman who values her home is dead against it. You can't defeat the women.

"Detroit is rated as one of the worst centers of bootlegging, yet liquor with us has ceased to be a serious problem. Now and then a bootlegger starts up in the vicinity of our factories, but we discover his presence from the breath of the first of his patrons that comes through our gates and it isn't long thereafter until he is routed out.

"Leave the law as it is. So long as we have the law on our side, industry can enforce it."

'LIVING BOND' YOUTH IN MEXICO MURDER ACCUSATION SET FREE

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) Sept. 6. (AP)—John Crosby, Jr., Villa Acuna youth who offered himself as "living bond" for Forrest Whitehead, Del Rio rancher, after the death of John Kastner following a fight at Villa Acuna last Saturday, has been released by Mexican authorities. He rejoined his friend last night on the American side, according to information received here today by Mrs. A. B. Whitehead, sister-in-law of Forrest Whitehead.

Kastner died at Villa Acuna Sunday. Whitehead, who admitted having engaged in a fist fight with him, was arrested and then released when young Crosby agreed to vouch for him. When Whitehead did not appear for a hearing Crosby surrendered.

Trinity Forest Threatened by Speeding Blaze

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6. (Exclusive)—Fanned by a heavy south wind, fire, which broke out on the Wright ranch twelve miles west of Red Bluff last night, had gone beyond control tonight and was reported headed for Trinity National Forest, fifteen miles away. It had consumed 3000 acres at the time the early reports were forwarded to Federal forest headquarters here. Efforts were declared under way to start a backfire.

Meanwhile, the fire at Stephens Pass in the Shasta National Forest continued to burn. Advices from Shasta City report the fire in the Panther Creek district has been controlled.

Voters to Act on Bonds For Safe Crossings

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 6. (AP)—Members of the State Highway Commission met with B. B. Meek, director of the Department of Public Works, today and, after discussing the California grade-crossing situation, passed a resolution providing for compilation of information to be presented voters, who will pass or reject the proposed $10,000,000 bond issue for elimination of grade crossings when they go to the polls in November.

Quakes Shock Mining Camp

ELKO (Nev.) Sept. 6. (AP)—The mining community of Jarbridge reported an earthquake early today that is said to have been the most severe in many years. The village, cradled between rocky cliffs, was thoroughly shaken and boulders weighing hundreds of tons overhanging the mining camp shook, portions rolling down into the town. Little damage resulted.

First, Last and Only FOREMAN & CLARK SALE

The greatest sale in the history of the clothing industry—never before, never again! Five giant Foreman & Clark Eastern daylight factories are working overtime producing and shipping new suits, topcoats and overcoats for the opening of our new 7th and Hill upstairs store next month. Not a single garment from present stocks will be moved to our new store; all will and must be sold at 20% off!

Moving to Corner 7th and Hill

Every garment is tailored in a way that made it possible to build a $10,000,000 nation-wide upstairs business from a $310 start! Every garment has been cut from 100% pure virgin wool fabrics. Every garment has been styled by our expert New York designers who know the style trend. Every garment will be fitted by our own trained experts who can't be satisfied with less than a PERFECT FIT. You will be served by an F & C salesman who satisfies us only when he satisfies you!

Every Garment Manufactured by Us Under Our Own Label

5 Reasons Why F & C Suits at Regular Prices Are the Greatest Values in America!

1. Coast-to-Coast Upstairs Stores
2. $765,438 Saved Yearly in Rent
3. $10,000,000 Written Guarantee
4. Our Own 5 Big Eastern Factories
5. Cash Business . . No Credit Losses

Famous F & C After-Purchase Service

As long as you own an F & C suit, topcoat or overcoat you can go to any F & C store from the Atlantic to the Pacific and get that garment sponged, pressed and minor repairs FREE. Absolutely no obligation for this service.

We must confess we don't know how to run a sale! We wouldn't know how to re-mark our merchandise; it is marked for us at our factories. Price juggling is foreign to our way of doing business! You will find the same F & C guaranteed garments marked with the same F & C factory printed tags that have always distinguished this business. But now we say, "deduct 20% from every regular F & C low price."

Not a Garment Moves With Us!

We are dealing straight from the shoulder—the reason for this sale is plain! We are forced to it—we would not by choice break a 19-year precedent of never a sale! We can't take a single garment with us when we move. Our own five great factories are now filling orders for a 100% new stock for our new store! Rather than sell to dealers we give the man who wears the suit the benefit of the only reductions ever made by Foreman & Clark!

$10,000,000.00 Written Guarantee With Every Suit

Our New Rent-Free Home at 7th & Hill Opens Next Month!

No change in economy policies—no change in upstairs location. Advantageous leases on ground and top floors will give us FREE RENT! A bigger and better upstairs store for the customers who built this $10,000,000 business.

Smokeless Powder Changed from War Weapon Into Lacquer for Automobiles

NEW YORK, Sept. 6. (AP)—An up-to-date version of the husbandman in peace time turning his sword into a plowshare was presented to the Society of Chemical Industry today at its annual meeting.

The modern way is to turn gunpowder into automobile lacquer. How this took place was described by M. J. Callahan in a paper on the development of lacquers.

After the World War, he said, there were millions of pounds of smokeless powder stocks on hand, and the prospect of using them was almost hopeless. Furthermore, the powder threatened to be a burden of expense to the government for storage, and a hazard also. This was a challenge to industrial chemists, who several years experimented until they learned how to extract from the powder cellulose nitrate, one of the principal bases upon which the manufacture of lacquer depends.

At the same time, said Mr. Callahan the automobile manufacturing industry took a jump, giving the chemist another goal to shoot at in developing new methods of automobile body coloring. The lacquer process was the scientists' answer. And at the start of this industry the automobile was the principal customer, with smokeless powder a big source of supply.

Child Victims Donate Blood to Aid Humanity

TORONTO, Sept. 6. (AP)—Fifteen children, former infantile paralysis victims, today donated blood for a serum to combat an epidemic of the disease in Manitoba. A fast train leaving tonight will carry the serum to Winnipeg.

Doctors from the hospital for sick children, armed with records of former patients, searched the city and found parents willing to allow fifteen children to donate blood which will make enough serum for twenty-five cases, doctors estimated.

SEA JAILER OF TRIO WHO FLEE SHIP

Escaped Naval Prisoners Picked Up After Canoe Swamps in Waves

NEW YORK, Sept. 6. (AP)—Three naval prisoners who escaped last night from the army transport U.S.S. Grant were saved from drowning early today two miles off the Coney Island lighthouse. One of the sailors is in a critical condition.

The men are Ray Olsen, 22 years of age, and Jack Russell, 23, of New York, and James C. O'Donnell, 23, of Hagerstown, Md.

O'Donnell was taken from the water unconscious by fishermen and little hope is held out for his recovery. The others were rescued by the lighthouse keeper.

The Grant left port yesterday for San Francisco with more than 100 general prisoners for the Alcatraz Island prison. The three who escaped in some manner obtained a canoe. The canoe was upset by waves from a liner. The men clung to their tiny craft's side all night.

EUCHARIST SPECTACLE THRONGED

Sermon by Irish Bishop at Sydney Draws Crowd of More Than 100,000

SYDNEY (Australia) Sept. 6. (AP) More than 100,000 men filled the Sydney show grounds tonight for one of the most impressive spectacles of the Eucharistic Congress. In an atmosphere of complete solemnity Bishop O'Doherty of Galway preached a sermon.

During the benediction by Cardinal Cerretti, papal envoy to the congress, the electric lights around the field were dimmed and each man held aloft a lighted taper. This was supposed to symbolize the living faith. The effect of the ceremony was somewhat marred by a high wind.

Children will be the center of the program tomorrow. It is expected that 20,000 boys and girls will assemble in the show grounds while Cardinal Cerretti celebrates pontifical high mass.

VILNA QUESTION BEFORE LEAGUE

Lithuanian Premier Makes Three-Hour Speech

Members Sleep Peacefully and Delay Action

Indian Raises Objection to Sex Films

GENEVA, Sept. 6. (AP)—Two hours after telegraphing Lithuania's adhesion to the Kellogg peace treaty, Prime Minister Waldemaras went today before the Council of the League of Nations and fought forensically for his country's right to raise the question of sovereignty over Vilna.

He declared that Lithuania could have no thought of supporting her claims by force, inasmuch as the world has renounced war as a method of settling disputes.

His sole demand, he said, is to keep the question open so that it can be negotiated by pacific discussion. He was hopeful that normal relations with Poland can soon be re-established.

MEMBERS SLEEP

His oration occupied three hours and he spoke virtually without notes. His manner was determined. The Council, however, appeared overcome by fatigue and five members slept peacefully throughout almost the entire debate.

Premier Waldemaras charged that armed bands of persons who had fled from Lithuania still were being permitted to engage in activities on the Polish side of the frontier which had for their purpose the overthrow of Lithuania's government. He blamed Poland for the failure to convoke a plenary conference consisting of Polish and Lithuanian delegates to arbitrate the dispute.

August Zaleski, the Polish Minister of Foreign Affairs, addressed the Council ahead of his Lithuanian rival and offered assurance that Poland had done her utmost. After the debate the Assembly moved to postpone to another session its consideration of its action on the Polish-Lithuanian question.

FILMS CRITICISED

At a session of the social and humanitarian committee today an Indian delegate appeared to discuss the motion-picture industry in his country. The cinema undoubtedly is good for the child, he said, but added that it is a double-edged weapon.

"In India children are being shown films in which all the passions for prenuptial love are displayed. This is bringing about serious consequences and serious steps should be taken. The production of films whose sole object is to make money is something the League of Nations should put a stop to," he said.

Women delegates at the Assembly attended the hearing in force and voiced their satisfaction that he had made this complaint. It was learned that an educational cinema institute which Italy proposes to found under the auspices of the League of Nations would include a woman on its governing board.

SOLID FRONT AGAINST UNITED STATES AVOIDED

GENEVA, Sept. 6. (AP)—Efforts to drag the United States into discussions of the Rhineland occupation were frowned on today in public statements by Chancellor Mueller of Germany.

He said the Germans wish to avoid, above all, any semblance of a "united front" against America by linking inter-Allied debt and reparations with the evacuation of the Rhineland.

He explained that Germany hopes, before the end of next week, to attend a conference of delegates representing countries which have troops in the Rhineland. Such a conference, he said, would include Italy, despite the fact that there are no Italian troops of occupation.

Chancellor Mueller recalled that Foreign Minister Briand had declined to discuss the withdrawal of troops without the participation of other interested nations. For this reason he supposed that the French government would take the initiative in summoning a conference.

He said that if the question of reparation payments should be raised in connection with evacuation he would insist on the fixation of a lump sum to be paid by Germany. Credited to this total, he declared, must be those payments in kind already made, such as ships and Saar Valley coal.

It is the belief of the German delegation that it would be "stupid" for the former Allies to seek to force a reduction of their obligations to the United States by emphasizing the necessity for revising reparation downward. The Germans feel that they were strictly within their rights in requesting a reduction, but that this request was far removed from the idea of a united European front against the inter-Allied debts.

BAD BURGLARS GET TOO NOISY

So Neighbors Call Police and Handcuff Clicks Awaken Bandits

CHICAGO, Sept. 6. (AP)—The Theme song to be played, strummed or yodeled as musical setting for the accompanying news item is: "Please Go 'Way and Let Me Sleep."

Three men had set about the burglary of the Electric Manufacturing Company. They carried out box after box of heavy merchandise to their car. It was hard work. Soon they began complaining in loud tones. It got so bad that the neighbors couldn't sleep.

Police were called. They found the three in their automobile slumbering. Only the snap of handcuffs about their wrists awakened Jesse Hale, George Davis and Will Gaines.

NEW ANGLES IN BAPTIST THEFT CASE

Carnes's Wife Divorced Him Before Prison Terms; Suspect Being Watched

ATLANTA (Ga.) Sept. 6. (Exclusive)—Revelations that Clinton S. Carnes, vanished treasurer of the Southern Baptist Home Mission Board, whose disappearance has resulted in the discovery that he is short in his accounts by more than $1,000,000, was divorced by his wife prior to his prison terms and the report that a suspect thought to be Carnes now is under surveillance in Richmond, Va., were the chief developments today in Atlanta's most sensational news story of years.

In an effort to conserve all the property of the missing man in order that as much as possible be saved for the benefit of the mission board, Judge Hutcheson of the DeKalb Superior Court today appointed Thomas Howell Scott, Atlanta lawyer, and Leon O'Neil, Decatur real estate operator, as receivers for all the properties of the former treasurer. The appointment was made on the plea of the mission board.

Outlaw Pleads to Escape Noose

OKEMAH (Okla.) Sept. 6 (AP)—An agreement whereby Matthew Kimes, Oklahoma outlaw, will plead guilty here Saturday to murder of W. J. McAnally, Chief of Police of Beggs, Okla., in exchange for assurance of a life sentence, was announced here today by Sid White, cowboy attorney, who represents Kimes.

White said he had entered the agreement with A. N. Boatman, County Attorney. It further provides, White said, that Kimes shall be immune to prosecution on any other charges that might be preferred against him.

McAnally was shot to death when he exchanged shots with robbers who had looted a bank at Beggs.

City Treasurer Answers Charge on Deputy's Pay

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6. (Exclusive—J. H. Thieler, City Treasurer, today answered a complaint filed against him recently by a former deputy, Hiram M. Ogden, in which Thieler is accused of extracting $100 monthly from Ogden's pay check for two years.

Thielers reply, filed in Superior Court, set forth that Ogden borrowed money from him over an extended period, that Thieler took his deputy's note and it was under a mutual agreement that Ogden was repaying the money on the note at the rate of $100 a month.

"MONDISM" INDORSED BY BRITISH UNIONS

SWANSEA (Wales) Sept. 6. (AP)—British trade unionism took an important new directional policy today when the trade union congress, after a six hours' debate, voted by 3,075,000 to 566,000 to approve its general council's indorsement last year of "Mondism." The name "Mondism" is applied to a policy advocated by the new Lord Melchett, formerly Sir Alfred Mond, by which a closer co-operation of capital and labor is sought.

Search for Amundsen Party Which Flew to Rescue Nobile Abandoned in Ice Fields

OSLO (NORWAY, Sept. 6. (AP)—Search of the polar ice fields for traces of Roald Amundsen and his five companions of the Nobile rescue expedition, has been abandoned. This was decided today at a meeting of government officials and polar experts at the Ministry of Defense.

Search will be continued, however, along the Norwegian coast in the hope of discovering more relics of the seaplane in which the six men were traveling when disaster overtook them. A pontoon from the French naval machine, discovered a few days ago off Tromsoe, convinces the officials that the men are dead.

Today's decision is based largely upon a letter from Admiral Kerr of the French navy, who has been aiding in the search with the cruiser Strasbourg. He suggested abandonment of further effort along the ice pack which is pushing steadily southward around the Spitzbergen archipelago.

Sir F. O. Lindley, British Minister to Norway, called at the Foreign Office today to express regrets of his government over the loss of Amundsen.

Pacific Company Accused of Withholding Documents

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6. (Exclusive)—Renewed charges that the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company is withholding documents of vital importance to Bay District cities in their attempt to prevent a $7,000,000 rise in rates caused a temporary cessation of the hearing before the State Railroad Commission today. The accusation was made by Dion R. Holm, special counsel for San Francisco. The hearing was postponed until October 2.

Prior to that, however, testimony was elicited from two executives of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, the parent organization, tending to show the connection existing between the two organizations. Attorneys for the cities fighting the rate increase have contended steadily that the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company, which dominates also the Southern California Telephone Company, is merely a rubber stamp for the American Telephone and Telegraph, and have appealed to the Railroad Commission to force the American Telephone and Telegraph into the hearing as a party defendant.

Efforts to get such an admission from the two witnesses of the American Telephone and Telegraph were futile. The witnesses were E. V. Cox, assistant vice-president of the American Telephone and Telegraph, and A. B. Crunden, assistant controller.

REWARDS GIVEN TO POLICEMEN

Pasadena Officers Receive Checks and Gratitude

Distribution Handled by Chief Charles H. Kelley

Promotions for All of Men May be Further Honor

PASADENA, Sept. 6.—Rewards totaling $4608 were distributed by Chief of Police Charles H. Kelley today to four of his officers whose bravery resulted in killing one bank bandit and capturing his confederate on August 17, when the desperadoes attempted to escape after robbing the Pasadena National Bank branch on North Fair Oaks avenue.

Traffic Officer R. L. Schad, who shot and killed Wilbur D. Hinton after the bandit had wounded Motorcycle Officer Fred W. Walker, received a check for $1152. Walker received $1202, and Lieut. Lynn Harrison and Motor Officer Charles Ewing each profited to the extent of $1127 as the result of their heroism during a five-mile running battle with the gunmen.

Schad is slated to be made a detective sergeant and promotions for the other three officers are being considered by Chief Kelley and the Board of City Directors.

Riverside Postmaster Drops Dead

RIVERSIDE, Sept. 6.—Death came without a moment's warning last night to Postmaster George A. Herdeg of this city. He was spending the evening with Dr. W. B. Wells, city and county health commissioner, at the latter's residence in Walnut street. While conversing Herdeg gasped faintly and fell over dead. Dr. Wells said he believed he was a victim of apoplexy.

Herdeg had been in usual health, friends said, having spent the day at the Postoffice, where he was giving special attention to enlargement operations.

Herdeg was born in New York State in 1866. He came here from Pasadena in 1899. He was a member of the Maccabees and Elks lodges and of the Rotary Club. For years he had been active in Riverside county Republican affairs. Herdeg was made postmaster when President Harding assumed office. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Herdeg; a son, Harold L., of Azusa, and two daughters, Mrs. Helen Tyndall of Alhambra and Mrs. Mary Garstrang of Los Angeles.

San Diego Sets High Record on Air Mail Use

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 6.—Smashing all previous air-mail records for San Diego, the number of pieces of mail leaving here via the air route last month totaled 53,656, according to a report issued today by Postmaster E. W. Dort. The previous highest number of articles leaving here in one month was 25,421, established last December when Christmas mail helped to raise the total.

"The figures show that the reduced air-mail rates are meeting with favor here," Dort said. "San Diego is keeping pace with other Southern California cities in pushing this section of the nation ahead of all other districts for air-mail output. This city's use of air mail has shown a steady growth during the past twenty months and we are sure it will continue."

PLUNGE NEARS COMPLETION

FONTANA, Sept. 6.—This community's new plunge will be open by the middle of September and ready for use during the last few warm days of the current summer. An elaborate program to mark the opening of the recreational center is being arranged by the Chamber of Commerce.

SECRETARY QUESTIONED

Chamber of Commerce Asked for Information on Strange Subjects

GLENDALE, Sept. 6.—The Chamber of Commerce officials are used to almost any sort of a question.

However, today, when a woman called the office on the telephone and asked where to buy "sauerkraut juice without salt in it," Secretary Lloyd Myers almost fainted. Then he consulted his list of facts and fables and gave the woman the information desired.

A few minutes later a phone call from Ontario requested Myers to attend a drawing for an automobile.

"I got a ticket for the drawing tonight when I was there a couple of weeks ago," the voice said, "will you attend it and if I win the automobile let me know." He didn't win the automobile.

WATCHMAN STABBED IN TWO PLACES

Pair of Thieves Trying to Get Carburetor Use Knife When Discovered

VENTURA, Sept. 6.—Jim Barnech of Somis, night watchman on the construction job being done for the State by Silveria & Robbins on the Conejo grade, was stabbed by an unidentified assailant at dusk last night and today is nursing an eight-inch and a four-inch gash in his arm. The slashing occurred when he interrupted two men who were attempting to get away with the carburetor of a roller.

Barnech approached the roller on his regular patrol of the property and saw a man in the cab of the machine and another crouching on the ground near by. He flashed his light and made a rush at the man crouching by the roller. The man, described by him as white, short and weighing about 200 pounds, struck him with his fist.

Barnech went back at him and the man cut him with a sharp blade, throwing him to the ground. Then the two men made their escape in their car and headed west. The wounded man tried to flag a passing car and after a long wait reached a drug store in Camarillo in an ambulance from Oxnard sent to the scene by a passing motorist. Here the wounds were treated and he went back to his job.

Two New Police Hit the Cement

HUNTINGTON PARK, Sept. 6.—Arthur Leavy and Orwin Brenner have been selected as new members of the local police department and they have been assigned to patrol duty. Charles Porter, a member of the motorcycle squad for some time, recently tendered his resignation with the department

HORSESHOE PITCHING TOURNAMENT DATE SET

HUNTINGTON PARK, Sept. 6.—The officials of the California Horseshoe Pitching Association announce that the dates have been set for the annual tournament which will be held in this city. The events will be started on the 26th inst., and will continue three days. It is expected there will be at least 150 representatives of different clubs in the State present. The State secretary, George E. Krinbill, of 348 Carroll Park West, Long Beach, now has programs of the events ready.

WINNERS NAMED AT SANTA ANA

Judges Award Honors for Numerous Divisions

Blue Ribbon Horse Show Proves Fine Attraction

Management Looking for Tremendous Crowds

SANTA ANA, Sept. 6.—Attendance at the Orange County Fair was materially increased tonight when a vast throng was present in the grandstand to witness the first of the blue ribbon horse shows. The attendance was especially pleasing to the fair officials and the horse show will be repeated Friday and Saturday evenings.

With a burst of speed the three-day rodeo program was brought to a finish last night before an audience of close to 4000 persons. The best broncho rider of the whole rodeo was judged to be C. R. Williams, mounted on the horse Lindbergh. Williams, attached to the Baker-Anderson ranch, was awarded the first prize of $250.

The finals in the broncho riding contest resulted in second place for Kenneth Cooper riding the horse Ace Hudkins. Frank Smith was awarded third prize and Al Allan, fourth prize.

FIRE DEPARTMENT USED

The only interruption of the day came with a small blaze that leaped up for a minute in the sawdust of the alleyway beside the main tent. It was probably started by a carelessly dropped cigaret stub. The damage was inconsequential and the fire apparatus of the fair had it extinguished before a dozen spectators knew it was happening.

The judging of live stock was finished and announced, with the exception of the awards to swine. Although the live-stock show this year was somewhat handicapped by competition with the State Fair in Sacramento, the judging brought out many veteran blue ribbon winners and several champions.

The honors in the Guernsey breed were garnered by the entries of the Russell S. Cox ranch at San Marcos. The San Aloi's herd of Jerseys of Harry H. Cook of Ontario made nearly a clean sweep in all classes. Holstein honors went to the stock of Frank Pellissier of Whittier, with the entries of the Orange county farm edging in for four firsts and a dozen seconds.

The Orange county farm winners were the Dutchess, in the 3-year-old cow class, and Valencia Jewell, in the 2-year-old cow class.

In the agricultural department awards for subtropical fruit, grains and seeds, apiaries and plate displays were announced.

The best Valencia oranges in the subtropical division were judged to be those of Felix Heberstreit, Garden Grove, Route 1; the second honor went to E. H. Adams, Orange, Route 1. In the navel orange class the McPherson ranch was awarded first. The best exhibit of sour oranges was made by Roy Bishop of Orange.

LEMONS WIN HONORS

In the lemon display, the Eurekas of C. O. Pradford of Orange, Route 2, were judged best in their class. Charles Knowlton of Fullerton entered the winning seedless lemons. He also was awarded the blue ribbon for his exhibit of Florida rough lemons.

The prize for the best general display of subtropical fruit was awarded the McPherson ranch. The San Joaquin Fruit Company of Tustin was awarded second place and the Irvine Ranch Company was given third prize.

Awards in the fine arts exhibit were announced. The first prize of $100 cash was awarded Clarence Hinkle for his "still life."

The Orange county combined school orchestra played the concert program last night in the main tent. The orchestra is composed of seventy-five school children.

Shriners Plan Bowl Ritual

PASADENA, Sept. 6.—Hundreds of Shriners from all parts of California will attend a spectacular Shrine ceremonial which will be held in the Rose Bowl on October 15, A. P. Hamill, president of the Pasadena Shrine Club, revealed today. The bowl will be closed for the occasion as the affair will take the form of a ritual for members of the order.

Imperial Potentate Frank C. Jones of Houston, Tex., will be in charge of the ceremonial. Tournament of Roses Association officials, the Chamber of Commerce, and members of the Board of City Directors declare that they will cooperate.

Champion Gets Ready to Return to His School

AZUSA, Sept. 6.—Since his return last week from the Olympiad at Amsterdam, Johnny Falcon, senior champion, has been feted at a round of luncheons, dinners and breakfasts at which he has been special and honored guest. Yesterday morning he, with Charles C. Carpenter, principal of the intermediate school, where young Falcon will enter next Monday in the eighth grade, occupied two chairs of honor at the Los Angeles Breakfast Club. Johnny is making efforts to get through practically all these hearty welcomes so he can get back to his schooling.

JOHNNY FALCON

Next Monday Johnny will be the guest of the Azusa Rotary Club at their weekly luncheon and will give a resume of events taking place during his trip.

On the 11th inst., Johnny will participate in the program of a Spanish barbecue being sponsored by the Union Oil Company at Brea.

RIVERSIDE, Sept. 6.—Jimmy Barber, 6-year-old son of a local dairyman, is not only the youngest but one of the most formidable entrants in the junior milking contests scheduled for the Southern California Fair at Riverside, the 25th inst.

Jimmy, with his Jersey cows, Margery and Mollie, is expected to provide some pretty frothy competition for milkers at least ten years his senior. Only the extreme smallness of his hands, with the resultant weakness of the thumbs, keeps Jimmy from being a veteran milking hand of high productive rank.

Survey Ends at Rabbit Station

FONTANA, Sept. 6.—Having concluded a survey of conditions at the United States rabbit experimental station in this district, Frank G. Ashbrook has returned to Washington, D. C., expressing enthusiasm over the future of the institution. He will report to government officials his findings, based on an investigation here during a visit of several weeks.

Ashbrook, who is assistant chief of the Bureau of Biological Survey of the United States Department of Agriculture, came here following the resignation of Monroe D. Green, former director of the rabbit experimental station.

Grass Fires New Menace Near El Cajon

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 6.—Destroying one barn and threatening property on the outskirts of El Cajon, a serious grass fire raged today in the vicinity of Chase avenue and El Cajon Valley, according to Mrs. Luther, wife of the county fire warden at La Mesa. The fire was being fought by a large crew directed by Gordon, and for a time threatened numerous buildings at El Granito Springs, where a bottle works formerly was located, it was reported. Children playing with matches are said to have caused the fire.

Deputy Fire Warden Archie Bedford of Jacumba was directing a large crew to bring under control another fire of considerable size, which started in the vicinity of Live Oak Springs, according to Mrs. Gordon.

A crew of fifty was left to watch for further possible outbreaks on the Pine Valley fire, and another crew was patrolling a brush fire which blackened more than 300 acres in the vicinity of Bingville late yesterday.

Forest Supervisor Elliot declared that the area burned in the Pine Valley fire is between 5000 and 6000 acres.

CUYAMA VALLEY FIRE BURNS 12,000 ACRES

SANTA BARBARA, Sept. 6. (Exclusive)—A brush fire in the Cuyama Valley, which has been burning since last Sunday, was brought under control today after burning over approximately 12,000 acres of land, four-fifths of which was inside the Santa Barbara National Forest.

CORONADO TUBE PLAN OFFERED

San Francisco Engineers Submit Detailed Proposal

San Diego Authorities Seem Favorable to Project

Scheme Would Help Bay and Cut Distance to Mexico

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 6.—Twin tubes beneath San Diego Bay to provide fast transportation between this city and Coronado may be built by San Francisco capitalists at a cost of more than $1,000,000, it was learned here today. Plans for the bores have been shown to city and harbor officials here and at Coronado.

J. P. Kenney, representing the San Francisco engineering offices of Francis B. Smith, left this afternoon, apparently satisfied with prospects of friendly attitude of local officials toward the enterprise. He has gone back to San Francisco with letters from officials approving the plans as shown by Kenney.

Kenney stated that the twin tubes would afford safe passage for vehicular traffic, as one would be used for traffic going to Coronado solely, and the other for traffic coming to San Diego. The bore from bulkhead to bulkhead would be 2900 feet long. The approach of the San Diego side would begin at J street and follow Fifth across the city's tidelands. The portal would be located at the bulkhead on tidelands on the Coronado side. The portal would be located at Second avenue.

Kenney said the underground passage would afford five-minute service and that this method of transportation would do away with ferries or a bridge, leaving the fairway clear of obstruction for use of the naval vessels. Kenney also showed letters from navy officials approving the plan.

Mayor Clark was shown the plans this morning, when he approved them, providing they went through regular channels, such as the Harbor Commission and the Common Council. Kenney said it was expected that a franchise would be asked to obtain permission to cross the harbor lands, and that other details would be looked after when it was ascertained that the authorities here were in accord with the plans.

Kenney's maps show that the tubes would afford another through route from San Diego to the Mexican border by way of the Silver Strand. The plans show a contemplated boulevard from Second avenue, Coronado, to connect with the Strand paving, either by way of Glorietta Boulevard or by way of Pomona street. Kenney said it would afford a quick route to Tia Juana and would relieve the congested route by way of National avenue. National City and the Chula Vista Boulevard of a great deal of traffic.

City officials here who have examined the project say it is feasible and they now await further information from Kenney, Smith and their associates. Kenney said he had been instructed to report back in San Francisco tomorrow.

Man Jailed for Mistreating Kin

FILLMORE, Sept. 6.—J. W. Beem, 55 years of age, is held at the county jail at Ventura today charged with a statutory offense against his 6-year-old grand-daughter.

Dist.-Atty. James Hollingsworth and Sheriff Robert Clark are handling the case. The man had been involved in a case of a similar nature before, according to the officers, but the girl in that instance was 17 and her parents chose not to prosecute.

Beem was arrested on a warrant sworn out by his own son, whose daughter he is said to have mistreated. He maintains that he is innocent. The child told the officers step by step the whole story, giving times and places.

SUPERSTITION NOT FOR COP

Glendale Police Sergeant Glad When Figure 13 Comes His Way

GLENDALE, Sept. 6.—"Thirteen" means nothing in the life of Police Sergeant E. A. Manring of this city. He says it has always been his lucky number and expressed pleasure when he discovered that his vacation was to begin on the 13th inst. "I've never moved into a house that didn't have the number associated with it," he said. "In Portland I had police badge No. 13, and when I came here I received it again."

YUCAIPA CONTRACTS FOR WATER

Cherrycroft Orchard in Deal Allowing Tapping of San Andreas Fault

YUCAIPA, Sept. 6. Cherrycroft, 640-acre cherry orchard of C. N. Andrews, was leased today to the Yucaipa Water Company No 1 for the development of water. Andrews has held it for thirty-six years to be used when the emergency justified tapping of the supply.

At a meeting of the directors of the water company at the Redlands office of Dike and Logie, the Andrews Cherrycroft Company submitted a contract for the sale of surplus water to be developed by tapping the supply in and near the San Andreas fault at Cherrycroft. The directors decided to sign the contract if the time of its existence were extended to include five irrigation seasons and the amendment was promptly authorized by Andrews, it was reported.

Considerable importance is attached to this contract because of assertions that residents here will soon face a crisis unless more water for irrigation is available at a low price such as is assured by the underground stream which exists close to the surface on the Cherrycroft estate. The expense of pumping water from a depth of several hundred feet as is done in other parts of the valley has greatly handicapped fruit growers, the water company officials said.

Glendale Names Committee for New Truck Road

GLENDALE, Sept. 6.—Formation of a committee to push plans for a truck boulevard adjacent to the recently constructed Riverside Drive was completed at a meeting today of the South Glendale Business Men's Association. The committee consists of C. E. Michaels, J. A. Winans, Joseph Daudino, W. B. Davis, Peter L. Perry and Ben H. Scouboe.

Plans for the proposed highway call for a parkway down the center carrying the Southern California Edison high-voltage line with the speedway on one side carrying passenger travel and the truck boulevard on the otherside.

The proposed boulevard would afford a through and direct highway connecting the coast route, inland route, San Fernando Valley and all northern points on a straight road to the Los Angeles industrial and business district.

POSTAL RECEIPTS GAIN

VENTURA, Sept. 6.—Ventura demonstrated its growth again during August when the postal receipts of the local postoffice for the month showed an increase over August of 1927 of more than 16 per cent. In August, 1927, the postal receipts totaled $5127.49, while those of August, 1928, totaled $5976.99, according to Webster W. Barnhardt, postmaster.

REPORT GIVEN POMONANS

Exchange Manager Walcott Gives Figures to Growers for Top Record Year of Association

POMONA, Sept. 6.—Showing net returns of $1,355,182.13 for the fiscal year 1927-1928, Manager H. A. Walcott of the Pomona Fruit Growers' Exchange, made his annual report to the 285 grower members today. The year just past exceeds by $250,000 the returns for any previous year. A fair-sized crop of both navel and Valencia oranges combined with exceptional prices made the record possible.

Walcott stated the exchange turned practically the same amount of money to the growers so far this season, the records show.

shipped 345,882 packed boxes of citrus fruit, or 864 carloads, to eastern and other markets. Total returns to the association from the past year's fruit f.o.b. were $1,634,989, according to Walcott, while actual cash returns to growers was $1,355,182.

Election of officers resulted in the following being chosen by reelection: Fred J. Smith, president; R. K. Pitser, vice-president; Frank P. Firey, treasurer; H. E. Walcott, secretary; directors, J. TROLLEY CARS STILL RUN

Ontario-Upland Line Ordered Replaced by Busses Starting Today Instructed to Continue

ONTARIO, Sept. 6.—Professing to know nothing about the situation, officials of the Pacific Electric Railway Company were silent today regarding a change in plans made at 10:30 last night, to continue electric car service between Ontario and Upland when orders had been received to substitute electric cars with motor-bus service at 10 a.m. today.

Conductors and motormen who have been on the local electric line for several years had sold their homes or given up their apartments and taken work on other divisions, intending to be on their new jobs this morning.

At 10:30 o'clock last night Cleb Moser, local Pacific Electric agent, was ordered by telephone from Los Angeles to keep the electric cars moving. Officials of the Pacific Electric were here today but professed to know nothing of the situation.

The State Railroad Commission has twice ordered the rails torn out and two eleventh-hour reversals have been made. The trolley cars continued to ply between this city and Upland today.

FOREIGNERS CAUGHT IN BORDER RUM NET

CALEXICO, Sept. 6.—Three members of the border patrol last night intercepted A. Pedrosa of Brawley crossing the international line eight miles east of here and found in the Mexican's car twelve dozen bottles of beer and twenty-six bottles of tequila. One hour later they arrested a Japanese named Tsuruda, who was crossing the line two miles west. In Tsuruda's car were two bottles of gin. Both cars were confiscated and the drivers taken before Commissioner Dorsey Whitelaw of El Centro.

OUR HISTORY IN PICTURES 1127

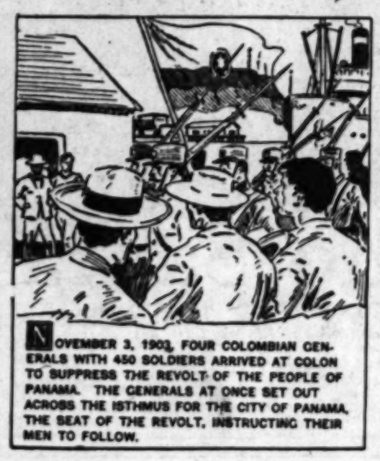
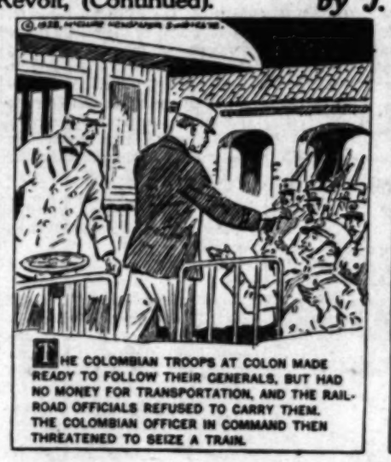
by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD



NOVEMBER 3, 1903, FOUR COLOMBIAN GENERALS WITH 450 SOLDIERS ARRIVED AT COLON TO SUPPRESS THE REVOLT OF THE PEOPLE OF PANAMA. THE GENERALS AT ONCE SET OUT ACROSS THE ISTHMUS FOR THE CITY OF PANAMA, THE SEAT OF THE REVOLT, INSTRUCTING THEIR MEN TO FOLLOW.

UPON THEIR ARRIVAL IN PANAMA, THE GENERALS WITH THEIR STAFFS WERE AT ONCE PLACED UNDER ARREST BY ARMED MEMBERS OF THE REVOLUTIONARY PARTY, AND HELD AS PRISONERS FOR SEVERAL DAYS.



THE COLOMBIAN TROOPS AT COLON MADE READY TO FOLLOW THEIR GENERALS, BUT HAD NO MONEY FOR TRANSPORTATION, AND THE RAILROAD OFFICIALS REFUSED TO CARRY THEM. THE COLOMBIAN OFFICER IN COMMAND THEN THREATENED TO SEIZE A TRAIN.

BY THE TREATY WITH COLOMBIA THE UNITED STATES WAS BOUND TO PREVENT ANY INTERFERENCE WITH THE REGULAR OPERATION OF THE RAILROAD, AND A BODY OF U. S. MARINES WAS LANDED HASTILY TO PROTECT THE LINE. TWO DAYS LATER THE COLOMBIAN SOLDIERS SAILED AWAY.

TOMORROW—THE TREATY WITH PANAMA.

HARBOR REVIVES LEASE QUESTION

Extension of Term May Get to Next Assembly

Matter Coming Before Port Officials Monday

Present Thirty-Year Period Held Too Short

Legislation extension of the thirty-year period, to which Los Angeles is limited in leasing its water front, is expected to be sought again in the January session of the State's lawmakers.

The matter is to be laid before a conference of Harbor Department officials Monday, and started on its way.

What period of time is considered desirable in order to attract industries to the vast, undeveloped acreage owned by the city at the port, has not been positively fixed, except all interested elements seem convinced the present thirty-year period is too short. The onus of a revaluation each ten years of the thirty, a provision of the city charter, also is said to embarrass the port officials in attracting pay-roll enterprises.

Two years ago a movement was started for an extension of such lease terms, but whoever was assigned to draft a bill forgot about it until too late for the legislative session. A Long Beach Assemblyman, however, introduced a bill to limit such leases to thirty years, but Los Angeles succeeded in preventing its passage. There the matter has stood since.

The Los Angeles Harbor Department has upward of 2000 acres back from the water front, which is regarded as offering prime locations for industries seeking proximity to shipping, but is unused and produces no revenue because of the lease restrictions.

FREIGHTER DAMAGED IN CRASH ARRIVES

The freighter Canadian Rover put in from British Columbia yesterday little the worse for her collision with the Calmar steamer Calmar off Point Arena in a fog last Saturday. Although advised that the ship has been libeled for $87,200 asserted damages to the Calmar and its cargo, officers of the Canadian Rover would make no statement. They said they are required to make their testimony to the British Columbia wreck commissioner. Judgment will be reserved by United States steamboat inspectors, hearing the Calmar's side, until transcripts are available from the Canadian Rover. A second libel of $3000 as damages to cargo was filed by the San Francisco Milling Company.

Performance of the veteran Swedish motorship Bullaren, loading at General Steamship Corporation's dock for Australia, belies claims that internal combustion ships will not stand up. The ship has been ten years in service and has completed 507,000 miles in twenty-four trips around the world without any mechanical repair of importance. She still does better than thirteen knots an hour also, according to Capt. Carl Hallberg, master, who took her when new. The ship is taking several thousand tons of asphalt, case petroleum and general cargo. At the same dock the Silveroak is discharging 1200 tons from Java and Calcutta and the Silveray is loading thrice that amount for the Dutch East Indies.

Carl E. Klitgaard, manager of construction and repair division of the Standard Shipping Company, the marine department of Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, will leave today for the east after inspecting coast ports. He was shown the harbor yesterday by J. C. McQuiddy, marine superintendent for the Standard Oil Company of California.

Municipal rock quarries at Catalina Island will be reopened the 25th inst., it was announced yesterday by David R. Coover, superintendent of construction for the Harbor Department, who will go to the islands today to make arrangements.

A big supply of rock is required for the extension of berths for the American Hawaiian Steamship Company and half a dozen other similar additions. The plant has been idle more than a year.

The new cruiser yacht Dolphin will be launched and commissioned simultaneously at the East San Pedro yards of the Harbor Boat Building Company tomorrow. The craft was built for Frank Davey of Hollywood. It is eighty-two feet long, powered with 200 horsepower Diesel engines and has cabin accommodations for fifteen. The cost is approximately $60,000.

The Japanese steam liner Taiyo Maru, one of the largest of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha's trans-Pacific passenger fleet, is due from Yokohama via San Francisco today to disembark thirty passengers and drop several hundred tons of freight. She will embark 200 travelers and take on 1000 tons of Los Angeles products before sailing for the Orient tomorrow.

The Pacific Hemlock, in today for the Dimon Line with 7500 tons of Atlantic products for the Pacific Coast, will discharge 3500 here, ranging from steel to canned goods and general merchandise. Pacific Fir of the same line also will put in today, eastbound and stopping only for bunkers, according to C. G. Kruger, agent. The latter also will have the Mexican steamer Jalisco in port southbound today.

News of Ships and Sailings at Pacific Ports

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6. (AP)—The Northern California Fisheries Company, lessees of the launch Ideal, which was wrecked off Point Reyes on August 15, and Anthony L. Peters, master of the launch, were libeled in the sum of $20,000 here today by A. Paladini, for loss of the craft. The complaint filed by the Paladini interests stated that there was no cause for the wreck of the Ideal, as the weather was clear. The complainants say that the wreck of the launch was due to carelessness.

Repairs to the Calmer Line steamer Clamer, which was damaged in a collision Sunday near Point Reyes, with the steamer Canadian Rover, was started today in the Hunter's Point dry dock of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation. Dry-dock officials said that the vessel will require from two to three weeks, during which time all the machinery in the engine room will have to be taken from the ship, repaired and set up again.

Perry S. Newcombe, formerly assistant manager here for Dodwell & Co., was transferred to Los Angeles today to take the position of manager of the Southern California office of the company, with the establishment of the Los Angeles office of the company, all dealings of the line will be direct with the Vancouver office, instead of with the local office as in the past.

SEATTLE, Sept. 6.—The Alaska Steamship Company's liner Victoria will leave Friday morning on her next to the last voyage of the year to Nome, Alaska. On this trip the vessel is scheduled to make several stops en route to leave families attached to the United States Bureau of Education in isolated sector during the winter. Also aboard, bound for Nome, are the wives of a number of business men, miners and officials, who are northbound to spend the winter with their husbands after a summer in the States.

A plea for the restoration of the American flag to the Pacific Coast-United Kingdom-Continental Europe route was made today by Capt. Samuel S. Sandberg, a commissioner of the United States Shipping Board, at a luncheon given in his honor. Pacific Coast interests were urged by Capt. Sandberg to

Spreckels to Back Smith on Liquor Issue

NEW YORK, Sept. 5. (AP)—Rudolph Spreckels, banker and sugar refiner of this city and San Francisco, heretofore a Republican, has announced his support of Gov. Smith for President in a letter to John J. Raskob, Democratic national chairman, made public at Democratic headquarters today.

The Democratic nominee's stand on prohibition won the backing of Mr. Spreckels, his letter said.

...ly that the nominee will be able to find time later in the campaign to go as far west as the Coast.

One of the tentative schedules for the Democratic standard bearer after his visit to Rochester, where he will assist in shaping the State ticket and platform, calls for him to swing into the Middle West, one or two of the border States and into the solid South, rarely visited by Democratic Presidential nominees in the past. All hands in party councils seem agreed that he should concentrate on eastern States during the last stages of the campaign, and it is regarded as certain that he will wind up his speech-making the Saturday night before election at Madison Square Garden in New York City.

Smoot Assails Hansbrough for Religion Letter

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6. (AP)—A bristling statement full of terms such as "political has-been" and "disgruntled Republican office seeker" was directed at ex-Senator Hansbrough of North Dakota today by Senator Smoot of Utah.

Smoot's utterances were brought about by a recent letter in which Hansbrough, now supporting Gov. Smith, asked Herbert Hoover to repudiate all statements seeking to appeal to religious prejudice in the campaign.

The Utah Senator said that "no decent man tolerates publications built on religious prejudices" and that Mr. Hoover has already in his acceptance speech "made the strongest statement on religious intolerance probably ever delivered in the United States."

He accused Hansbrough of voting to deprive him of his Senate seat because Smoot was a member of the Mormon Church.

LUTHERANS CITE CATHOLIC IDEAL

Editors Issue Warning on Foreign Allegiance

Resolution on Church and State Adopted

Support of Either Nominee, However, Opposed

COLUMBUS (O.) Sept. 6. (AP)—A resolution referring to the approaching Presidential election and declaring that "the peculiar allegiance that a faithful Catholic owes, according to the teaching of his church. Toward a foreign sovereign who also claims supremacy in secular affairs, may clash with the best interests of the country" was adopted here today by the National Lutheran Editors Association.

The resolution voiced support of the principle of separation of church and state, but urged editors to take no stand either for Herbert Hoover or Gov. Smith in the campaign.

It was adopted after the association composed of editors of publications reaching about 2,000,000 readers had made known its attitude inward a Catholic President in a statement drawn up by Dr. C. R. Tappert of Philadelphia and adopted by the association. Dr. Tappert is editor of "The Lutherischer Herald."

"The situation is further peculiar," the statement says, "because of the allegiance a faithful Catholic owes, according to the teachings of his church, towards a foreign sovereign who claims supremacy also in secular affairs and who has world-wide political interests of his own which may severely clash with the best interests of our country.

OFFICERS ELECTED

"It becomes the duty of our church papers to give to their readers reliable information as to the attitude of the Roman Catholic Church towards the authority of the worldly government and especially the precious liberties, guaranteed by our Constitution; to counteract misinformation and to correct false and misleading innuendoes, statements and impressions.

"The church papers, however, will not and need not advise their readers how to vote, but must leave this to their own intelligent and conscientious judgement."

Publications represented by members of the association and those of the United Lutheran Church in America, and Austana Augustana Synod, (Swedish.) the Norwegian Lutheran Church in America, the United Danish Church, the Danish Church, the joint Synod of Ohio and other States and the Iowa Synod Evangelical Lutheran.

The following officers were elected for the year: the Rev. Harold Jensen, Omaha, Neb., president; Dr. C. R. Tappert, Philadelphia, vice-president; Dr. Emmanual Poppen, Grove City, O., secretary, and A. M. Sundheim, Indianapolis, treasurer.

WOMAN WANTS $700,000 BALM

Suit Says Broker Promised Her His Estate

Pledges to Marry Also Named in Action

Wedding to Secretary Only Divulged at Death

CAMBRIDGE (Mass.) Sept. 6. (AP) Suits for $700,000 have been instituted here by Miss Alice G. Porter of West Medford, a Radcliffe graduate, against the estate of Allan A. Hooker of Wellesley, who amassed a fortune in the small loan business in Boston before State legislation curbed high interest rates.

PROMISE TO WED

The woman, who for fourteen years acted, she says, as a confidential adviser to the small-loan broker, charges Hooker failed to keep an often reiterated promise to marry her and that the administrator of the estate has refused to pay her a promissory note for $100,000, which, she asserts, Hooker gave her in return for companionship and advice. The note was payable at his death.

Miss Porter, a first cousin of Hooker and a former high-school teacher, says she became engaged to marry him in 1914. In 1916, she avers, he agreed to give her his estate. He died in 1927.

It was only then, she asserts, that she discovered Hooker had married Miss Margaret E. Mahoney of Arlington, 45 years of age, a divorcee and, at the time, Hooker's secretary.

The marriage took place at Derry, N. H., in March, 1926. Hooker was 54 at the time.

SUES ADMINISTRATOR

Miss Porter's suits are against the administrator. One asks $200,000 on the basis of the $100,000 promissory note while the other is for the remainder of the estate estimated at $500,000.

No will was found and the widow is entitled to half the estate. The other half goes to Mr. Hooker's 86-year-old father, of Salem, N. H.

Bondsmen for Parente Must Pay $60,000

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6. (Exclusive)—Bondsmen of Joe Parente, fugitive rum-runner who vanished last December when an appeal on one of his numerous liquor convictions was lost, must pay the government $60,000, Federal Judge Kerrigan held today in denying a petition of the New Amsterdam Casualty Company for release from liability.

The company based its petition on the ground that the Parente indictments were defective and that Parente had left without the consent of the bondsmen. U. S. Atty. Hatfield resisted the plea, asserting that the bondsmen guaranteed Parente's appearance for trial.

The court held the bondsmen are immediately liable for payment of $40,000, the remainder being covered by a property bond.

INITIAL DIVIDEND FOR BANK GROUP

Holding Company of Pacific National Acts

Four Per Cent Quarterly Paid on $25 Common

Rate Increase Promised as Profits Grow

Directors of the Pacific National Company, at the regular monthly meeting yesterday, announced the declaration of an initial dividend of 25 cents a share on the new $25 par value common stock of the company and $1 a share on the old $100 par value stock, payable October 1 to stockholders of record the 28th inst.

President Fred Swensen, commenting on the action of the board, stated that it is the intention of directors to maintain an annual dividend rate of 4 per cent to be distributed quarterly on the first of January, April, July and October. "It is also the intention of the board to increase the dividend rate in the future as earnings justify," he said.

In May of this year, directors of Pacific National Company voted to increase the capital of the company from $2,000,000 to $4,000,000 and to reduce the par value of the stock from $100 to $25. This was done and rights were offered to stockholders to subscribe for the new stock on a share-for-share basis at $30 a share.

Proceeds from the sale of stock were used to acquire the assets of the Pacific National Building Corporation, the principal real estate subsidiary of the Pacific National group.

It is understood that this company will be merged with the Pacific National Company shortly after the first of the year. At that time the bonded indebtedness held by it on the Pacific National Bank Building and totaling $1,200,000 will be retired.

Pacific National Company is the holding corporation that owns control of the Pacific National Bank of Los Angeles and its affiliated institutions, which, in addition to the above, include, Florence National Bank, Eagle Rock State Bank, Graham National Bank, Monterey Park Commercial and Savings Bank, National Bank of Hermosa Beach and Marine Securities Company. Pacific National Building Corporation owns other banking properties in addition to the Pacific National Bank Building.

Gold Dust and Santo Nino in Mines Merger

Merger of the Gold Dust and Santo Nino mines of the Patagonia district of Santa Cruz county, Ariz., was announced yesterday by officials of both companies. The amalgamation will result in a new nonassessable corporation to be called Santo Nino Mines Corporation and will have a capital stock of 1,000,000 shares of $1 par value. Only a portion of the stock will be issued.

Plans have been approved, it was stated, and holders of Gold Dust stock, numbering more than 1000 Los Angeles investors, will receive one share of the new $1 par for each six shares of Gold Dust, at 60 cents par, now held.

The merger will result in the immediate production for Gold Dust, it was stated. Gross ore shipped from the Santo Nino mines for the past twelve months totaled in value, $120,000, according to the report. The ores of the mine contain principally copper, silver and gold in the order named. It was also said to be the largest producer of molybdenum in the United States last year.

Local Trade for Month Held Fair

August, usually quiet, was this year considered fairly satisfactory by representatives of the Bradstreet office in their weekly summary of local business issued yesterday. Considerable fall merchandise has been sold in the past two weeks and retailers' stocks are in a fairly salable condition due to a series of clearance sales.

Long Beach has been helped financially by the exposition held there for the last thirty days. Radio business is booming and the opening of the radio show Monday has aided the industry here. Southern California is now manufacturing radios and accessories on rather an extensive scale. Crops are in good condition with fruit prices higher.

REESER PRAISES OIL CURB

Mid-Continent Benefits Cited; Barnsdall Chief Criticises Santa Fe Springs Drilling Campaign

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Aside from Santa Fe Springs, the American oil industry is co-operating whole-heartedly and effectively to restrict the unwise production of crude oil beyond current requirements, said E. B. Reeser, president of the Barnsdall Corporation, who arrived in Los Angeles yesterday.

"I can't understand," he added, "how the large California operators could have shown such complete disregard of sound economics as to join in the Santa Fe Springs activity. This field should have and could have been controlled. So long as the producers take this attitude California cannot reach the same degree of stability that the Mid-Continent has obtained."

LOOKS OVER ELWOOD

This is Mr. Reeser's first trip to Southern California since the Barnsdall and the Rio Grande companies jointly brought in the Elwood field, the current sensation in American oil fields. After looking over the records of production on the discovery well and the estimates of potential production, Mr. Reeser hesitated to even hazard a guess on what the Elwood field will mean to Barnsdall. The company, he said, was already in a comfortable position, and now it is sitting on the top.

The oil is the highest gravity in the State, and commands the highest price. Barnsdall's financial benefit, however, will not run particularly high this year, but Mr. Reeser believes that conservative development of the field should at least triple the company's 1928 earnings in the following year. Earnings on the combined A and B stocks should run around $3 a share this year, he said.

Returning to the subject of co-operation in the industry, the Barnsdall chief cited the progress made in Oklahoma. Daily production would have hit 1,000,000 barrels if the producers had not reached an agreement to restrict new drilling. Production, he said, is now running around 700,000 barrels daily, or approximately equal to the demand. The producers have simply agreed to restrain new drilling activities, and to pinch back production wherever it is thought advisable.

Mr. Reeser believes that the industry's greatest necessity is to draw the distinction between light and heavy oil. The public must understand, he explained, that light oil stocks are declining and heavy stocks are increasing. Faced with this situation, it is up to the petroleum industry to conserve its light oil, which is the motive behind the movement for co-operation in the restriction of production and drilling. Such a program can only mean, he predicted, that light oil must pay for the cost of producing and storing heavy oil.

PRICE RISES SEEN

On the trend of prices, he further predicted, the prospects are for advances in the immediate future in both light oil and gasoline. In other words, the consumer of gasoline must pay for the declining supply of light oil and the increasing supply of heavy oil.

In outlining how co-operation has worked in Oklahoma, Mr. Reeser displayed a telegram stating that the Oklahoma courts have set aside an injunction which prevented the State Corporation Department from legally enforcing the co-operative agreement to limit production and new drilling. The Oklahoma program is now established, he said, and will remain in effect so long as the economic situation demands.

Under the Oklahoma plan, production from a forty-acre lease is limited to 1600 barrels a day, and to proportionately smaller amounts for smaller leases. These figures hold, no matter how many different operators are working in the prescribed area.

Without committing himself definitely, Mr. Reeser said that the directors would probably consider the resumption of cash dividends before the end of the year. By the end of the year the company will have paid off $6,000,000 in bank loans.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6. (Exclusive) No change was announced by the New York Federal Reserve Bank from the current rate of 5 per cent.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 6. (Exclusive)—The cotton market made another rally in today's trading from the moderate advance of yesterday. It was again mostly due to scattered covering of shorts on the mixed weather conditions still prevailing in the cotton belt and the increasing uncertainty among the trading element as to whether Saturday's government crop estimate will make as favorable a showing as recently expected. Many are now commencing to doubt it will show much if any increase over the figures of 14,391,000 bales, made August 9 on the August 1 condition.

In this morning's advance prices were carried up to 13 and 15 points from yesterday's closing, with October selling at 19.15, December 18.93 and January, March and May between 18.65 and 18.91.

Some fresh profit taking and southern hedge selling then appeared in sufficient volume to give the market a sharp setback of 10 to 15 points from these quotations, but enough new buying developed on this reaction to rally the market again in the later trading.

The Liverpool market held steadily in the early trading there but gave way later under the pressure of scattered liquidation and continental selling, closing barely steady at a new decline of 4 to 6 English points on the day, which just equaled our closing reaction of late yesterday from the forenoon's best prices.

BANK SCANS TRADE SKIES IN DISTRICT

First National Reports Generally Better Tone in August Summary

Business conditions in the Pacific Southwest territory improved during August, with harvesting and marketing of crops at the peak of activity, a broader general trade and industrial operations at satisfactory levels, according to the monthly summary issued yesterday by the research department of the Los Angeles-First National Trust and Savings Bank.

Bank clearings and check transactions were well ahead of last August. Stock exchange sales gained sharply over the previous month. Retail and wholesale trading exhibited an upward trend in the metropolitan area and sales of new automobiles consistently improved with the July total for Southern California the largest since the spring of 1927.

Value of new building permits was considerably under last year, but a little better than July. Real estate activity remained moderate. Harbor commerce, especially foreign exports and imports, was materially larger than August, 1927.

Industrial operations and fruit and fish canning are at relatively steady levels. Automobile tire output is near capacity. Refinery operations during July were the highest since last fall. A noteworthy development has been the decided reduced volume of business mortality since the beginning of the half-year.

EMSCO OIL EQUIPMENT SALES GAIN

August Total Reported Highest in History of Derrick Company

August sales of the Emsco Derrick and Equipment Company were the largest in the history of the company, E. M. Smith, president, announced yesterday. Bookings set a new high record and unfilled orders were sufficient for two full months ahead, working three shifts daily, he said.

During the month of August, the company employed a total of 1133 men in the two Southern California plants, operating three eight-hour shifts daily. The pay roll for the month aggregated $194,360.

In commenting on the oil-equipment industry in Southern California, Mr. Smith said that a total of about 3000 men was employed in August in the steel, foundry and contractors' erection activities, all due to the demand for oil equipment.

Mr. Smith will sail from New York the 29th inst. on the S.S. Ile de France, for a six or eight weeks' trip to Europe in connection with development work on the new airplane engine which one of his affiliated companies will manufacture.

Far West Dairy and Egg Houses Join in Merger

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6. (Exclusive)—Approval of financing plans by the State Corporation Commissioner has just disclosed the formation of a $5,000,000 organization to handle dairy and poultry products under the name of the Pacific Commonwealth Corporation.

Acquisition of plants in Los Angeles, Oakland, Petaluma, Portland, Seattle and Idaho cities are virtually certain, according to Walter B. Layton, president of the new company. He said that ultimately the company hopes to become nation-wide in scope. Layton is vice-president of the California Poultry Company.

Capitalization is said to be 250,000 shares of common stock with a par of $20. 7500 shares of which are to be sold to the incorporators. The latter are listed as Layton, Adam Bianchi, president of the California Poultry Company; J. H. Mitchell, F. A. Mottram, secretary of the Southern California Produce Company; Robert Pfost, president of the Meridian Produce Company of Meridian, Idaho; J. C. Flannery and H. E. Button.

Tighter Money Predicted Here

LONDON, Sept. 6. (Exclusive)—Barclay's Bank September review contains comments on American monetary position and points out that reserves in that country needed to finance the crops are being used in speculative directions. The bank predicts stringency in American money market until the new year.

"A stock exchange break would give relief," it says, "but would produce serious repercussions in other directions. If America is to retain and develop her position as an international financial center, it is very desirable that her monetary conditions should be as stable as possible."

NEW TREASURY OFFERING MADE

Certificate Issue Announced by Secretary Mellon

Total of $525,000,000 Due on Sale the 15th Inst.

Rate Reported to be Highest Paid Since 1921

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6. (AP)—An offer of $525,000,000 of Treasury certificates bearing 4½ per cent interest to be dated September 15 and to mature in nine months, was announced today by Secretary Mellon. This is the highest rate of interest of any government issue since 1921.

The funds to be raised by the issue, together with the necessary part of $455,000,000 in income and corporation taxes due on the 15th inst., will be used to retire the third Liberty loan bonds which mature on that date. Only about $970,000,000 of the third Liberty loan bonds are outstanding.

The interest on the new issue is 1 1-8 per cent higher than that of the last issue of government securities. The fifteen-year Treasury notes issued last June had an interest rate of 3 3-8 per cent.

"The final redemption of the third Liberty loan," Secretary Mellon said in announcing the issue, "brings to a close the vast operations begun by the Treasury in 1927, which in the course of eighteen months, have resulted in the refunding or retirement of over $5,000,000,000 of Liberty loan bonds accompanied by important reductions in interest charges.

"Of $5,264,000,000 of second and third Liberty Loan bonds outstanding in February, 1927, all but $20,000,000 of which bore a 4 1-4 per cent rate of interest, about $1,300,000,000 will have been retired from sinking fund and surplus. The balance have been replaced by bonds bearing 3 3-8 per cent interest, by three five-year notes bearing 3½ per cent interest, all with maturity or call dates convenient for sinking fund purposes, and by short-term certificates, including the new issue now offered, all maturing on quarterly tax-payment dates."

Secretary Mellon said that in addition to the $970,000,000 of third Liberty loan bonds maturing the 15th inst., there was also about $70,000,000 in interest payments on the public debt due on that date.

Stock and Bond Loan Volume Up

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6. (AP)—Loans to brokers and dealers held by New York Federal Reserve member banks for the week ending the 5th inst. were announced by the Federal Reserve Board today as $4,286,209,000, an increase of $34,081,000 as compared with the preceding week.

The loans for the week ending September 7, 1927, amounted to $3,206,209,000.

The detailed description of the lows over the three weeks dealt with in the board's report was:

September 5, 1928—August 29, 1928. September 7, 1927.

For own account, $966,779,000, $792,766,000, $1,046,074,000. For account of out-of-town banks, $1,821,723,000, $1,538,163,000, $1,239,235,000.

For account of others, $1,860,707,000, $1,907,216,000, $921,900,000.

LONDON, Sept. 6. (By Wireless) The markets were brighter today, encouraged by the strong showing in today's Bank of England return, and the higher prices for Gramophones in the United States. Publication of Columbia's figures was expected today.

Swedish industrial issues, such as Separator, Skf, and Swedish Matches, were much better. Courtaulds was fairly firm, but Celanese was weak because of the report of a reduction in prices of 6d to 2s a pound. The latter cut applies to the heavier qualities and represents about 25 per cent of the business. Marconis kept steady. The company will appeal against the recent patent royalty reduction.

BOND MART TONE IMPROVES

Sentiment of Dealers Reported as More Cheerful While Waiting Slump in Stock Trading

BY PAUL WILLARD GARRETT

(Copyright, 1928, by New York Evening Post, Inc.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—With the approach of autumn, Wall street bond sentiment is turning more cheerful although a number of developments affecting bonds still to be unfolded, leave the future position of this market a matter on which views differ widely.

Underwriting houses have themselves to thank for their success during the summer in cutting down the volume of descriptions held on shelves waiting distribution. Signs of an approaching glut in the market for bonds on previous occasions have not always been heeded. Instead of rushing to the market in the face of a condition not healthy, the bond houses finished up their business in hand and postponed further new offerings.

For about three months investors anxious to put bonds in their portfolios have been obliged either to pick them up in the open market or take issues on dealer shelves. Gradually the large supply of new offerings on hand in late spring has been reduced, but no canvass of the financial district today would indicate that conditions are entirely ripe for another boom in bonds at old levels.

For weeks the underwriting houses and investors have been playing a waiting game — the distribution houses have been hoping for an autumn demand sufficiently strong to move issues on a low-yield basis, and investors for an opportunity to purchase at levels more satisfactory than was provided in spring.

Experience in the last few weeks indicates a big latent demand for bond investments. Underwriting houses are coming to the view that purchasers now are discriminating more than usual on the matter of prices. It is pointed out that the oversubscription of new bond issues recently was a result directly of better pricing.

Aside from these views of the situation, bond men entertain the view that inactivity in bonds results largely from the wide interest in stocks. They anticipate a general improvement in the position of bonds when stock speculation dies down, and when the public turns its attention once more away from the more volatile section of the security list to that conservative by nature.

Spreckels Hits Kolster Rumors

NEW YORK, Sept. 6. (Exclusive) "Many inaccurate and unauthorized statements have appeared in print from time to time regarding the affairs of Kolster Radio Corporation," said Rudolph Spreckels, chairman of the board of Kolster Radio Corporation, in a statement issued today.

"The management deems it desirable to announce that to deny or affirm conclusions expressed by anyone not authorized to speak for the company would involve a great amount of diligence and labor. Therefore we desire to impress upon the stockholders and the public, that only statements bearing signatures of the president, Ellery W. Stone, or Rudolph Spreckels, chairman of the board, are to be accepted as facts."

SIMMONS SALES UP

NEW YORK, Sept. 6. (Exclusive) Gross sales of the Simmons Company for August totaled $3,984,333 as compared with $3,539,821 for the corresponding month last year, an increase of 10.56 per cent. Sales for the eight months amounted to $23,817,416 against $21,543,323 last year, an increase of 10.56 per cent.

SAN FRANCISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6. (P)—Several good gains and some slight losses were registered in a very active session of the San Francisco Stock Exchange today.

Led by the Oliver issues, which both attained new highs, the industrial list was especially active. Starting from 48⅞, the "A" soared to the new peak at 53¼ and closed at 53, for a gain of 4¾ points. Oliver "B" went as high as 54 and was 5¼ points better at 53½. Byron Jackson Pump also contributed a new high price. Opening at 102½, it climbed to 104½ and then reacted to 103, netting ½. Golden State Milk Products, starting at 44½, went to 47½ and then softened to 46 for a rise of 1 point. The rights sold at a new high price of 3.00, up 50 cents. Caterpillar Tractor sold from 80⅝ to 81½ and closed at 81¼ for a ¼ increase. Kolster Radio opened at 71½, eased to 71 and then soared to 73¾, and closing at 73 for a net decrease of ¾. NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, Sept. 6. (P)—A somewhat troubled credit situation caused traders to stick close to shore in the bond market today and while the volume of sales was larger than in some time it represented chiefly small transactions in a wide variety of issues. Rails were the main support of the market, although some utilities, oils and other industrials were firmer.

Calling of upwards of $30,000,000 in loans by banks and increase of the call money rate to 8 per cent were disturbing factors which made price movements narrow and erratic. Fears of an increase in brokers' loans were realized after the close.

Secondary rails were more in demand than the first grade issues. Chicago & Northwestern general 4s, Chicago, Terre Haute & Southeastern 5s, Mobile & Ohio 4½s, New Orleans & Northern 4½s and Missouri, Kansas & Texas adjustment 5s were lifted 1 to nearly 3 points. Other gains in the railroad group were chiefly fractional.

St. Paul 5s, Great Northern 7s, Frisco 4s "A" and Pennsylvania 6½s were among the issues to seek lower levels.

Oils and utilities led the list in the industrial group, with California Petroleum 5s, Phillips Petroleum 6½s, Pure Oil 5½s, and Simms Petroleum 6s prominent in the advance. Public Service of New Jersey 4½s encountered profit-taking, but Brooklyn Union Gas 5s, Utah Power & Light 5s, International Telephone 4½s and others advanced a point or more. Barnsdall 6s, Dodge Brothers 6s and some other rather favorites closed unchanged.

The foreign list was firm. Mexico 5s assented of '33, Kingdom of Italy 7s and Argentine 6s attracted the greatest demand.

United States government obligations were inclined to heaviness on the eve of an expected announcement of new treasury financing.

The quotations represent sales of bonds (in thousands of dollars) and full, high and closing prices to the order given. To expedite transmission, the close is omitted when the same as the low, and both low and close are the same as high.

WHAT 2 PASSENGERS A DAY MEAN!

Investors have marvelled at the tremendous gain in revenues that the Pickwick Corporation has shown from year to year.

Yet this growth is now comparatively easy to understand since Pickwick has become such a large national system. In fact, an increase of only 2 passengers on each of the 514 daily schedules now operated, would mean a gain of over $1,000,000 per year in net operating revenues.

Buy a block of Pickwick Corporation Preferred or Common Shares which pay regular quarterly dividends. Investigate now!

SECURITY SALESMEN

A LARGE, rapidly growing public utility ownership and management company, with branches in principal American cities, has an opening in the Los Angeles office of its securities department for three aggressive salesmen who are real producers.

This house specializes in public utility securities of the highest type and its rapidly growing activities on the Pacific Coast have resulted in the opening of a number of new executive positions. Three such positions are now open and salesmen will be promoted as soon as they qualify. A liberal salary and commission are paid to managers promoted from the sales force.

This is an outstanding opportunity which should not be overlooked. Apply to us by letter only for an interview with our clients.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

Rio Grande Reacts While Other Oils Hold Steady in Local Market Trading

Rio Grande Oil, ranging 3⅛ points, led the activity of a brisk trading session yesterday on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange. The stock opened at 66 and soared to 69⅛ and closed at 67⅞ for a net drop of 1⅛ points. Other oil stocks held to the higher levels gained in the previous session. Gilmore, dropping off 1⅝ points to 10, was an exception. Giannini shares and stock of the Merchants' National Bank suffered from liquidation.

"A" and "B" stocks of Signal Oil and Gas Company, admitted to trading for the first time yesterday, played a prominent part in the market activity. The "A" stock was transferred to the extent of 2445 shares and after opening at 51 7-8, dropped to a low for the day at 47 5-8 and rallied to close at 48 5-8. The "B" stock opened with an odd lot at 50 and slumped to a low and close at 47.

Richfield Oil sold actively and eased off 3-8 to 50½. The warrants were unchanged at 20½. Standard of California, finishing at 59 3-4, was down 1-8. Union of California and Union Associates were maintained at 51⅛ and 52, respectively. Both issues were in demand. Republic Petroleum held firm to 80 cents.

Bancitaly Corporation dropped off 1⅛ points to 14⅝ and Bank of Italy slumped 3⅛ to 216½. California Bank advanced a point to 127. Los Angeles-First National moved up 3-4 to 119. Merchants' National broke 10 points to 200 and recovered to 205. In the industrial list, Emsco Derrick rallied 5 points to its top price of 175. Southern California Edison, although active, held steady to 50 1-4.

Stock transfers totaled $1,059 shares, valued at $3,295,783. Bond transactions amounted to $5000.

Stronger Tone Rules Trading on Grain Mart

CHICAGO, Sept. 6. (Exclusive)—Prospects for wet weather in the Canadian Northwest, which may delay the movement, were responsible for an increase in interest on the buying side of wheat. While prices were fractionally lower early, there was an advance of 1@1¼c from the low point, and the finish was about the top, with net gains of ⅝@¾c. Corn received fair support and closed ⅛c higher on September and ⅛@⅜c higher on the deferred futures. Oats were unchanged to ⅛c higher and rye was ¼@⅜c lower.

There was a somewhat better class of commission-house buying in wheat, and while the trade was not large, hedging pressure from the Northwest was less in evidence and offerings were not large. The bulge was checked by selling against offers. Winnipeg gained ⅝@¾c for the day, although the greater part of the crop comment was bearish, and some high estimates as to the yield in the prairie provinces were said to be in circulation. It is claimed that 70 per cent of the wheat there is already cut and practically all of the 336 cars received at leading points on Wednesday were new grain. Country offerings were placed at 2,710,000 bushels, against 2,570,000 bushels last year.

Foreign demand for cash wheat was better, with sales of 750,000 bushels to 1,000,000 bushels in all positions, largely Manitobas. Liverpool was easy early, but rallied and closed unchanged to ½d higher, and is due ⅝@½d higher, based on the action of the Chicago market. Cash wheat here was steady to ½c higher, as compared with the September, and offerings to arrive from the country were small.

Strength in cash corn, with No. 2 white going to a premium of 1c over yellow, attracted considerable attention and led to sufficient buying to carry the September delivery up ¼c over the early low. Open interest in the near-by future is 23,000,000 bushels, and has shown a reduction of only 13,000,000 bushels since July 31. Shipping sales here aggregated 139,000 bushels, in addition to the business done by the leading interest.

Commission houses were fair buyers of the deferred deliveries of corn, and there was less pressure on the market, with the advance checked by selling against offers. Weather conditions over the belt were generally favorable and some grain is being cut in Ohio.

Cash interests were on the buying side of September oats and offerings from scattered longs were readily absorbed. There was also buying of September against sales of December.

Scattered liquidation was on in September rye and there was also pressure from houses with Duluth connections. No export business was reported at the seaboard.

The lard market has taken on an improved tone of late. September has been well liquidated and new buying is coming into the market, in addition to purchases by professionals. Packers and profittakers are the main sellers and there has been no pressure on the market for several days.

At the close, lard futures were 5@10c higher, with December and January leading, while short ribs were unchanged and bellies 10c higher.

LOS ANGELES CURB

Tidewater Associated and Byron Jackson Pump again featured a strong and active trading session yesterday on the Los Angeles Curb Exchange. The oil stock, on a transfer of more than 3600 shares, surged forward to another new record price, up 1 1-4 to 24. Byron Jackson jumped 2 1-2 points to another peak price at 105 1-8. This stock earlier in the day sold to a low of 101 1-2. The close was at 103, up 3-8 net.

Barnsdall A continued an active market trader and closed off 1-2 to 32 from its record high price of 32 1-2. Texas Corporation, which in the previous session soared to a new peak at 69, sold off 1 point yesterday to 68. Pan American Western, at 17 1-2, was up 1-2. Rio Grande convertible bonds broke 15 points to a low and close at 225.

Lockheed Aircraft was the object of considerable speculation when, after opening at 67 1-2, it slumped to 62, and fluctuated erratically back to 63, down to 64 and up to 67. The close was at 66 3-4. Gladding McBean recovered 1-2 to 68. Caterpillar Tractor at 80 7-8, was off 1-8. Claude Neon lost 1-2 to 47 1-4. Preferred stock of Diamond Electric advanced to a new high at 90, while the common eased off 1-4 to 31 1-4. Electrical Products preferred sold in odd lots at 99 1-2.

Pacific Indemnity, in the miscellaneous division, advanced 5 points to another new top price at 235. United American was the strong spot of the mining list and advanced 2 cents to a new high at 12, closed 2 cents to a new high at 12, and closed at 10.

Utility securities are among the more favored investment issues

5 Attractive Utilities

The recent abnormal rates for short term (or call) money have depressed the prices of high-grade bonds to a point where yields are higher than they have been for some time.

The utilities are among the outstanding issues for conservative investment. Several merit consideration at this time.

We have prepared a memorandum, "5 Attractive Utilities," pointing out specific issues with prices and yields. Write us for a copy or call at our offices, 5th floor Van Nuys Building.

Illinois Power and Light Corporation

First and Refunding Mortgage Gold Bonds

Series C, 5%, Thirty Years
Due December 1, 1956

Price 96 and Interest Yielding Over 5.25 Per Cent

The Corporation agrees to pay interest without deduction for any normal federal income tax up to 2% and to reimburse the holders of these bonds, upon application within sixty days after payment, for the California personal property tax not exceeding four mills per dollar per annum.

The following information is taken from official sources:

The corporation owns and operates electric power and light, gas, heat and city railway and bus properties in a large number of the most populous and prosperous municipalities in Illinois and controls other utilities of which the most important are Des Moines Electric Light Company and The Kansas Power and Light Company. It also controls an extensive system of trunk line railroads in Illinois with a terminal in St. Louis and a profitable steam railroad which enters East St. Louis. The corporation and its controlled companies render service to over 470 municipalities. The electric power and light properties serve without competition over 259,000 customers.

As officially reported, for the year ended July 31, 1928, gross earnings of the system from operation including earnings of recently acquired properties for the full year, were $34,541,783; net income available for corporation bond interest, $12,931,115, or over 2.28 times the annual interest of $5,651,511 on the $102,713,100 of mortgage bonds of the corporation outstanding, including this issue. Approximately 80% of the net earnings are derived from electric power and light, gas and miscellaneous sources other than transportation. For over twenty-three years the principal companies constituting this system have steadily increased in earning power and have paid dividends on their preferred stocks, without interruption.

The First and Refunding Mortgage Bonds, in opinion of counsel, are secured by direct mortgage or collateral lien on properties appraised at a value substantially in excess of the total mortgage bonds outstanding and are a direct first mortgage or lien free of prior encumbrance on properties, including some of the most important power and light properties of the system, which alone produce net earnings greater than the annual interest requirements on the First and Refunding Mortgage Bonds outstanding.

We recommend these bonds for investment and shall be pleased to send a circular describing the issue in detail.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6. (AP)—Opening prices in irregular dirge in dull session today after early gains had been wiped out by profit operations, while loans remained firm at unchanged rate. Curb market today, as did oils were pushed by pool operations, while rails were heavy and sluggish. Trading and advances in the call loan rate acted a dampener on industrials and utilities to lower levels.

Shares of Pennsylvania led the oils with a rumored dividend increase, part of which was denied after trade had closed. Texas Corp. sold at new high, while Humble, Standard of New York and Standard of Indiana made gains of 1 point or more. Other Standards were steady. The buried stock was strong feature, shooting up 6 points to a new high on a rumored world-wide merger and expectation of better earnings.

Steels were the feature of the industrial list, with U. S. Steel common pushing up 3 points to within a point of the year's high in a turnover of 130,000 shares. Other shares were in good demand, with Bethlehem showing a point to a new high, Crucible 4 points to a new high, Midvale 2 points to a new high, Republic 2 points to within a point of its year's high, and Youngstown Sheet & Tube 1 point to a new high. Allis-Chalmers, Chain Belt, Fairbanks Morse, Ingersoll Rand and Worthington were in demand and higher. Electrical issues were strong, with Westinghouse Electric and General Electric each increasing 3 points to new high ground. Radio issues were in demand and higher, while Du Pont nearly equaled its previous high. Motors were in demand in anticipation of the annual Chrysler dividend meeting, with Chrysler, Hudson and General issues all showing gains of 1 point or more. Reports of record sales and earnings of Eastern Rolling Mills, Pittsburgh Steel and Pittsburgh Plate Glass and that of Pittsburgh Coal at new highs in sales of coal, were features.

Prices were again traded in heavy blocks, opening up 7½ points to 2½ points higher, while Du Pont nearly equaled its previous high. Motors were in demand in anticipation of the annual Chrysler dividend meeting, with Chrysler, Hudson and General issues all showing gains of 1 point or more. Reports of record sales and earnings of Eastern Rolling Mills, Pittsburgh Steel and Pittsburgh Plate Glass and that of Pittsburgh Coal at new highs in sales of coal, were features.

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, Sept. 6, (AP)—Opposing views of investment direction, which arose last spring and again this week, came along every now and again with a good suggestion. Just now, while he looked over my shoulder to see what I was doing, he said, "Why don't you tell 'em to make their investments where they never miss a dividend—and don't forget to mention about that extra 1 per cent dividend souvenir we're giving this week."

Ah, just to show J. D. his suggestions are really worth while, here are the things I shall talk about in this little advertisement of opportunity.

Six years ago the Bay Cities Home Building-Loan Association had assets amounting to only $75,000. That was at the end of the first year after J. D. had founded the association in Santa Monica. Today the assets of this association amount to more than $2,540,000—and it has guarantee capital and surplus amounting to $325,000. This is an increase of more than 3200 per cent. Now the association has approximately 5000 satisfied clients and investors — and they have never missed a single dividend. Dividends have always been paid promptly on the dot, and the safety of the original loan never been questioned.

This covers the first part of J. D.'s suggestion. Now for the second part.

This week marks the seventh anniversary of the founding of the association. As a part of our celebration we have opened Los Angeles offices at 412 West Sixth street—on Pershing Square—the ground floor of the Detwiler Building. The opening of these metropolitan offices became a necessity because of the rapid growth of our business in both the investment field and the loans-for-homes field.

As a souvenir of the opening and of the anniversary the directors decided that interest extraordinary would be most appropriate. Therefore, on all investment certificates issued by the association this week, an extra dividend of 1 per cent will be paid. This really means an extra two months' interest on one of the safest forms of investment possible to devise.

Tomorrow will be the last day on which this souvenir offer holds good. So this is just a word of caution to thrifty persons, not to let this opportunity pass. Hundreds of others have already taken advantage of the liberal terms of investments provided in our certificates—which are made in terms to fit all purses.

Remember the addresses—our Los Angeles office at 412 West Sixth street, and our Santa Monica office on Santa Monica boulevard at Third street. The souvenir will be given at either office on all certificates issued this week. Both offices will be open until 9 o'clock this evening, and until 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

The Opportunity for an Extra Dividend Will Terminate at the End of Our Anniversary Week

Therefore, on all investment certificates issued by the association this week, an extra dividend of 1 per cent will be paid. This really means an extra two months' interest on one of the safest forms of investment possible to devise.

Tomorrow will be the last day on which this souvenir offer holds good. So this is just a word of caution to thrifty persons, not to let this opportunity pass. Hundreds of others have already taken advantage of the liberal terms of investments provided in our certificates—which are made in terms to fit all purses.

Remember the addresses—our Los Angeles office at 412 West Sixth street, and our Santa Monica office on Santa Monica boulevard at Third street. The souvenir will be given at either office on all certificates issued this week. Both offices will be open until 9 o'clock this evening, and until 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

First Mortgage 5% Gold Bonds, Series of 1948

Dated January 1, 1928 — Due January 1, 1948

Principal payable at office of Corporate Trustee. Semi-annual interest payable January 1 and July 1, at office of Corporate Trustee or at option of the holder at The Seaboard National Bank of the City of New York. Coupon bonds in interchangeable denominations of $1000 and $500, registerable as to principal. Redeemable at the option of the Company, in whole or in part, on any interest payment date, upon thirty days' published notice, to and including January 1, 1930, at 105 and accrued interest; thereafter, to and including January 1, 1933, at 103 and accrued interest; thereafter, to and including January 1, 1941, at 102 and accrued interest; thereafter, to and including January 1, 1943, at 101 and accrued interest; and thereafter at 100 and accrued interest. Interest payable without deduction for normal Federal income tax not in excess of two per cent. Refund of Minnesota, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Kansas and California taxes not to exceed four mills, Maryland tax not to exceed four and one-half mills, Kentucky, Virginia, West Virginia and District of Columbia taxes not to exceed five mills, Michigan exemption tax not to exceed five mills, and Massachusetts income tax not to exceed six per cent, to resident holders upon proper and timely application. Bank of North America and Trust Company and John H. Mason, of Philadelphia, Pa., Trustees.

The Issuance of These Bonds has been Authorized by Arizona Corporation Commission.

Business and Territory Served: Arizona Edison Company, incorporated under the laws of the State of Arizona, supplies electric light and power, manufactured gas, ice and/or water service for domestic and industrial purposes to various cities and communities located in the State of Arizona. The territory served by the Company has a population of approximately 70,000. Over sixty-six per cent of the net operating income is from electric properties, nineteen per cent from water properties, and eight per cent from gas properties. The principal communities served by the Company are: Yuma, the county seat of Yuma County; Globe, the county seat of Gila County; Miami; Florence; Bisbee; Douglas; Safford, the county seat of Graham County, and Thatcher. The operating personnel consists largely of those who have been responsible for the growth and successful record of the properties. The Company is controlled by Peoples Light and Power Corporation, which controls and manages a group of public utility properties serving a population estimated to be in excess of 450,000.

Security: This issue of First Mortgage 5% Gold Bonds, Series of 1948, of which $2,700,000 will be outstanding upon completion of this financing, together with the $1,639,700 of bonds of Series A now outstanding, constitute the only funded indebtedness of the Company, rank equally, and are secured, in the opinion of counsel, by a direct first mortgage on all the physical properties of the Company in the State of Arizona. The depreciated value of these physical properties, as appraised by independent engineers, is substantially in excess of the principal amount of First Mortgage Bonds outstanding, including this issue.

Earnings: The earnings of the properties are officially reported as follows:

	Twelve Months Ended July 31, 1927	July 31, 1928
Gross Revenues	$1,545,922	$1,502,148
Operating Expenses, Maintenance and Taxes, other than Federal Income Tax	905,976	873,292
Balance	$ 639,946	$ 628,856
Annual Interest Requirements on Company's Entire Funded Indebtedness (including this issue)	$ 233,382

The increased earnings which will result from capital expenditures, for which a large part of these additional First Mortgage Bonds have been issued, are not reflected in the above figures.

The above information is summarized by E. C. Deal, Esq., President of the Company, in his letter to the bankers. These Bonds are offered when, as and if received by us and subject to the approval of counsel, Messrs. White & Case.

A Monument to Almost Half a Century of Progressive Banking

SEPTEMBER 11th

THE DOORS of our new and enlarged Head Office at the N.E. corner of Seventh and Spring Streets swing open for business and for the inspection of the public. A cordial invitation is extended to you to visit the Bank on the Opening Day, between 10 a. m. and 9 p. m., or on any business day thereafter.

You will be interested in the beautiful and spacious lobby...in the arrangement of the many departments to provide maximum convenience and efficiency . . . in the commodious quarters of the Trust Department, occupying the entire second floor...in the massive Safe Deposit Vault with its Donsteel doors...in the modern mechanical and electrical equipment which makes possible even higher standards of speed and precision of operation.

And as you view the new quarters you will be reminded of this: The Head Office is a monument to almost half a century of progressive banking, and the inspiration to still greater accomplishment. It is a token of intention and ability to serve sincerely and adequately...of a still more complete interpretation of "Banking Service."

and most of these made favorable comparisons with last year. One of the most interesting developments of the day was the revival of activity and strength in the steel shares under the leadership of United States Steel common, which attained a new 1928 peak at 154½ and then fell back to 154½, up 1½ points net. Republic Steel crossed 70 for the first time.

Reports that middle-western capitalists had acquired huge blocks of Texas Corporation and Tidewater-Associated, stimulated activity in these issues, both of which attained the year's best prices. Barnsdall A, California Petroleum and Warner Quinlan also broke into new high ground.

AMUSEMENTS OFF

Amusement shares, which furnished several spectacular advances earlier in the week faded out of the speculative picture, although Paramount-Famous-Lasky and Keith-Albee common topped their previous 1928 highs. Utilities ran into profit-taking in common with most other groups, but a brisk demand was noted for Consolidated Gas (new stock) and Utilities Power and Light, both of which held around the year's high levels.

Federal Mining and Smelting broke 10 points to 135 on one sale. Radio fell 8 points and rallied 2 1-4. Allied Chemical, American Smelting, General Motors, Frank G. Shattuck and Victor Talking Machine all yielded 3 points or more. Airplane stocks were brought forward as leaders toward the close, Curtiss rallying more than 13 points to 149 and then easing to 146 3-4, while Wright closed 2 points higher at 184.

Rails yielded with the industrials, New York Central, Wabash, Delaware and Hudson, Canadian Pacific and Missouri Pacific losing 1 to 3¼ points.

There was no change in time money and commercial-paper rates.

Foreign exchanges moved within extremely narrow and irregular limits, with sterling cables quoted around $4.85 3-16.

Commodity markets displayed a firmer undertone. Wheat advanced a fraction of a cent a bushel, cotton from 50 to 75 cents a bale and coffee from 2 to 20 points. Sugar quotations held steady.

OIL NEWS

BY HOWARD C. KEGLEY

One of the most unique oil-field arrangements that has come to public attention in California has just been completed by the M. K. T. Oil Company and the Southern Pacific Railroad in connection with the former's lease and Perry leases on the south side of the Ventura-avenue field. The M. K. T. outfit drilled Foster No. 1, and got about 3500 barrels of oil, somewhat more than offset operations where other operators believed that there was no oil. The railroad company found itself on a right of way 100 feet wide on the north side of the line, owing to the fact that a derrick alone required a space forty-four feet, a deal was made whereby the two companies could develop the lands to best advantage.

Under a merger plan the M. K. T. will drill in two leases, the railroad company in its right of way and the Associated Oil Company drills the other. If a contract price and buys the oil that may be produced. The Southern Pacific is to pay for the drilling and the M. K. T. and Southern Pacific will divide the oil produced evenly after drilling costs and landowner royalties have been paid.

Under such an arrangement a number of wells can be drilled within a reasonable distance from the railroad, and on both sides of the tracks and the railroad company will be able to produce at least a reasonably large share of the oil under its right of way.

Continuing Development

Under the arrangement that has been entered into by the Southern Pacific and the M. K. T. Oil Company, drilling under contract for both outfits, it is said three wells immediately. Foster No. 2 is building derrick and will be followed by Perry No. 2 and Perry No. 3. To complete its part of the arrangement the M. K. T. outfit has completed its Foster No. 1 and, as stated above, came in some three months ago and found about 3600 feet in Foster No. 3 is to drill one more well, known as Foster No. 4.

Ventura Oil Deal

The Ventura Petroleum Corporation is preparing to make a test in the Ventura-Avenue Unit No. 41 well on the Foster-Lewin lease at Los Angeles. It has been cemented off at a depth of 6620 feet, with casing at 6600 feet.

Thirty-five feet penetrated have been cored and after another fifty feet has been cored a production test will be made.

Ivan Foster

The Ivan company is swabbing in Foster No. 2 well on Signal Hill at a depth of 6543 feet. Field reports indicate that a production test will be made within the next few days.

Ohio Lease

The Associated Oil Company, on the Clubb lease at Santa Fe Springs, is building foundation for No. 21, which is located northeast of the old Clarke No. 4 well, now drilling ahead. The Clarke No. 2 well is being deepened below 4500 feet.

The McDonigle No. 2 well in the Ventura-avenue field has been abandoned by Associated. A new hole will be started near the old hole within a few days.

Nine New Leases for Getty

George F. Getty, Inc., is preparing to invade the town-lot area of Potrero field with nine new leases, covering as many town lots at East Inglewood, the center of one of many heated controversies between the City Council and a number of the oil companies in the past month. The lots leased by Getty are situated near the corners of Regent and Queen, Perry and Eastwood streets. It is reported that individual town-lot leases in that vicinity are bringing upward of $1000 apiece.

Makes Production Test

The Famosa Oil Company in Kern county recently tested its Lerdo No. 1 well, but without satisfactory results, at a depth of 4130 feet. The well is now being drilled ahead for another proposed test from approximately 5000 feet.

Barnsdall Activities

The Barnsdall Oil Company has just recompleted its Rosecrans No. 3 well in the Rosecrans field, having deepened it from 4919 feet to 5139 feet. In doing so the company increased the daily production from eighty-one barrels to 500 barrels and the gravity of the oil increased from 39 deg. to 41.9 deg.

The company has just plugged back from 6230 feet to the old Maxwell zone at 4190 feet its O'Dea No. 9 well, which was started as deep test, but which failed to get a body of oil sand below 6000 feet. The gravity of the oil is 40.9 deg. in the Maxwell zone and the output is 300 barrels a day. Both of the new Barnsdall wells are putting out clean oil.

The Superior Oil Company yesterday was trying to recomplete its Maxwell No. 3 in the Rosecrans field, situated on the east side of Main street and south of the Barnsdall lease.

Abandons Conway Well

The General Petroleum Corporation has abandoned its Conway No. 5 well in the Poso Creek district after drilling 3085 feet and failing to develop production. The company has spudded in its Heisen No. 10 well in Kern county.

In the Santa Fe Springs field General Petroleum has a fishing job in its Santa Fe No. 153-D well at a depth of 1009 feet.

Joins in Scramble

The Signal Oil and Gas Company has joined in the mad scramble for production from the deep zone at Santa Fe Springs by taking a lease on 123 acres in that field from W. H. Houghton. Practically all of this tract is thought to be located within the old producing area. The company has also obtained a two-acre lease from Minnie Glatt. The two deals are reported to have involved approximately $200,000. Signal intends to immediately prepare for drilling on both tracts.

Shell Well Completed

The Shell Company yesterday brought in its Edison No. 23 well in the Ventura-avenue field from a depth of 6850 feet, showing a production of approximately 1000 barrels per day.

LOS ANGELES MARKET

CATTLE—A little better than half of yesterday's estimated supply came from the intermountain section. The stock were most liberal in the run, only a few loads of steers being included. Steer prices held fully steady, while other classes were steady to a shade lower, the in-between grades of cows showing the most weakness.

A car of low good 1068-pound Montana steers scored 13.15, while two cars of Montana 994-pound Californias turned for 13.15. Other steer sales were mostly common kinds from 9.00@11.25, with a few on the cutter order down to 8.00.

Half a load of good 925-pound heifers cashed for 11.00, with odd head higher, while several small lots of California and Utah heifers sold from 10.00@11.00. A load of 1107-pound Montana cows realized 10.00, while three cars of 1009 to 1063-pound averages brought 9.75. Other sales of beef cows mostly common and medium kinds from 9.00@9.75; canners and cutters, 5.50@6.75; low cutters and low quality turned from 3.25@4.00. A few good bulls sold around 8.75, with medium kinds down to 8.00 and common bulls down to 7.00.

CALVES—Offerings consisted of small lots that were cleaned up readily at fully steady prices. A few good and choice vealers turned from 14.00@14.50, with plain trailers and heavy calves from 12.00@14.00 and cull and common kind down to 9.00.

HOGS—Eight loads were offered yesterday, three of which were held over from Wednesday. Demand broadened somewhat and sales made were on an uneven and strong to 25c higher market. The three loads of butchers held over from Wednesday were fully upsold at a late hour. A load of 167-pound Nevadas butchers was weighed on an order at 13.70, while the top spot price, 13.65, was paid for a car of 177-pound Idaho and a car of 190-pound Texas butchers. A car of mixed 186-pound Idahos scored 13.60, while a car of 140-pound Californias made 13.75. Small lots of trucked-in butchers weighing around 200 pounds sold from 13.40@13.60. A sizable lot of Idaho packing sows made 10.00, with a few Californias at 9.75.

SHEEP—None. Medium to choice lambs were quoted from 12.00@14.00, with a drop to choice wooled ewes from 5.00@7.00.

Capt. Ghent on Trial Before Court-martial

VALLEJO, Sept. 6. (Exclusive)—Charged with neglect of duty in that he allowed smuggling on the navy transport Chaumont while he was in command of the vessel last March, Capt. Daniel T. Ghent went to trial today before a court-martial. The charges grew out of the finding aboard the Chaumont last March on its arrival from the orient of quantities of oriental merchandise considerably in excess of the $100 maximum allowed by the customs. Oriental rugs and liquor were found among the baggage of returning officers and men of the navy.

Capt. W. P. Scott is presiding at the court-martial with Capt. Evans Ames as judge advocate. Capt. P. J. Willett of the navy supply corps is defending Ghent.

Ames today called to the witness stand half a dozen customs guards from San Francisco, who seized suspected baggage.

YES, 'TWAS HOT! NONE HOTTER

Year's Warmest Day Arrives as Mojave Desert Wind Sweeps to Sea

The hottest day of the year in Los Angeles came yesterday and the United States Weather Bureau thermometer registered 95 deg., from 1:30 to 1:45 p.m. The mark is 2 deg. above that of May 3 when the next hottest day occured. The peak temperature yesterday was 5 deg., hotter than the previous day.

The bureau could see little prospect last night for much change in temperature today. Yesterday's peak is 14 deg. above the normal September maximum temperature, which is 81 deg. The month, however, usually is marked by a short period of high temperatures. It apparently comes about because at this time of the year the air over the Mojave desert wastes decides to take a vacation and hastens toward the seashore deluging the city with its scorching warmth on its way to the beaches.

SUPPORT OF CITY URGED FOR GARDEN

Importance of Mandeville Canyon Project to State Told by Dr. Merrill

The California Botanic Garden at Mandeville Canyon will serve agriculture in the State in a broader way than any botanic institution in the country through work now being conducted, according to Dr. E. D. Merrill, director-general, who yesterday gave a brief resume of its activities. Pointing to the recently announced extension work of the Arnold Arboritum at Harvard University, Dr. Merrill said with the $1,000,000 endowment being raised by the eastern institution, the department of plant pathology and plant genetics is being established for the purpose of conducting research and studies which will be available to all interested parties.

"Our garden here will serve agriculture and horticulture and benefit the economic structure of the State more broadly than any other institution," said Dr. Merrill yesterday.

"This work merits the utmost support the State can give the garden. Eastern States are giving their botanic gardens aid through subsidies or by intense public participation in their affairs, but the California Botanic Garden being independent of State or other civic aid from the financial standpoint, needs every bit of individual support it can obtain in order that the plans of its creators may be fulfilled."

DEFENSE LEAGUE TO MEET

The Los Angeles Home Defense League will hold a meeting at 650 North Hoover street this evening at 8 o'clock in opposition to the installation of more storm drain laterals in certain assessment districts.

IMPROVEMENT SPEEDED

The final ordinance for the improvement of One Hundred and Fourth street from Figueroa street to Vermont avenue was adopted by the City Council yesterday. The next step will be the awarding of the contract for the work.

EXTRA WINS SCREEN ROLE BY TWO FEET

Peggy Howard

If Peggy Howard, 21 years of age, had been standing two more feet to the right or the left or in back of some other girl she still would be numbered among Hollywood's 15,000 extra girls.

But she was standing just in the right place the other day when a still cameraman was taking pictures on one of the sets at Universal City. Yesterday Miss Howard was swept out of obscurity when she was given a contract by Carl Laemmle, president of Universal Pictures.

One of the executives at the studio noticed Miss Howard in a picture with a group of other girls who were working in a comedy. He called Laemmle's attention to it and Miss Howard was given a screen test. It was successful.

Miss Howard is a native of Paola, Kan., and resides here at 817 South Hobart Boulevard. She crashed the extra line two months ago.

Masons to Hold Outdoor Fete

All members of Masonic lodges in Southern California and their families have been invited by Al Malaikah Shrine Temple to an entertainment in Hollywood Bowl next Wednesday night.

The outdoor gathering will take the place of the regular entertainment programs given in Shrine Auditorium, which at present is being devoted to other purposes. More than 20,000 persons are expected to attend. Among music features are playing by the eighty-piece Shrine band, a harp ensemble of fifteen instruments and singing by Joseph Diskay, Hungarian tenor, and by a nationally famous soprano yet to be announced.

CLUB MEETS TO RESUME

Customary Friday-noon meetings of the Arnama Club will resume, beginning today, at the Alexandria Hotel. The meetings were abandoned during the vacation season, but will reopen with a new series of entertainments and stunts.

WILBUR VISIONS HOOVER VICTOR

Secretary Says Republican Ticket Will Win

Asserts That Wet and Dry Question Not Issue

Navy Head and Wife Leave for Washington

The firm opinion that Herbert Hoover will be elected President of the United States and the declaration that the wet-and-dry question is not an issue in this campaign were expressed by Secretary of the Navy Wilbur yesterday as he and Mrs. Wilbur left Los Angeles for Washington. On his return to the national capital, the Secretary will join with other Cabinet members in touring doubtful States on behalf of Hoover, he said.

"The situation as I found it on the West Coast," the Secretary said, "undoubtedly is in favor of Hoover, and he undoubtedly will receive the electoral votes of the Pacific Coast States.

HOOVER TO WIN

"I believe that Hoover will be elected. I base that expectation upon the fact that the Republican voters are in a majority in States having a majority of the electoral votes. I do not believe that a sufficient number of Republican voters can be induced to repudiate the principles of the party or the splendid accomplishments of the present administration to change the normal Republican vote. Moreover, a great many Democrats believe in the protective tariff and realize that the present prosperity of the country and its high wage scale are the legitimate result of the beneficent working out of that principle. The Republicans have based their policy on that principle in the future as in the past.

"I believe in the success of the Republican ticket because I feel that the American people North and South, East and West, Republican and Democratic, believe in the Constitution of the United States; it is the cement that holds 100,000,000 people together in civic unity. It has been tried in the fires of the Revolution and the Civil War. Any attempt to override its principles will be repudiated by the people at the polls, by legislative and executive officers and repudiated and invalidated by the courts. The Constitution fixes the method of its amendment and change.

NO PARTY ISSUE

"The wet and dry forces are not divided on party lines. The issue between the parties is not drawn along that line, nor could it be. Both parties formally declared against that subject as an issue.

"This is a government of law and when an issue is drawn between its private citizens or its counties, cities, States or parties, the first question is where that issue may be legally decided; what court, tribunal or body has jurisdiction to render a decision.

"If the Constitution is to be amended by modification or repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, it must be done according to the terms of the Constitution and in the manner therein provided. If the wets and the drys are to join issue along the lines of orderly and constitutional government, that issue must be presented first in the several Congressional districts of the nation.

"In these districts wet or dry Congressmen must be elected. If in two-thirds of the districts of the United States, the voters express a desire for a change the real battle must be on the floor of the House, where that result must be recorded.

BATTLE IN SENATE

"The next battle, indicated at the same time, must be in the Senatorial elections, where the people register their choice by States. After the issue at the polls has been determined the newly elected Senators and the hold-over Senators may present the issue on the floor of the Senate; if two-thirds of the Senators join with two-thirds of the House an amendment to the Constitution may be submitted to the States.

"Here, again in State legislatures the issue must be fought out, and when three-fourths of the State legislatures ratify a change it will become the law of the land. This is the Constitution and only by adherence to it can we maintain constitutional government.

"But neither party controls, or is likely to control two-thirds of the House and two-thirds of the Senate and three-fourths of the State legislatures. It required the combined forces of the Democrats and of Republicans to enact the Eighteenth

SAN GABRIEL BIDS ORDERED

Supervisors Adopt Plans for Flood Dam

Four Years of Controversy Brought to Close

Contract Will be Let Late This Autumn

The Board of Supervisors yesterday adopted plans and specifications for the great San Gabriel flood-control dam, which when completed will be the largest in the world, thus bringing to a conclusion four years of controversy.

Advertising for bids was ordered, and November 14 was set as the day for opening them. The contract will be let as soon after that as possible. Six years later, it is expected, the great dam will have been completed and an artificial lake with a capacity of 240,000 acre-feet will have been added to the resources of Los Angeles county.

The huge wall of cement will stand 425 feet high, measured from the bottom of the San Gabriel Canyon. Thirty-five feet more of it will be buried beneath the stream bed level. Its cost is estimated at $25,000,000, bonds for which sum were voted by the electors four years ago last May.

ORIGINAL PROJECT CARRIES

The proceedings leading up to adoption of plans have been fraught with contention and litigation. In the main, however, the project will be carried through as originally planned in 1924 by John Reagan, then chief flood-control engineer. The site will be that selected by him, and the size of the dam and reservoir will be approximately the dimensions he outlined.

Soon after the voting of bonds a question was raised as to the advisability of erecting a dam at the fork of the canyon. Many persons supported a proposal to relocate it at Granite Dike, some distance downstream from the site Reagan had selected. Finally the supervisors decided to stand by the fork site.

The city of Pasadena conducted a long vendetta against certain features of the project. It claims water rights in the valley, and proposes some day to erect a dam of its own below the flood-control reservoir. To build the big dam requires construction of a supply railroad up the valley. The railroad will traverse territory Pasadena expected to submerge.

Both the city and county were applying to the Federal government for right of way in the forest domain.

COMPROMISE REACHED

Their contending claims were argued before a special Federal commission here for weeks, and later in Washington. Finally a compromise was reached, whereby the county undertook to store water for Pasadena, if that city's claims to a water supply are confirmed by the State, and the flood-control district got its railroad right of way.

Then controversy arose as to the need of so high a dam as Reagan had planned. At one time the supervisors adopted a substitute plan, calling for a 385-foot structure and took bids for it. But meantime residents of the San Gabriel Valley, desiring the high dam, enjoined execution of the low-dam plan. This suit was argued in the Superior Court for weeks, and the high-dam proponents won.

As long ago as last December, Chief Engineer Eaton submitted his plans and specifications for new bids, the low-dam bids having been dropped. Since then detail of the specifications has engaged the attention of Eaton and the consulting board of three engineers. The plans

SPIRITISTS BODY PLANS ON BUILDING

State Association Adopts Program to Erect $100,000 Temple in Los Angeles

Spiritualists of California will build in Los Angeles within the next year, an auditorium and State headquarters building to cost approximately $100,000, according to plans adopted yesterday by 300 official delegates to the convention of the California State Spiritualists' Association at Turnverein Germania Hall.

"The location for the building has not been decided, but it will contain concentration and healing rooms for officers and ministers," said Vincent Wilson, missionary for the State association.

Reports by officers of the association yesterday showed that a large part of the indebtedness on the present headquarters has been liquidated within the last year and that seventeen of the fifty churches in the State own property valued at $500,000.

Last night's meeting was in charge of Revs. May Taylor and Minnie Sayers, and the speaker was Dr. Lee Howard, who discussed "The Spiritualistic Faith."

"Leaders of other faiths are looking to Spiritualism with sympathetic expectation," Dr. Howard declared. "A scientific age demands a scientific religion. It is through psychic research that we will be able to understand problem which other faiths can not grasp at the present time."

A memorial service for Virgil Vlasek, for many years superintendent of the Spiritualists' Lyceums of California, marked the afternoon session.

FATAL DOSE QUAFFED ON HIGH PERCH

Victim of Poison Taken Off Twelfth-Story Ledge Only to Die in Hospital

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Sept. 6. (Exclusive)—After climbing to the twelfth floor of the Villa Riviera, an apartment-house under construction, Lee P. Bell, 68 years of age, drank a quantity of poison here today and collapsed on a window ledge. Police rescued him from his perilous position. He died at Seaside Hospital a few hours later from the effects of the poison.

Police records show that two months ago he wrote a letter to the manager of the Cleveland Undertaking Company here asserting that he was despondent because of business failures and contemplated suicide. The letter also contained instructions for his funeral.

Two nights later police found him asleep on a bench on the Pike in the amusement zone. He denied his identity, according to the police, but later admitted he was Bell. The officers also say they found a gun.

In the original letter Bell gave orders for a modest funeral that his widow may have the benefit of what estate remains. He lived at 603 Pacific avenue.

FIVE INJURED IN CRASHES

Hurts Suffered in Auto Collisions May Prove Fatal in Case of Man and Woman

One man and one woman received injuries which may cost their lives and two other women and a man are seriously injured as the result of separate traffic accidents yesterday. The three women were injured in a collision of automobiles caused when one car, speeding to make connections with an eastbound train, crashed into another.

Mrs. Kate Guadefinger, 77 years of age, received a concussion of the brain and severe lacerations. Miss Bessie G. Moore who, with Mrs. Guadefinger, were being rushed to the train to return to their homes in St. Louis, and Mrs. James De Bonnis, 807 South Alma street, were treated for lacerations and abrasions.

Mrs. Guadefinger and Miss Moore were being taken to the train by Mrs. K. G. Robbins, 1711 Park avenue, with whom they have been visiting, when their automobile collided with the car driven by De Bonnis at Second and Rose streets, police reports said. Mrs. Robbins's car was being driven by Robert Gray, 1807 Artesana street, and was traveling at a high rate of speed, police said.

Neither of the men was hurt.

L. D. McLouth, research engineer for an oil company, may die, physicians say, from injuries received in a crash at Keniston street and Slauson avenue. M. L. Heider, oil chemist, sustained serious fractures and abrasions in the same crash. McLouth is suffering from a basal skull fracture.

AUTO OVERTURNED

The two men were driving in a company car, with Heider at the wheel, when they collided with a car driven by George Ratzer of 6126 Eileen street. Ratzer's car was overturned, but neither he nor his sister, Mary, who was with him, was seriously injured.

McLouth, who is 26 years of age and lives at 2511 Via La Selba, Long Beach, was rushed to the Emergency Hospital by the Seventy-seventh-street station ambulance. Police Surgeon Immerman pronounced his condition as extremely grave. Heider resides at 1140 East First street, Long Beach.

MOTHER SEES LITTLE SON KILLED AFTER WARNING

Mrs. Abby Portner, 631 South Ford avenue, Belvedere, stood on the front porch of her home yesterday and cautioned her 6-year-old son, Virgil, to watch out for automobiles as he started across the street on an errand.

And then the horn of an approaching automobile honked a warning. The child turned, became frightened and confused and stepped directly in the path of the car, while his mother stood helplessly by. A moment later he died.

L. J. Rexroit of 206 East Eighty-first street, driver of the automobile, was freed of blame for the accident by Deputy Sheriffs Croushorn and Brewster, who made the investigation. The accident was unavoidable, they said.

An inquest will be conducted at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon at the J. A. Coleman undertaking parlor, 4440 Whittier Boulevard, to legally fix the cause of death.

STREET CHANGE ASKED

The Chamber of Commerce of North Hollywood has filed a petition with the City Council signed by property owners asking that the name of Lankershim Boulevard from Cahuenga Boulevard to San Fernando Road be changed to North Hollywood Boulevard.

MAYOR SCORES TAX RATE

Council Could Have Made Reduction Urged, He Says; Avers Boosted Figure Gives Surplus

Declaring his disposition not at all "ruffled" by the City Council's charge his tax-reduction plant was a case of "playing politics," Mayor Cryer, in a statement issued yesterday, declared the Council could have reduced this year's tax levy at least 11 cents on each $100 property valuation. The Council over-rode the Mayor's veto of the $1.70 tax-levy ordinance.

In his statement the Mayor said that the Council could have sustained his veto, thus causing the tax rate to be made by the Controller, instead of by ordinance, and the Controller's rate, the Mayor said, "must have been at least as low as $1.68 on each $100 property valuation."

MAYOR'S STATEMENT

The Mayor in his statement striking back at the City Council said:

"The tax rate of $1.79 fixed by the Council will produce $33,361,071, or over $2,193,000 in excess of budget requirements. A rate of $1.68, (last year's rate) would produce $142,149 more than the budget requires.

"I was enabled to propose a cut to $1.66 because the Harbor Commission had undertaken to pay a portion of the charges which were included to make up the total budget requirement of $31,168,800.

"I greatly regret the irritation expressed by some officials over the matter. I had supposed that all officers of the city, as well as the people generally, would welcome an opportunity to have the tax burden upon the people reduced by over $2,400,000 without the necessity of curtailing any municipal activity in the slightest degree.

SHOWS THE WAY

"The charge of 'playing politics' has been hurled at me so often, especially when in the execution of my plain duty as I see it I attempt to accomplish something worth while, that it has long since lost its power to ruffle my disposition.

"Had the Council seen fit to sustain my veto, the Controller would have been required to fix the tax rate in accordance with the budget, and in that event the rate must have been at least as low as $1.68.

"The charter contemplates that the Controller shall have power to fix the tax rate only in the event that an ordinance is not enacted prior to the first of September, so that the exact situation contemplated by the charter as enabling the Controller to act would have existed if the Council had sustained my veto."

Playground Bond Issue Approved

The Playground and Recreation Commission yesterday gave approval to a plan by residents in the Vineyard playground district at Thirtieth and Vineyard streets to circulate a petition for a district bond issue to obtain more space for tennis courts and recreation space for adults.

A suggestion by J. G. Adams that lots across the 2street from the playground be purchased at a cost of $42,000 was disapproved by Supt. Hjelte.

A communication from Harry E. Parker urging installation of bowling greens at Griffith Park was referred to the park department. It was held the greens would cost $7500 a year and there is insufficient interest to warrant the expense.

BANKER FINDS LOS ANGELES INTERESTS EVEN BELGIAN CONGO

A bird's-eye sketch of Los Angeles clipped from the 1926 Midwinter Times and posted in a jungle inn in the Belgian Congo was only one of innumerable instances of knowledge of and intense interest in Southern California found in all parts of the globe by Tracy Q. Hall, vice-president and treasurer of the Security Trust and Savings Bank, who, with his wife, returned yesterday from an eight-months' trip around the world.

TRACY Q. HALL

"Whether we were in Asia, Africa or Europe, we found people knew more about Los Angeles and Hollywood than any other part of the United States and wanting to know more. We were kept busy answering questions everywhere we went about our home section. And when we told them we lived in Hollywood there was a perfect deluge of questions," Hall said last evening.

"We found Hollywood motion pictures whether we were in Calcutta, Constantinople or Cork, although we noted that in the Mohammedan countries they had deleted most of the love scenes of the Hollywood sheiks," the banker declared. The trend of fashion, as depicted by the motion-picture stars, has left its influence all over the world, especially in the British colonies, says Mr. Hall. "A visit to the Union of South Africa would reveal some styles startling even to the screen flappers."

For nearly forty years, Mr. Hall has been a Los Angeles banker, and he declared on returning to his home, 2209 Canyon Drive, Hollywood, after visiting many of the great cities of the world, that his home town looked good to him. He believes, however, that in the way of civic beautification we have yet much to learn.

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

IF THE State Bar Association has its way, divorce suits will be held in secret.

There doesn't seem to be a terrible lot of importance to this one way or the other.

But if the Bar Association does accomplish it, a large section of the public will be hard put to find summer reading.

PEPPY DIVORCES

One thing should be said: that the average divorce suit isn't quite as silly in the courtroom as it sounds in the newspapers.

The able reporter, panting for drama, very frequently seizes upon some feature—like a woman suing her husband for biting the ear of her pet dog—when that was not the actual legal basis of the suit.

OUR DEFENDERS

Gen. Story invited me to a review of the One Hundred and Sixtieth Infantry Regiment the other night; and what I saw was a revelation.

The National Guard officer of these days lives the life of a college student studying for his final examinations. It is a never-ending grind—both of theory and practice.

MILITARY PROGRESS

One feature that astonished me was the make-up of a modern regiment of infantry, with its howitzer company, its company of machine-gunners for each battalion, its headquarters companies, its supply companies, its medical unit.

Even the squad has become a little army of itself with its own artillery, two automatic riflemen and a grenade thrower for each squad.

Either somebody is brilliantly right or tragically wrong; there can be no middle ground. It would seem like gambling on the character of the next war. If it is like the last one, this effort at gaining fire superiority will be O.K. If it is a war of rapid movement, every infantry regiment will be fatally crippled in its mobility.

TRAIN ROBBERS

The two train robbers who held up a Santa Fe train must have a passion for excitement.

The net result of risking their lives in this desperate crime, was $60 taken from an actor.

This was hardly a fair day's wages—split between the two.

CROOKS

The modern criminal indulges in crime that would have taken away the breath of Jesse James. They take the most incredible chances and get away with them. Movie "escapes" that were discarded as unbelievable a few years ago have become daily commonplaces.

The reason that they accomplish these deeds of evil daring is that the young gunman of today is as ruthless as a tiger. He will kill at the slightest excuse—or with no excuse.

But when he comes to court, he sneers at a system of punishment that creaks with inefficiency, maudlin sympathy and fatal delays.

FOREST FIRES

The season of forest fires is on—full blast.

Every year the chances are that they will become more dangerous and more violent.

There seems to be no very plain

Kelley Defense Gets Serious Setback as Judge Debars Evidence

ARGUMENT WON BY PROSECUTION

Testimony on Mrs. Mellus's Falls Ruled Out

Theory of Accidental Death in Faint Collapses

Plea for Exhumation of Body Meets With Denial

Defense of Leo P. Kelley, charged with the murder of Mrs. Myrtle Mellus, virtually collapsed yesterday in the face of rulings on the admissibility of evidence by Superior Judge Bowron.

The ruling stopped the defense attorneys from producing further evidence tending to show that Mrs. Mellus was subject to fainting spells for years prior to her death and during such spells fell and injured herself, testimony that Defense Attorney Hahn declared was the main bulwark of his case.

The judge ruled on the evidence after an argument that took up almost the entire court day, and Attorney Hahn then declared that he would be forced to ask for a recess until this morning to give him time to reorganize his forces. The motion was granted and court adjourned at 4 p.m.

ALL-DAY CONFLICT

The fight on the evidence began early yesterday morning. The defense called Mrs. Grace Brown, colored, 1374 East Forty-sixth street, to the stand and identified her as a maid who had been employed in the Mellus home during 1926 and 1927.

"What do you expect to prove by this witness?" demanded Dep. Dist.-Atty. Costello, in charge of the prosecution.

"We expect to prove," declared Attorney Hahn, "that, while Mrs. Brown was employed in the Mellus house, Mrs. Mellus frequently had fainting spells, once fell down a flight of stairs and once injured her head in such a fall."

Costello was on his feet at once objecting to such evidence on the ground that it was too remote to have a bearing on the present case. The jury was excused. Defense Counsels Hahn and Heyfron asserted that the prosecution had produced no direct evidence to show that Mrs. Mellus had died as the result of a blow delivered against her and that it was within their right to produce evidence showing that it might be reasonable to believe that her physical condition, due to drinking and other causes over a long period of time, was such that she might have fallen and sustained the injuries that caused her death.

RULING REVERSED

Judge Bowron at first declared that he would admit certain testimony from Mrs. Brown if it was not of a "scandalous" nature, but later granted Costello until 2 p.m. to produce more authorities on the law of such evidence, and then reversed his first ruling.

Costello then asked to have the testimony of Mrs. Mae Switzer, intimate friend of Mrs. Mellus, who testified Wednesday that she had often seen Mrs. Mellus fall during May of this year, stricken from the record, but Judge Bowron decided to let it stand.

In making his ruling on the evidence, the court declared that Mrs. Mellus died under such facts and circumstances as to indicate that a distinct force had been applied to the body and that the principal cause of death was some blow on the back of the head. In addition, he said, the defendant had stated that on the day Mrs. Mellus had died she had not fallen as far as he knew and that he had admitted striking and beating her. Under such facts, Judge Bowron declared, he believed the defense evidence too remote, unless it could be established that she fell on the day of the murder. Evidence of drinking or falls on the part of Mrs. Mellus would present merely a suspicion or speculation, the judge further declared.

EXHUMATION REFUSED

Attorney Hahn then asked permission to have the body of Mrs. Mellus exhumed for examination by defense physicians and the request was denied. The defense counsel then asked if he would be allowed to introduce letters written by Kelly and Mrs. Mellus to show the state of mind and lack of motive and Judge Bowron also denied this. He said the letters might be introduced but that the contents could not.

The defense then asked if they could take testimony from five or six witnesses who would testify as to the general character of Kelley as to industry. Costello declared that the prosecution had not attacked Kelley's reputation as to industry and the objection was sustained.

Argument again broke out on witnesses who the defense stated were in a position to have observed Mrs. Mellus fall. It developed that Hahn had several more of these to call, but it was also indicated that Judge Bowron would frown on all such testimony.

DEFENSE MAY END TODAY

After court Attorney Hahn declared that about the only witnesses he had left would be Frank R. Mellus, husband of the slain woman, and Kelley, who will take the stand in his own defense. The defense counsel declared, therefore, that he might be through with the defense today.

Only three defense witnesses were on the stand yesterday before the argument broke out. Arthur M. Maas, chemist, testified that he had made an analysis of liquor found in the Mellus house and that the whisky was 44.5 per cent alcohol and the beer 6.6 per cent alcohol. He said he found no poison in the liquor.

J. M. Roberts, defense fingerprint expert, was called, but objections to questions asked him precluded virtually all of his testimony. Mrs. Mae Switzer was recalled to the stand and asked if she ever saw Kelley drunk and what his general conduct had been, but she was not allowed to answer by the court.

After having been unemployed for many months, William Espline, 55 years of age, a laborer of Woolwich, Eng., started to work, but within ten minutes fainted and died.

REGISTRATION BOOKS OPENED

Voters Have New Period in Which to Qualify for Fall Election

County Registrar of Voters Kerr announced yesterday that the registration of voters for the November 6 general election now is on and will continue until midnight, October 6. All persons who have not registered this year or who have moved since they registered, this year, are required to register in order to vote at the November general election.

For the convenience of those who are unable to register during the day the branch registration office at Main-street entrance of City Hall is open evenings.

CRISIS NEAR IN FILM INDUSTRY

dio foremen, in such higher-ups on the lots as are inclined to protect their interests and in the bureau operated by Berres, who for twenty years just prior to his employment by the producers' committee was an official in the world's most powerful agency working for unionization of all workers everywhere.

Under this regime some of the local union leaders believe that they have effected so complete union control of studio craftsmen that they are "rarin' to go" on a strike this fall that will force the producers to abandon the so-called 50-50 arrangement and employ only union members and operate only under extended union rules and regulations.

Some of the producers, however, feel secure, they have said, against any strike as long as they can operate under an agreement with the big-five union committee. The big five, they believe, has so complete an authority over local union leaders that local leaders could not get away with a strike of any kind. It is believed that they depend largely on Berres to handle the big five and Berres is receiving for serving them a salary that is reported to exceed several times, or at least one cipher, the salary of the president of the whole A. F. of L.

Fitting in with this, some of the unionists believe that in the long run, they best can effect complete union dominance of the industry by keeping up the Canavan-Currier, Berres-Carothers machine and gaining safe and secure ground by making each agreement a little more prounion. On such an advantage they are basing their main hopes. So they expect much from the new agreement that they will demand when the present one expires this fall.

When the new agreement is made, some of the unionists hope to have it include a provision that will deal with the situation created by sound-producing films replacing union musicians in theaters, many of which, the nation over, are connected directly with picture-production interests. Some of the producers see in the sound films one of the greatest possibilities they have ever had to free their exhibiting houses from domination by the musicians' union, asserted to be the most autocratic and powerful with which they have to deal.

SHOWDOWN DUE

So it is that a union move of tremendous importance to Los Angeles' industrial freedom will come to more or less of a showdown this fall and not only will the city's largest pay-roll industry feel the effect, but the country at large wherever open-shop champions work will gain or lose by what the producers do.

Local open-shop exponents, or national open-shop exponents for that matter, have as yet completed no plans for seeing to it in the deal that the country's general or the community's especial open-shop interests shall not suffer any more than necessary.

[This ends a series of three articles in The Times today, yesterday and the day before dealing with the union-open shop situation in Hollywood. Other articles will appear from time to time as the situation evolves.]

Indians Gather for Big Powwow

Approximately 1000 Indians from more than a score of tribes are assembling in Los Angeles this week at the Ramona Village and Theater grounds at Washington Boulevard and Thurman street in a powwow and fiesta.

According to Robert E. Callahan, director of the village, this will be the first time in California that as many Indians will gather together. These native Americans will appear in ceremonial dances and rituals as is their custom when left to themselves. Chief Yowlache, baritone, as well as other Indian notables will furnish a program. The powwow will start Friday, lasting four days.

JURY LOCKED UP IN MARCO CASE

Fails to Reach Verdict in Prolonged Deliberation

Three Decisions Possible on Shooting Charge

Defendant Formally Denies Guilt on Stand

After deliberating three hours last night, the jury in the case of Albert Marco, so-called Los Angeles vice king, who is charged with two counts of assault with intent to commit murder in connection with a shooting in the Venice Ship Cafe, June 27, last, was unable to reach a decision, and at 10 p.m. was ordered locked up for the night by Superior Court Judge Doran.

There were no indications as to the discussions in the guarded jury room, but court attaches advanced the belief that a disagreement, as in the first trial, will be the final outcome.

Taking of testimony in Marco's second trial was concluded at noon and the afternoon session was taken up with arguments and instructions to the jury of eight men and four women. Judge Doran instructed the jury to bring in one of three possible verdicts: guilty of assault with intent to commit murder, guilty of assault with a deadly weapon or not guilty.

SHOOTING CHARGED

Marco was accused of shooting Dominick Conterno and Harry Judson during a fight which started in the beach resort shortly after Marco's arrival there with a party of friends early in the morning of June 27.

In an effort to clear himself of the charges, the asserted vice lord took the witness stand in his own defense yesterday and denied firing the shots that wounded Conterno and Judson.

According to Marco's version of the affair, the fight which ended in the shooting started in a rest-room of the resort where he met Dwight C. Freeman, a member of Conterno's party. Marco stated Freeman addressed him as a German, whereupon Marco told Freeman he was not a German and brushed him aside. That started the altercation, which, Marco said, resulted in his being attacked by several members of the party of which Freeman and Conterno were members.

Marco's denial that he shot Conterno and Judson followed testimony Wednesday of Joseph Moore, his chauffeur, who testified that he, and not Marco, had done the shooting. Moore stated that after firing the shots from a pistol he took from Marco's car he ran down the beach and buried the weapon in the sand near a life guard station located between Venice and Ocean Park.

Moore, who was taken into custody after his testimony, yesterday accompanied investigators for the District Attorney's office to the spot where he declared he had buried the gun. A brief search of the sand revealed a weapon similar to that Moore claimed he used.

THEORY DOUBTED

The investigators, however, were inclined to scout the defense theory that the weapon had been buried in the damp beach sand since last June. Their doubt was based on the opinion that the gun showed little corrosion or rust to have been buried in the sand for a period of more than two months. The gun is being held by Chief of Detectives Contreras pending the decision of the District Attorney's office as to what action, if any, will be taken against Moore.

Dep. Dist.-Atty. David H. Clarke, who prosecuted Marco, stated he will ask a complaint against Moore on charges of either perjury or assault with intent to commit murder, depending upon the outcome of the case against Marco.

In arguing to the jury, Clarke scorned Moore's story of the shooting and asked the jury to bring in a verdict of guilty against the asserted vice king. Defense Attorney Thomas P. White asked an acquittal on the ground the evidence cleared Marco of any connection with the shooting.

Marco's first trial resulted in a disagreement and dismissal of the jury.

Amendment, and it will require the joint action of both Democrats and Republicans to modify or repeal it. It is not and cannot be a party issue between the Republicans and the Democrats.

PEOPLE ALMOST UNIT

"So far as the Eighteenth Amendment is concerned, if there is an issue in this campaign, it is an issue as to whether or not the Constitution will be maintained, whether it shall be followed in the provisions therein contained for its own amendment. On this issue the American people are almost a unit.

"Any attempt to change the Constitution other than by the methods therein provided will be repudiated alike by both parties.

"I believe that on sober thought both the wets and drys will favor at the polls in November, as the leaders have in press and platform up till this time, the orderly processes of governmental action.

"I believe that in Hoover we have the man of the hour, the man of destiny. I believe that at this juncture in our development his skill, his genius and his experience in administration, in international and national affairs, fit into the problems of our nation, as no other man's will. I believe that four years of Hoover will not only assure the orderly and prosperous development of our own nation, but also that his election will stabilize the affairs of the world and add new luster to our institutions and make for world peace and economic prosperity."

La Mesa Club Attacks Bill Against Rodeo

Defending the rodeo as an indispensable institution in the cattle and live-stock business of California and a distinct asset to the historic and romantic atmosphere of the West, members of the La Mesa Club adopted a resolution at their meeting in the club rooms of the Central Manufacturing District last night urging the defeat of Initiative Measure No. 21 at the November election.

Among those present at the La Mesa Club meeting were T. E. Johnson, and J. A. McNaughton of the Union Stock Yards; Adolpho G. Rivera, county interpreter; Judge Sproul; Judge Russell, James P. O'Neill of Altadena, U. T. and Gabriel Ruiz of Reseda; D. S. Reynolds, Burrell Neighbors, Herman Lichtenberger, State Inheritance Tax Appraiser; Sheriff William I. Traeger, and Undersheriff Eugene Biscailuz.

EVANGELIST DEPARTS ON TRIP ABROAD

Peace Reached in Angelus Temple Over Lake Tahoe Lot Sale Project

The final chapter in Aimee Semple McPherson's latest difficulty apparently was closed yesterday afternoon when details of the settlement of threatened litigation over the sale of a Lake Tahoe subdivision lots were worked out by opposing counsel.

At the same time Dep. Dist.-Atty. McIsaac announced that he is marking time in his investigation of the asserted misrepresentation of the subdivision and that action in the matter will depend upon Dist.-Atty. Keyes, who now is vacationing at Del Monte. Keyes ordered a "hands-off" policy several days ago pending his return. The District Attorney is expected to drop the case, attaches of his office indicated.

SAILING DATE IN DOUBT

Mrs. McPherson, who left Wednesday night, three hours after an agreement to settle suits pending and others planned out of court, is scheduled to sail Saturday from New York on the Ile de France for London. If she cannot make the connection with the boat by train, she may change to airplane at Chicago, Angelus Temple representatives said, or await a later boat.

The evangelist is scheduled to open the first of nine revivals in Royal Albert Hall, London, the 16th inst. Glasgow will be her second stop, while the remainder of the meetings will be held at various points in Ireland and Wales.

RETURN DATE

Mrs. McPherson, before her departure, denied published reports that her tour is for an indefinite time and announced that she will return to her Angelus Temple pulpit Thanksgiving Day.

Each of the six persons who invested in the summer resort enterprise, where the evangelist says she will open a summer religious colony, were returned the amount of their investment, attorneys for both sides announced.

Although the figure at which settlement was made was not revealed, it is believed to be about $15,000, the approximate amount the litigants said they invested.

OLD STUDIO TO REOPEN

Warner Brothers Plan to Operate Brooklyn Vitagraph Lot

For the first time in four years the old Vitagraph studio in Brooklyn will be opened soon for production. This was the word received in Hollywood yesterday from H. M. Warner, president of Warner Brothers, who is in New York.

The fact the Vitagraph studio is to be reopened does not mean the transferring of production activities to the East, executives here said. They say they believe the studio will be operated more for production of short subjects.

Warner Brothers acquired ownership of the property when they purchased the old Vitagraph company. Alterations and improvements now are under way for the installation of sound recording devices.

McALLISTER GETS RICE-WRAY BILLETS

President Bonelli of the City Council yesterday appointed Councilman McAllister of the Sixth Councilmanic District, who defeated L. R. Today's Bible Text

When I said, my foot slippeth; Thy mercy, O Lord, held me up. Psalm lxxxxiv:18.

PASSING THE PLATE

If our churches are to give battle over their collections why not turn this shore over to a clearinghouse commission?

THE WRONG PLACE

Democratic national chairman now claims that Smith will get 309 votes. He probably will, but not in the electoral college.

MOSTLY HEARSAY

After all most human judgments are based upon circumstantial evidence. A man who persists in saying that he would not decide upon circumstantial evidence doesn't know what he is talking about.

WEIGHING THOUGHT

A scientist claims to be able to weigh the human brain without removing it from its throne. Guessing the weight of the human noodle may yet become a popular indoor sport. It would be a fine thing if a man could actually weigh his thoughts before projecting them into space.

THE PART OF WISDOM

At the sessions of the Trade Union Congress in Great Britain it was shown that membership in labor unions in the British Isles had fallen off nearly 250,000 during the year. Many of the members found that they could get better results by co-operating with their employers than by fighting them after the union idea.

WILD WOMEN

A woman writer who is famous as a world traveler and who has been in Borneo, Boston and Bombay, says that she knows that women are now wilder than men—no matter in what clime they may be found. Of course some of them can be tamed by kindness, but this doesn't always work. At times it seems necessary to use chloroform.

SPEAKING OF OPERATIONS

Now that they are giving parties and dances for persons who are just recovered from hospital operations it would be perfectly all right to have a hard-times party for a lady who was greatly reduced. Do they give a bridge party for a matron who has been spending a month with her dentist? Why not have a book shower for the poor girl who has just lost her appendix?

LONG IN HARNESS

At the age of 90 a Milwaukee man is believed to be the oldest person in active railroad service in the world. He is inspector of boilers for the St. Paul road and has been working for this same line for more than seventy-three years. At last accounts he was still doing his trick of six hours a day and going strong. That is a long journey in the wake of an alleged soulless corporation, but is a rich contribution to the story of service. He could have retired with honor and a pension years ago, but it is his joy to continue in harness.

NO MORE GYPSYING

Hungary is trying to make taxpayers out of its gypsies and it is proving quite a task. The Romany folk are no more to be allowed to wander around without any postoffice address or responsibility. They are not to practice fortune-telling, nor are they suffered to loot the hen roosts of the countryside. Hungary without her gypsies will seem like Holland without windmills and wooden shoes. Trying to make staid voters out of them is disturbing the customs of ages. It will take more than a proclamation to establish the change.

THE AMERICAN RACE

Smithsonian scientists are of the opinion that the American of the future will be tall and dark and bald. His shoulders will be broad and his legs weak. If we are to develop an American race it would seem that it is not to be very beautiful, but there is money up that says that the women will save the day. If beauty lies at the bottom of the well they will pull the well up by the roots and hang it on the fence. There is no way of keeping a woman bald except to make baldness fashionable and that is not likely to happen.

POLITICAL "ECONOMY"

Recent messages of Mayor Cryer indicate that he is already throwing his political banners to the breeze for a fourth term as Mayor. An example of this was his action in vetoing the City Council's appropriation of $30,000 toward the All-Year Club's expense this year for advertising Los Angeles in the East. The Mayor expected and duly received for this veto message the lone plaudits of the fault-finding Municipal League, which is noted for its consistent opposition to the Los Angeles-forward movement. The Mayor's inconsistency is shown by the fact that when the Council in amending this year's budget placed in it the All-Year Club appropriation, the Mayor disapproved of some of the Council changes, but remained silent on the All-Year Club item.

At banquets and other functions to welcome distinguished visitors the Mayor always points with pride to the growth of the city and of its yearly increase in population and wealth. And yet he and every other person in Los Angeles knows that the phenomenal growth of Los Angeles owes much to the fact that the people of Los Angeles keep everlastingly at the business of advertising their city, just as the successful business man must continually advertise.

The All-Year Club was organized to centralize this advertising work as relating to placing before the people of the East, through newspapers there and in national magazines, the advantages of Los Angeles, Southern California and the Pacific Coast generally, as an interesting vacation land for people to visit every day in the year.

If the business men and establishments of Los Angeles should adopt the Cryer-Municipal League plan, Los Angeles would drop out of the national picture as a place for Americans to visit and to enjoy. The Mayor's plea for economy is not without its humor, in view of the extravagance which has characterized his administrations and the fancy salaries which are paid his political henchmen.

The city's appropriation of $25,000 last year toward the All-Year Club's advertising campaign was an investment, just as will be the $30,000 approved by the City Council in this year's budget. The record of the business men of Los Angeles and of the All-Year Club show that money spent in advertising Los Angeles returns big dividends to the city in steadily increasing numbers of tourists, many of whom return to make their homes here permanently. It is to be hoped that the Council will stand fast for the continued prosperity of Los Angeles and override the strictly political veto by the Mayor of the All-Year Club appropriation.

The Mayor's veto of the projected 11-cent tax rise had some reason behind it, even though it was merely a gesture for political purposes and futile because too late. There is no such justification for vetoing the comparatively small advertising appropriation, an annual civic investment whose results are proportionately greater than any other outlay the city makes.

THE ROADSIDE MARKET

Evidently many facts and features concerning Southern California have not yet penetrated so far East even as Detroit, in spite of the complaints of some eastern critics that this section has been over-exploited and over-advertised. Mrs. Henry Ford's excellent suggestion of the roadside market is a case in point. Her scheme for establishing stalls along the country highways where motorists may buy their produce direct from the farmers has been hailed in the East as something novel and original and her artistic booth designed for this purpose and exhibited at the North American Flower Show has been the object of much favorable comment.

In our Eastern States the roadside market, as advocated by Mrs. Ford, may be the innovation it appears to be, judging by the reception accorded the notion by those who have just heard of it for the first time. But let Mrs. Ford or anyone else pay a visit to Southern California and they will find the roadside market is an established and highly developed institution here, that it has been a working concern for many years and that for attractiveness and efficiency it compares favorably with any other business establishment.

On any one of our traveled highways leading from Los Angeles these fruit and vegetable stands are a conspicuous feature, at once attractive in appearance and an accommodation to the motoring public. Here the small grower from a booth set up by the roadside on his property line sells his produce direct to the consumer. Some of these little markets are simple home-made affairs hardly out of the primitive truck stage, others are veritable fruit, vegetable, poultry and soft-drink emporiums, combining the advantages of city trading with the pleasant accompaniment of fresh air and open country surroundings.

Stopping at a roadside market to take on a batch of fruit and fresh vegetables some eggs and butter or perhaps a jar of honey or a jug of sweet sparkling cider has long been a regular part of the day's outing with the Southern Californian when on a Sunday jaunt with the family or a more extended holiday trip to seacoast or mountain camp. And what a riot of bright color these home merchants present in this primitive form of doing business at the old stand.

Red-cheeked apples, golden oranges, glossy green watermelons, primrose-colored lemons, great clusters of purple and white grapes, pink and green nectarines and peaches in rows and piles and heaps and tiers—glass jars of amber honey with the sunlight shining through—eggs and butter in cool cabbage leaves—bottles of red grape juice and rich brown cider and all the small fruits and vegetables of the garden—arranged in tempting display on plain white-washed scantling or in simple green-painted, palm-thatched booths—under the branches of a giant eucalyptus or beneath the feathery foliage of a patriarchal pepper tree—our roadside markets have long been a joy to the beholder and a delight to the thrifty housekeeper.

Mrs. Ford or other advanced thinkers of Detroit and eastern cities, desirous of beautifying their country highways with the useful roadside market, can find ample suggestions for doing so by a study of the system already in vogue in Southern California. They have not, it is true, the facilities we possess in a wealth of fruit and garden produce all the year 'round, numbers of growers cultivating intensively small plots of land or the same heavy automobile traffic to furnish purchasers for the tempting offerings.

We have done a great deal in this respect to beautify our country roads and if they are still marred by the abominable billboard and the atrocious advertising "statuary" the roadside market is a redeeming feature for our utilitarianism in permitting these other less desirable highway features. Moreover, in a small way our roadside markets are helping to solve the problem of direct transactions between producer and consumer. How much money is actually taken in by the Southern California orchardist and gardener through sales made to the motoring public by this method has not been computed, but it is safe to say that in the course of a year it amounts to a sum that would astonish some of our Chambers of Commerce.

FELT HATS

Somebody has decreed that straw hats are illegal after the first of September. Two weeks of grace, however, are left the laggards to shuck their overhead and acquire a felt covering when the last bell rings on the 15th.

The teeth of the edict, like those of the Kellogg-Briand pact, do not appear; but sometimes the unwritten laws are more binding than those enforced by the snarling dogs of war. The laws of fashion are inexorable. Some time even prohibition may become a fad, and then the bootlegger's popularity will pass.

From now on straw will be valuable merely to show which way the political wind is blowing and furnish suckers around the bunghole. However, the amount employed leaves the farmer shy of relief.

The women doffed their summer head pots in August. There was no apparent reason for it, save that their season is longer than man's. They begin to execute each other socially for lack of farm produce as early as February. The only apparent cause for rushing the season may be found in the show windows of the milliners. We care not who sings the lullabies of the home; the milliners make us dance.

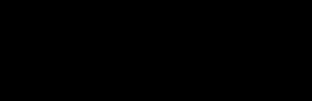
The male is more suspicious and does not shed his felt until the middle of May. Then he does not do his fall harvesting until September. This is about the only sensible thing he is noted for along the lines of dress. And even it shows signs of collapse; for the hottest day in memory was the 16th of September, 1914—the day after the last straw had been called in. The Prince of Wales was censured recently for being comfortable without a vest. However, he must have reformed at once, for no more cablegrams came.

Man raises a hullabaloo over the dress of woman. He snorts and struts—and then peters out into a little puddle under ridicule. He is a bold bad beast—under cover.

But a sneer can spear his hat off quicker than William Tell could shoot the apple from his boy's head.

ALL FOR LOVE

When a woman shoots a man for love it is presumed that she loves him three times as much if she sends three bullets into his pelt as she does if she only favors him with one shot.



DEPENDENCE

By James J. Montague

I know that the way to win power or place
Or culture or learning or pelf
Is never to crave any help in the race,
But to do all the labor yourself.
I know that a man can be wholly self-made,
That alone he can sturdily stand
And never go out and ask others for aid
In the task at his hand.

It is weak to depend on the mind of a clerk—
Although brains of that sort can be bought—
For the facts that one needs in performing his work
Or the strengthening function of thought.
To lean upon others is futile and vain
And though labor is toilsome and slow,
The only wise way is to budget one's brain
For the things he must know.

I know many men whose assistants prepare
The work which they brazenly sign.
The credit they take, with a satisfied air,
Without ever writing a line.
What growth can there be in that sort of a game?
Why don't they go straight to their shelves
And do their own work, knowing well that their fame
Has been won by themselves?

If I could afford a whole army of men
To do all my thinking for me,
So I might play a few rounds of golf now and then
And feel unstricted and free,
Would I stoop to employ them to do every task
That might haply redound to my good,
Would I lean on their brains for assistance? I ask,
Yes, reader, I probably would!

The LEE SIDE O' LA

BY Lee Shippey

THE Southern California Federation of State Societies is an organization which has no counterpart. It keeps forty-seven subsidiary societies operative and interested, brings more than 1,000,000 people together annually, is responsible for from one to four picnics nearly every day in the year and for a meeting or two nearly every week-day night, and has been functioning for twenty years, without the aid of dues or formal obligations from those it serves.

Every State Represented

Every State in the Union—except California—is represented by the federation. And that is not said humorously, for all of them represent California. Iowa heads the list with a constituency of close to 400,000. Illinois follows with 300,000 and Missouri is third with about 250,000. South Carolina and Florida have fewest representatives in Southern California, the federation being in touch with only about 1000 persons from each of these States.

We're All From Somewhere

"Southern California is the only place where such an organization is possible," says C. H. Parsons, secretary of the federation, "because most of us here are from somewhere else. I believe the census estimates now that 93 per cent of us are not native Californians. Most of the foremost people in every community in Southern California came here from somewhere else. You don't have to go farther than our organization to learn how untenable is the eastern idea that only native sons find opportunity in California."

Pennsylvania Started It

Pennsylvanians had the honor of starting this unprecedented and unparalleled movement by organizing a Pennsylvania society Nov. 16, 1882. Col. C. H. Haskins and Col. Sam Brown, who took part in that meeting, still are prominent in the organization. Other States followed suit, until in 1909 Mr. Parsons got the idea of a federation and called a meeting, to which sixteen societies sent representatives.

Oh, Those Picnics

Since then life has been one long picnic for Parsons, and the millions back East who get newspaper and letter reports of the society picnics must imagine life is a picnic for nearly everybody out here. Every State society has from one to four picnics each year, those from Northern States especially delighting in winter picnics, so that they can write the folks back home of picnicking among the roses and enjoying a fine day outdoors. Those picnics have made Sycamore Grove known to more people throughout the country, probably, than is any other park, not excepting Central Park in New York. At every picnic registers are hung on the giant sycamore trees which are selected for "county headquarters." People from Lafayette county, Missouri, look for Lafayette headquarters at a Missouri picnic, for illustration, and eagerly look over the register, after signing it, to see who else "from home" is there. And they're always surprised to find that so many old friends are there. According to those registers, persons from more than 300 different California, Arizona and Nevada towns attended an Iowa picnic at which more than 100,000 were present.

Why, Oh Why?

We attended the latest Missouri picnic, at which about 10,000 were present. William La Plante, who was sitting beside us, was called on for a five-minute talk. "They tell me there are 150,000 Missourians right here in Los Angeles territory," he cried, in anguished tones. "Why, oh why, didn't you bring out the St. Louis Cardinals with you?"

Oratory Like Water

President Lang of the Missouri Society had announced that "Missouri oratory would flow like the noble rivers of the old home State," and certainly it was a reasonable statement. From 10 a.m. till 6 p.m. Missouri speeches, songs and poems, interspersed by professional theatrical entertainment, rang through the park by aid of loud speakers—and then the microphone gave up, perhaps convinced the orators never would! It went dead from overvibration or shattered nerves.

"The Grand Old State"

At every one of the State picnics nearly every orator talks of the "grand old State" as the one perfect paradise. They talk of it so yearningly that one would imagine they must all be extradition dodgers or they couldn't stay out here at all. But that's just outlet, just memories. After the picnic is over everyone present writes the folks back home about it—and generally winds up by urging them to "come on out."

LETTERS TO The Times

A Famous Family

PASADENA, Sept. 2.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The death of Dr. James McBride of Pasadena brings to light that he was one of four brothers, each of whom from a pioneer boyhood in Oregon rose to high public station.

The sole survivor of this remarkable group of men is Thomas A. McBride, the present Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Oregon, now in his eighty-first year. He is regarded as the ablest judge in the history of the Oregon judiciary.

Dr. McBride's eldest brother, the late Judge John R. McBride, was the youngest member of the convention which framed the Constitution of Oregon. When he was 30 years of age he was elected the first Representative in Congress during the Civil War. At the end of his term he was appointed by President Lincoln Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Idaho.

George W. McBride, the youngest brother of Dr. McBride, was the Speaker of the Oregon House of Representatives for two sessions, and Secretary of State for eight years. In 1895 within a few minutes of the termination of the legislative session, which, after forty days could not agree upon a successor to Senator Dolph, Senator McBride was chosen, only fifteen minutes after his name was presented. He died in 1911.

The father of these four distinguished sons was Dr. James McBride, a physician and clergyman, who crossed the plains to Oregon in 1846. He was regarded as the intellectual leader in the pioneer settlements of the Willamette Valley. President Lincoln rewarded him for his part in preserving the Oregon country to the Union cause by appointing him United States Minister to the kingdom of Hawaii. W. S. M.

If It Were Yours?

ARCADIA, Sept. 4.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Relative to the meeting that was held in a downtown hall, sponsored by the League to Abolish Capital Punishment, may I ask: What of the cold-blooded murders, a child, father or mother, shot down by thugs, whose motto is shoot to kill, and fight the law afterward. Are these the men, that you want pardoned after a stay in prison, sent there to fatten up at the county expense?

We can learn much from Mexico, not forgetting Canada, where swift justice sweeps law technicalities aside, where the gun or rope is always ready for the next one.

ARTHUR B. BONNER.

Wrong Type

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 4.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The communication over the signature of E. Kennedy in your columns of this date is unfair, petty and savoring of rancor. One of the first things to occupy my attention after arrival in California was to discover for myself a clean, unprejudiced and fair daily.

I have found The Times fills those requirements. So long as it does I will be a subscriber.

I lived in New York State too many years not to have felt the injuries served out to its citizens by Tammany Hall. Smith's present-day affiliation with Tammany Hall is sufficient reason for the voter to cast his or her ballot for a representative of refinement.

If we wish to maintain our country's honor and prosperity we must elect as the Chief Executive of the government a gentleman of the caliber of former Presidents, such as Lincoln, Cleveland, Wilson, Coolidge and others, and not disgrace our country before the eyes of the world by elevating a political individual not in an approved class. The Smith type will not do.

Can't Please 'Em All

GARDENA, Sept. 4.—[To the Editor of The Times:] There is a time when nothin' suits me. Jist let me git real tired and hungry and dinner happens to be a few minutes late, I'm as crabby as a sore-headed bear and Harry Carr, Lee Shippey, Gale and the whole Times bunch don't interest me a little bit. But after I've eaten that aforementioned dinner and have lit a good seegar and lollin' in my favorite chair with my house slippers on it's different, everything and everybody looks good to me then.

I'll betcha that fellow Sibley was tired and hungry when he was lambastin' Harry Carr. Even if he wasn't, I've done diskivered that, you can please all of the people some of the time, and some of the people all of the time, but you can't please all of the people all of the time.

THE GREAT SILENCE

BY EUGENE BROWN

The movie game is a good deal like herding sheep or playing follow the leader. Everybody tries to do the same thing at once and hypnotize himself into the belief that he saw it first. When there was thought to be a rage for westerns every boso with a camera was making them. The crowd liked the first crook drama and the next day the parade of underworld stories was on. One or two costume plays were hits and by morning the historical pageant was under way. Of course there are advances, improvements and minor novelties with each new dawn, but as a whole the industry is still bound by precedent. The effect upon the box office is the major impulse—the inspiration of the art of picture making.

Just now pretty much everybody identified with the film industry from the dominating magnates down to the gatekeepers is insisting that the speakies are the only thing. Most of them assert with passionate fervor that the day of the silent drama has passed and that all the pictures of the future will have their sound effects or the full complement of voice.

I should hate like the dickens to have this verified. I am unable to even contemplate its possibility. I am sure that I am not the only wastrel in the world who prefers his drama muffled. Our delecious little vixen, Dolores, rather caught my fancy when she exclaimed: "How can the tired business man sleep with all this noise going on?" That is the idea. An awful lot of people go to picture shows because they are soothing and restful. They do not intentionally visit the theater to take a nap, but if the mood comes they like to satisfy it. How can a guy snooze while seven brass bands are having a fight with a mob armed with big Berthas during a thunder storm? It can't be done.

Of course there are thousands of high-geared moderns who cannot understand how one might find pleasure and contentment in visiting a playhouse which provided nothing save a couple of clean little pictures which were displayed to no more feverish accompaniment than a few harmonious chords on an organ, but believe me there are such—and several of them.

It is certain that the voices you hear in these speakies are not soothing. They are both canny and uncanny. They never seem natural—just as the voice of an actor trained in the legitimate drama seldom carries the sincerity of naturalness. He isn't talking to you, or to his stage confrere. He is talking to the wide, wide world.

That is the beauty of the silent drama. The spectator may open the gates of his imagination and decide for himself what the actor in the picture is saying and how the voice would sound as the situations are revealed.

This should be a popular indoor sport.

Possibly this Dolores has a little selfish fear that her own voice might not be responsive to certain character demands in the talkies, but she is right in assuming that there is still a considerable element of our citizenship that likes its pictures with the muzzle on.

I have consistently and persistently avoided all personal contacts with the movie game. I would never visit a studio unless I had to, and I wear blinders in traversing Hollywood Boulevard; but if the directors are to give us nothing but the open-faced drama with all the bustle and roar of hectic life I am going to take my $15 out of the bank and do something with it.

I am going to make a couple of bright and clean little plays with a few tense scenes that have the spectators biting their hankies and yet they are going to be as silent as a June night in a graveyard. If necessary I am going to locate the scene in a deaf-mute asylum and take the characters therefrom, but, so help me gracious, they are going to be silent.

Such pictures will cost mighty little when measured against the expense account of the average director, but when I get through I am going to take them out into the world of men and women who love peace rather than war and I will clean up a lot of dough.

If I don't the saxophones can blare a requiem to one who went down still flying the white flag of tranquillity.

MULTNOMAH FALLS

(Columbia River Highway, Oregon)

Silver 'broidery of spray on a mossy rock
And the soft shock
Of water, that falls and falls—
That sings, in a silver voice,
A song of a forest place
And a pool, that mirrored a face
Lost in the mist of years
That heavily fall, like tears
Into my memory—
And yet, I only see
Water, that falls and falls
Over these mountain walls.

Checking the Chiggers

The delight of a day out in the open in some southern districts is spoiled by the activities of the chiggers, which work their way under the clothing and cause much discomfort. Contrary to the popular impression, chiggers do not burrow into the skin and require extraction for relief. The chigger, minute in size though it is, is capable of injecting a considerable quantity of poisonous material into its host, and it is this poison that causes all the discomfort, the persistent itching that follows chigger bites. A field or picnic ground may be cleared of chiggers by clearing the underbrush and giving the vicinity an occasional dusting of flowers of sulphur.

Jess McMahon, Matchmaker for Rickard, Takes Over New York Coliseum

NEW YORK, Sept. 6. (AP)—Jess McMahon, who retired yesterday as matchmaker at Madison Square Garden, set himself up in the promotion end of the fight "racket" today.

McMahon qualified as Tex Rickard's chief rival for the indoor season by leasing the New York Coliseum for ten years.

The Coliseum, ready for occupancy in November, is planned to seat 32,000 fans, almost twice the capacity of Rickard's Madison Square Garden. The building was moved in sections from Philadelphia where it was built originally as an exhibition hall for the sesquicentennial celebration.

At the top is the Sparkler of New Orleans, which captured the championship by the margin of a single point, while below (left to right) are the Okla of Central Long Island, New York, and the Windward of San Diego, which tied for second place. The Sparkler's total for the five days of racing was 88 points. The Windward and the Okla compiled 87 points apiece. The Sparkler's victory takes the next championship to New Orleans. Judge B. Rey Schauer's Movie Star won yesterday's race, but was too far down in the point standing to jeopardize the winners.

SHELLENBACK ALLOWS FOES BUT FOUR BLOWS

Stars Have No Trouble Solving Slants of Moudy and Mails; Sheiks Score Five in Fifth

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—The Hollywood Stars are making the Seals like it this week. They beat them again today, making three straight. The score was 7 to 2, and Hollywood was the better club in everything.

The Stars had better pitching, played better ball in the field and outhit the Seals.

FRANK SHELLENBACK

Frank Shellenback had little trouble subduing the home talent. He allowed four hits, one of which was an infield tap by Johnson in the ninth that counted as a hit because Heath fielded the ball and no one covered first base. Johnson got a home run in the third inning; Thurston got a single in the sixth and Jolley got a single in the eighth. That, with Johnson's infield hit in the ninth, represented the sum total of the Seals' attack. Johnson's homer and a pass issued to Ruether with the bases bulging, to force in a run in the sixth, accounted for the two runs made by the Seals.

Hollywood scored a run on one hit in the first inning and batted Dick Moudy out of the box in the fifth. Once they got in front they stayed there, for about the only way the Seals could get on base was when Shellenback issued passes.

With one man out in the first inning, Kerr drew a pass and stole second. Lee was out on a fly to Averill but Smith made good with a hit to put the run over.

In the fifth Moudy began badly by passing both Lee and Smith and Carlyle singled to left, filling the bases. A swift throw by Johnson

Bobby Jones, Von Elm Top Amateur List

BY BRIAN BELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 6. (AP)—With Robert T. Jones, Jr., amateur champion, in No. 1 position for the third straight year and George Von Elm, former champion, ranked No. 2, the first ten amateur golfers in the United States were made public today by the United States Golf Association.

George Von Elm

H. H. Ramsay, chairman of the championship committee, announced the annual ranking list for use in seeding the draw for the amateur championship to be played next week over the Braeburn course, West Newton, Mass.

In addition to the "first ten" a supplementary list of ten was prepared and announced in alphabetical order. From this list additional names will be drawn if required by seeding purposes.

The leading amateurs in order of merit as judged by the U.S.G.A. are:

BELLS BEAT ANGELS AGAIN

Seraphs Score Seven Runs in Second But Missions Make Eight in Third and Win, 10 to 9

BY BOB RAY

If it's possible for Marty Krug's Angels to beat the Missions they're keeping it a secret. Yesterday the Cherubs at one time enjoyed a 7-to-0 lead, but whooped it away like a drunken sailor spending his back pay and the wind-up found them on the short end of a 10-to-9 score. That made it three straight setbacks for the home talent. It's just a gift.

At the end of the second inning it looked as though the Seraphs were going to break into the win column for they had just finished putting over seven runs. But Sheriff Peters and Bruce Cunningham couldn't get the Bells anywhere near out in the third until eight runs had come across and the visitors were out in front to stay.

ERNIE NEVERS

Red Killefer started "Lefty" Didier on the mound for the Missions but the youngster went to the showers in the second during the seven-run Angel onslaught. However, Lefty received some terrible support from Mickey Finn in this inning and only two of the Cherubs' flock of runs were earned.

NEVERS CHECKS CHERUBS

Ernie Nevers of dear old Stanford came to Didier's rescue and didn't let the Angels inside his ten-yard line except in the seventh when he was penalized ten yards for walking Burkett, and Dal Warren then completed a long pass into the bleachers for a touchdown or a home run or two runs or something. However, Ernie kept the Seraphs from converting in the last two

JACK DELANEY SIGNED TO FACE HUDKINS IN OCTOBER BATTLE AT WRIGLEY FIELD

Jack Delaney, former light-heavyweight champion, who last year relinquished that crown for an unsuccessful sally into heavyweight ranks, and Ace Hudkins, the Nebraska Wildcat, were yesterday signed to meet at Wrigley Field sometime in October.

ACE HUDKINS.

Bob (Sweeney) Cowan, who holds a lease on Wrigley Field, cinched the match yesterday over the long-distance telephone, Joe Jacobs, Delaney's manager, agreeing to terms. Cowan says he had not yet decided just when the bout will be staged, but it will probably take place on either October 1 or October 15.

Delaney, the hard-hitting Bridgeport French - Canadian, has a lot of color because of his terrific punching ability and should draw well out here where he has never yet appeared. Hudkins, the most popular fighter on the Coast, assures the bout of a big crowd. Ace drew a $93,000 crowd into Wrigley Field when he met Sergt. Sammy Baker a little more than a year ago.

Hudkins accepted the match knowing that he will have to concede Delaney quite a bit of weight. Delaney's best fighting poundage is around 175, while Ace says he will enter the bout weighing no more than 163.

Perhaps Mickey Walker's success in the light-heavyweight division had something to do with Hudkins's decision to step up a notch.

A Walker-Delaney match was first proposed but Hudkins was later decided upon instead of

FRANK WYKOFF TO ATTEND GLENDALE JUNIOR COLLEGE

GLENDALE, Sept. 6.—Frank Wykoff, national sprint champion, today set at rest all rumors as to where he would attend college. He registered at the Glendale Junior College for the ensuing year. In company with him was his "shadow" of four years in high school, Russ Slocum, who jointly holds the Southern California prep 100-yard dash record with Wykoff and Frank Lombardi. It is expected by the college officials that Dave Zaun and Fulton Beaty, the other two members of Glendale High School's world's record holding relay team, would register when the college opens next Tuesday.

FRANK WYKOFF

Wykoff gave his reasons for turning down attractive offers from schools throughout the country the desire to work another year under Coach Normal C. Hayhurst.

"Coach Hayhurst has trained me for every race I have ever won," he said. "Hayhurst went with me to Amsterdam and the Olympic team coaches thought they knew more about training us than the coaches that have handled them for years. All my coach could do was to look on and do the best he could for me before the meet. I want to stay in Glendale another year and work under him. If any-

Harper's Homer With One on in Tenth Gives Cards 4-3 Win Over Pirates

PINCH-HITTER IN HERO ROLE

Bucs Also Score in Tenth But Lose Anyway

Paul Waner Homes in Ninth to Tie Up Clash

Win Increases Cards' Lead in Pennant Race

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 6. (AP)—George Harper, pinch-hitting in the tenth inning when two runs were needed for victory, came through with a home run that gave the league-leading Cardinals a 4-to-3 victory over the Pirates today in the opener of a four-game series. Harper's homer came with one out in the tenth after Wilson had opened the inning with a single. It was a long drive into the right-field seats.

In the ninth inning Paul Waner staged the same dramatic act to tie the score at 3-all. Paul sent a drive into the stands, scoring behind brother Lloyd, who started things off by beating out a bunt. The Pirates got another run in the first half of the tenth when Scott singled, went to second on Mitchell's error, advanced to third while Hargreaves was being thrown out and scored on a single by Grimes.

The first two Cardinal runs were the result of another homer with Haley being the batter and Bottomley the runner on base. Haley's circuit drive was made in the fifth inning.

Grimes's single in the tenth apparently was his duel with another veteran spitballer, Clarence Mitchell, but he lost his chance to be the game's hero when he teased over one too Harper's liking. Grimes had slightly the better of the pitchers' battle that went through most of the game, allowing only six hits against seven granted by Mitchell.

The victory puts the Cards four and one-half games ahead of the Giants, who were idle today. Score:

WHO'S WHO with TROJAN GRID PROSPECTS BY BRAVEN DYER

NO. 4—THE CENTERS

IN WRITING about the Trojan centers it's a case of Nathan Barragar and the rest of the field. The blond sophomore sensation of last year will hold forth in the ball-snapping berth and as was the case in 1927, they won't get him out of there unless they break his leg.

NATHAN BARRAGAR

Barragar, in our estimation, should be the outstanding center on the Coast this fall. All he lacked last year was steadiness which comes with experience. By the end of the season he was performing in splendid fashion. There were not a few self-appointed critics who took Coach Howard Jones to task for using Barragar when Nate was having some trouble passing the ball accurately. However, Barragar showed so much determination to make good and had such an abundance of fight that Jones kept him in there through it all and as a result now has a good center to start the year with.

CECIL ZAUN

Larry Bettencourt of St. Mary's and Hal McCreery of Stanford are gone. They were the only centers we saw last year who looked better than Barragar. Nate should have a great season, and, unless injured, his understudies really won't get much chance to shine.

The understudies in this particular case are George Templeton and Hilton McCabe from last year's squad and Cecil Zaun from the frosh eleven.

Templeton is a short, squat fellow who has also worked some at guard. McCabe is a hefty, tall individual who works hard and gets a kick out of the game. Both made the trip to Notre Dame last year and may see some service this fall if Jones elects to let Barragar warm the bench at all.

Zaun hails from Glendale. He is a good center, but there was some talk of Jones using him at tackle this fall. Zaun is big and strong and if the Trojan mentor finds his sub tackles are not shaping up as well as expected the Glendale boy will probably be moved over.

prevented a run from scoring on the hit. But Heath pasted a hit to center and when Averill fumbled the ball, two runs scored. Ostenberg was tossed out by Rhyne, and then Bassler sent a line drive past Moudy's ear. Shellenback also hit safely and Moudy was lifted.

Mails went on the job and Suhr tossed out Twombly. In running Shellenback down between second and first base, first base was left uncovered and Rhyne was charged with an error when no one took his throw. It was not Rhyne's fault, but someone had to get an error, as Bassler scored on the play and as it was Rhyne who tossed the ball, he got it.

Ostenberg doubled to open the sixth and took third on an infield out. Mails let loose a wild pitch to score him. That was all the scoring for the Stars and it was quite sufficient.

Mickey because of big appeal in the local boxing fans.

Delaney's record includes two knockouts over Tiger Flowers, the late middleweight champion, and his terrific punching ability put Paul Berlenbach in the "has-been" class. Whether he will be able to nail Hudkins remains to be seen. Ace has never been kayoed. Sammy Baker's technical knockout win over Hudkins being the nearest to which the Wildcat has ever been to dreamland.

Delaney was not so successful in heavyweight ranks, Jack Sharkey putting him away in the first round of a "doubtful" bout staged several months ago in New York.

rounds so the Bells, who had added to their total in the sixth and seventh, won out and Nevers was credited with the victory.

The Bells spared nothing in the way of base hits, pounding the offerings of the Misses. Peters, Cunningham and Weatherby for a cool twenty-one hits, Mickey Finn contributing four of them to somewhat counteract his three errors. The Angels corralled but eight safeties and Wes Schulmerich got half of them in four trips to the plate.

The Angels started the scoring in the second after Dittmar had been retired. Burkett singled and Warren and Peters walked to fill the sacks. Woody Jensen slapped a single to center to bring in two runs. Finn then muffed successive grounders from Jones and Mosolf, Peters scoring on the second bobble. Schulmerich doubled to left center and Jensen and Jones raced home. Nevers here replaced Didier and was greeted by Ray Jacobs's single to center which brought in Mosolf and Schulmerich. Dittmar forced Jacobs and Burkett skied to Swanson to end the rally.

MISSIONS SCORE EIGHT

Peters evidently decided to coast on his lead and Red Baldwin opened the Mission third with a drive over the left-field wall. Nevers doubled to right, but Jensen made a shoestring catch of Swanson's low liner. Doubles by Finn, Boone and Fred Berger followed to give the Bells four runs for the inning. McDaniel singled infield and went to second when Jacobs threw wide to third in an effort to pick Berger off the far corner, the latter scoring on the heave. Cunningham replaced Peters and walked Slade. Mitchell forced Slade, but Fussy Hufft, batting for Baldwin, singled to center and McDaniel scored. Nevers's second hit of the inning with a single that scored Mitchell and sent Hufft to third. A wild pitch brought Hufft over the plate with the eighth run of the round. Swanson ended the splurge by grounding out to Cunningham.

The Bells filled the sacks with two out in the fourth but a great running catch by Jensen prevented any scoring.

Sypher, who had gone in to catch, scored for the Bells in the sixth when he singled and tallied on doubles by McDaniel and Slade. Mitchell hit to Jacobs and McDaniel was trapped between third and home. Warren ran McDaniel back to third, where Slade was also waiting and tagged both runners. Slade was out on the play but McDaniel unconsciously walked off the base and he, too, was tagged out by Warren. Killefer kicked so loud and long on the play that he was chased to the clubhouse by Umpire Westervelt.

Singles by Swanson, Finn and Boone gave the Bells their last run off Cunningham in the seventh.

A walk to Dittmar and Warren's drive into the bleachers wound up the scoring in the seventh.

Another one today with Glenn Gabler, just back from Pocatello, delegated to try and stop the Angel losing streak. Harry Krause is due to fling for the Bells. Score:

RABBIT PUNCHES

by PAUL LOWRY

DRURY IGNORED

WITHOUT a doubt Mr. Parke H. Davis, who annually compiles statistics for the Football Guide, has quite a job on his hands. He has a large field to cover from the Atlantic to the Pacific and up and down both slopes. Errors are bound to creep in, but for a publication as widely read as the Football Guide one suspects like the guy rooting for the New York Yanks that these should be minor and not major.

Therefore, it becomes a distressing duty to inform Mr. E. K. Hall, editor of this year's Spaulding's Football Guide, that Mr. Davis overlooked one of the outstanding feats of last fall in his recapitulation "Touchdowns Scored on Runs from Scrimmage."

I refer particularly to Mr. Morley Drury's great 77-yard run to a touchdown around Washington's left end in the game at the Coliseum last December 1. This is completely ignored by Mr. Davis in his compilations although in my humble opinion it was the high light of Drury's collegiate activities on the gridiron. It called into play every element of nimble foot and nimble mind, and whereas Drury originally outfigured Washington in sending the play wide when previous plays of a similar formation had been swung just off tackle, it was his marvelous footwork, cut back, straight-arming and quick thinking, once past the line of scrimmage, that gave Boren and Heiser their chance to cut down three would-be tacklers.

Inasmuch as Mr. Drury was mentioned rather widely in All-American circles—something of a first choice on all mythical elevens—it does seem that Mr. Davis pulls da bloomer, as the boys say.

THOMAS AND KEMP

HOWEVER, Mr. Drury has companions in his misery, so to speak. Mr. Davis apparently has a very small acquaintance with Coast goings-on, and he passes Rocky Kemp by with two 50-yard runs to touchdowns and Lloyd Thomas for the long run-back of a kick-off to a touchdown just as if they were a pair of gold-dust twins and he didn't need any, thank you.

Some of the Trojans are mentioned for their accomplishments, but the boys named above are simply not on Mr. Davis's speaking list.

Adding insult to injury Mr. Davis under the heading, "Touchdowns Scored on Forward Pass Plays," refers to a 75-yard pass play by Clifford Huffman and Frank Wilson as a U.S.C. scoring play against Stanford.

This no doubt will greatly interest both sides to the proposition although it is very doubtful if Mr. Davis's nominations will be accepted by any of the candidates.

This faux pas reminds one of the time the late Walter Camp was accused of having named a dead man on one of his All-American elevens. Mr. Davis's explanations will be awaited with considerable anticipation.

ROCKNE PICKS STANFORD

MR. BILL HENRY, who unselfishly gave up Bystanding and his summer vacation to tour Europe in the wake of the Olympic Games, ran across Knute Rockne over there and dropped the following interesting epistle on the writer's desk yesterday:

"Dear Paul: In the course of my wanderings over Europe it is needless to say that I ran into Knute Rockne. Knute was having a terrible time explaining to his party that they don't have any Biltmore Hotels over in Amsterdam and what he had to say about the troubles of handling a couple of hundred tourists wouldn't go through the mails. However, Knute did burst into print with one interesting item. He picked Southern California, Stanford and Oregon State as the three teams to watch on the Coast this year with Stanford his favorite. In the Midwest he picked Illinois, Minnesota, Purdue and Wisconsin and in the East Army, Navy, N.Y.U., Dartmouth and Yale with the Army and N.Y.U. as the best bets. Regarding his own team he pointed out that he lost ten regulars out of eleven and he would be forced to face a tough schedule with Capt. Miller and the "minute men" from the second team—so called because it only took the Army and Navy teams about a minute to score on them last year. Pop Warner, who was on the same trip, was positively optimistic about Stanford's chances, saying that while he lost five good regulars he had plenty of good replacements. I wonder if Pop would have said that for publication on the Coast.

"BILL HENRY."

Star II of the Los Angeles fleet at 4h. 40m. 13s., a winner by four minutes and fifty-nine seconds. Running free and closely followed by the Sparkler II came J. F. Walking's Okla of the Central Long Island fleet. Then pandemonium began to stretch. The Okla crossed the line at 4:45:13 and the Sparkler II, thirty-three second later.

The point score so far was Movie Star II, 83, Okla 67 and Sparkler II 68. Looked like the Sparkler II was to be crowned champion, but where was Joe Jessop and his Winward, and there hangs the story of the race.

In fifteenth place at the end of the first leg, the San Diego sloop battled her way through the pounding sea to pass ten sloops during the next five miles of the race and rounded the last marker in fifth place. F. H. Robinson, Jr.'s Budsal II of the Peconic Bay's fleet was right on the Windward's transom in sixth place, while Edward V. Willis's Ace of the Western Long Island Sound fleet was fourth.

Had the Windward been able to beat the Ace on the two-mile run to the finish line, she would have won the series with 69 points. Fifth place would have given her a tie with the Sparkler II, which would have necessitated another race tomorrow for the title.

In the increasing breeze, however, and with both the Ace and Budsal II noted for their prowess on the run, the Windward was not quite up to the task. The Ace increased her lead to finish at 4h. 59m. 58s. and the Budsal II and Windward were left to battle it out for fifth place.

With but a few seconds between the two sloops at any time, the two rode the long green curlers to the finish line. Up until a few yards of the finish, Jessop maintained a boat-length lead. The Budsal II was favored by being to leeward as the line veers off at an angle. The sloops crossed the line almost as one, but not quite. Two feet of the Budsal II's bow jutted out ahead of the Windward and the series was history.

The start of the final race was made in a soft westerly with prospects bright for another light day. The Okla was away to a fine start around the leeward mark with the Sparkler II to windward and in second place on the port tack. J. Graham Johnson's Undine was third across and in a favorable position. The Windward was caught in a cluster at the windward mark and got away among the last in the ruck of the fleet.

With the wind coming up out of the haze, the Okla and Sparkler II maintained their position and rounded the first marker of the windward and leeward course in the lead. The Budsal II swept into third place with the Movie Star II fourth. The Windward was fifteenth around.

On the run down, the Windward picked four sloops to take eleventh place with the Okla and Sparkler II still in first and second places. R. Roy Schauer turned the Movie Star II around in third place, while Walton Hubbard, Jr.'s, Tempe III was fourth.

The breeze steadily increased, raising a nasty chop and gave the Movie Star II the weather at which she is best. The Los Angeles sloop simply walked away from the fleet, leaving the leaders to battle it out.

Fortune, which smiles on some and frowns on others, failed the Johnson brothers today and the Undine finally finished in thirteenth place, which put her completely out of the picture.

The trophies were awarded tonight at 9 o'clock, when the skippers and crews gathered in an informal affair at the club. Without doubt the series was one of the most successful in the history of the association, and Southern California will be represented at New Orleans next year in the hopes of bringing the big cup back.

Here's how they finished in the series:

Sloops and Port — Total Points

Sparkler II, New Orleans Gulf 83
Windward, Port Huron
Okla, Central L.I. Sound
Movie Star II, Los Angeles
Undine, Los Angeles
Tempe III, Chesapeake Bay
Ace, Western Long Island
Afra, Massachusetts Bay
Tempe Newport Harbor
Lucky Lady, Gravesend Bay
Aurica, Port Huron
Aurrura, Detroit, Pa. Yacht Academy
Hoku, Hawaiian Islands

MACK HOUSE KAYOES JACK LEE IN SEVENTH

Mack House, hard-hitting colored heavyweight, knocked out Jack Lee, San Diego 180-pounder, in the seventh round of the scheduled ten-round main event at Pasadena last night. A right to the body stopped Lee.

In the other bouts Jack Hayward won over Joe Bilto in a six-rounder; Bobby Hayden and Richard Frazier went four rounds to a draw; Jack Perry trimmed Carl Edwards in four rounds, and Young Deaver bested Young Manila Rabuco in the curtain-raiser.

DRIZZLE HALTS AMERICAN RACE

Both Yankees and Athletics Rained Out of Games

Many Double-Headers Before Struggling Leaders

Clubs Open Crucial Series in New York Sunday

NEW YORK, Sept. 6. (AP)—Rain today, a persistent drizzle, in New York and Boston, made it a hard day for baseball players and fans interested in the exciting race for the American League pennant. The Yankees and Athletics were kept idle and as a result face double-headers to close this week and start the next. Meanwhile more than 5000 New York fans took a drenching in a determined quest for tickets to the opening of the series that may decide the pennant, opening with a Sunday double-header at the Yankee stadium between the Yankees and Athletics.

The Yankees will play a double-header with Washington tomorrow with a single game on Saturday. The Athletics are booked for two games with the Red Sox tomorrow and two more Saturday before coming to New York to tackle the Yankees in another twin bill Sunday, opening a four-game series. The two teams are two games apart.

HEAVY SCHEDULE

The Athletics were scheduled to play five games in three days at Boston. The rain today made that schedule impossible, but the fifth game may be disposed of on the 19th inst., when the Athletics and Red Sox have an off day before starting west.

As the season nears its end clubs in both leagues are scurrying about in a search for open dates to play out the allotment of games. The 13th inst. has been suggested as a likely date for the Cardinals and Cubs to stop in Chicago to play a morning game before leaving for the East on afternoon trains.

MUST SHUFFLE HURLERS

As the line-up of the American League pennant possibilities stands today, the Athletics must play six games in the next three days, while the Yankees are confronted with a schedule of five. Connie Mack must shuffle his pitchers carefully to bring his most formidable front against the world champions. Ossie Orwoll probably will do duty from the firing line in one of the Boston games. Mack may name Earnshaw, Rommel, Hunks and Orwoll to pitch at the Hub, with Grove, Walberg and Quinn saved for the Yankees.

Miller Huggins can take no chances with a staff weakened by the absence of his star left-hander, Herb Pennock, and possibly will send his ace, Waite Hoyt, against both the Senators and Athletics. Tom Zachary is available for a shot at his former team-mates, the Senators, and Johnson is likely to draw the other assignment. George Pipgras, who pitched yesterday, will be ready to have a go at the Mackmen. On the strength of the superstition that a pitcher can always come back to beat the team that let him go, Lefty Heimach will have his chance to throw them by the Athletics.

MISS WILLS TO PERFORM HERE

championships, the 28th inst. to October 7.

Her entry was announced yesterday by Clifton B. Herd, official of the Los Angeles Tennis Club, where the tourney will be played under the auspices of the Tennis Patrons' Association of Southern California.

Miss Wills's appearance will give local fans their first real opportunity of seeing the Berkeley girl in action. While she has played in invitation tourneys at the Hotel Huntington, Pasadena, the seating capacity over there is limited and many of the local tennis devotees have never seen the champion play.

The entire country has been interested in following her two matches with Frits Mercur, one of which she won and in one of which she was defeated. Then came the match with John Hennessey. Yesterday Clif Herd announced that Miss Wills would be seen in action against one of the leading players of the nation during the Pacific-Southwest championships.

At the same time Miss Wills will not have things entirely her own way in the ladies' singles. Her chief rival, Miss Helen Jacobs, Stanford University star, has entered the tournament and will be on hand to make a mighty bid for first honors. Miss Midge Gladman, one of the best young players Southern California has ever produced, will, of course, be present. Miss Penelope Anderson, fourth seeded player in the last national, has entered—as has Mrs. Charlotte Chapin. Mrs. May Sutton Bundy, "Southern California's own," is another who will play through this greatest tournament Southern California has ever seen.

It is possible that Miss Jacobs will only be able to play in the first three or four days' competition, as she will have to enter Stanford about October 1. However, she has notified Clif Herd of the Tennis Club, that she will remain in Los Angeles up to the last possible minute.

WALLACE BEATS KAUFMAN

NEW HAVEN (Ct.) Sept. 6. (AP)—Billy Wallace, 134½, Cleveland lightweight, was awarded a decision over Joey Kaufman, 135, in New York, in a ten-round bout here tonight. Kaufman was sent to the mat for a count of five in the fourth round.

Stribling in Easy Victory Over Squires

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—Young Stribling made short work of Johnny Squires in the feature ten-round bout at Madison Square Garden tonight, winning from the South African in forty-four seconds of the second round when Referee Lou Magnolia intervened because Squires was out on his feet.

The occasion was the opening of the winter season at the Garden and the first of Tex Richard's heavyweight elimination contests to produce a successor to Gene Tunney. Stribling was making his initial bid to be included in the series and Squires was doing the same, having traveled 11,000 miles from Johannesburg inspired by the score of numerous battlers in recent years who have come here and made fortunes in the ring.

About thirty seconds after the bout started, Stribling slipped Squires with a left that had him in distress. From there on Stribling went after his man with lefts and rights, rushed him to the ropes and had him covering up his face with his gloves to save himself. Suddenly Stribling broke through the facial guard and shot in a swift right to the jaw that sent Squires down for the count of five.

Stribling started the second with a rush and in one onslaught lunged forward so hard that he nailed Squires to the floor and stood straddle over him, nearly falling forward.

A few more rushes around the ring and Stribling had Squires in the latter's corner, where several short lefts followed by a right to the jaw put Squires out on his feet and Referee Magnolia intervened.

MISHKIN OXY COACH

Former Tiger Star Signed to Take Over Mentoring of Occidental Frosh This Season

Announcement was made from the graduate manager's office at Occidental College today that Solly Mishkin, a graduate of the Eagle Rock institution, had been signed to coach the 1928 frosh football team. His appointment was enthusiastically received by Tiger students, alumni, and followers, for Solly was one of the most popular athletes ever attending Occidental. He will succeed Eddie Kienholz, who has taken over the Tiger varsity.

Mishkin is well qualified for the position as he played four years football in Hollywood High and later was one of the outstanding stars on the gridiron at Occidental. Solly was the foremost athlete at Hollywood High from 1920 to 1923. He won three letters in football and baseball and two in basketball.

SOLLY MISHKIN

At Occidental Solly won letters for three years in three major sports. He was all-conference half three years, and his specialty was running back punts. He was also all-conference forward and captain of the basketball team in his final year. His specialty, however, was baseball. Solly was the star of the championship teams of 1925, '26, and '27. He was a sensational fielder and the leading hitter of the team.

After graduation Solly signed with the San Francisco Seals. He had fair success, but did not hit up to expectations and was troubled with a bad arm. He was unexpectedly released recently, but was signed by Bill Essick to report to the New York Yankees next spring. That he is still considered as a real baseball prospect was proven by the fact that the day after the Seals released him he was offered two contracts with other clubs.

The following schedule has been arranged for the Occidental frosh this year:

October 6—Compton Junior College at Compton.
October 13—Fullerton Junior College at Fullerton.
October 20—Whittier Frosh at Rose Bowl, Pasadena.
November 3—San Diego Frosh at Rose Bowl.
November 10—Caltech Frosh at Rose Bowl.
November 17—Redlands Frosh at Redlands.
November 28—Pomona Frosh at Rose Bowl.

which the leadership of the league may be decided for the dash down the stretch to the end of the season. With the Yanks weakened and somewhat disorganized and the Athletics still maintaining the great pace they have followed since the season began in April, New York is genuinely aroused over a baseball series for the first time in years. Interest seems to be keener than it was in any of the world series engagements involving local clubs since the first Yank-Giant series in 1921.

The series will begin with a double header Sunday afternoon, double-header Sunday afternoon seats for this day's play were sold by mail but a comparative few were offered at the club's downtown offices today and lines formed as early as 7:30 a.m. to claim them. They were gone by noon and the line which extended half a block along Forty-second street to Seventieth avenue, and a block south to Forty-first street, broke up in a scramble that required the attention of police reserves. Scalpers went among the disappointed ones seeking tickets purchased at a premium from those who had been at the head of the line.

The capacity of the ball park is estimated at 80,000. It is likely to be filled. Connie Mack and the other Philadelphia stockholders expect to carry away almost $70,000 as their share of the gate receipts for the entire series.

JONES, VON ELM LEAD AMATEURS

(3.) Francis Ouimet.
(4.) Jess Sweetser.
(5.) Frank Dolp.
(6.) Charles Evans, Jr.
(7.) Harrison R. Johnston.
(8.) Watts Gunn.
(9.) Dr. O. F. Willing.
(10.) Roland MacKenzie.

The second ten, not grouped, however, with regard to ability, but according to the alphabet: George Dawson, Jesse Guilford, Eddie Held, Eugene Homans, Max R. Marston, Maurice McCarthy, Jr., Don Moe, Ben Stein, George Voigt and Fred J. Wright.

With Jones and Von Elm slated to head opposite halves of the draw, the stage will be set to bring these two great stars together in the finals if the players do their part in disposing of the rest of the most representative field assembled for an amateur championship in years. If no ambitious youngster upsets the calculatoins of the older heads, the semifinal engagements may be contested by a quartet of players who have held amateur golf's highest reward. The first ten includes the eight Walker Cup players, with the champion and five former title-holders in that select group, besides Frank Dolp, the western amateur champion, and Dr. Willing, former Walker Cup star.

Jesse Guilford and Max Marston are former champions in the second ten and the ranking is completed with some of the game's most brilliant younger stars.

Seven of this year's first ten were in last year's list, but not in the same order. Stein, Held and Guilford of last year's ranking were dropped to the second group, being replaced by Evans, Dolp and Willing. Sweetser and Ouimet exchanged places and Gunn was dropped from fifth to eighth place.

LINKS SCARCE IN GERMANY

Germany is said to have only one golf links to every 25,000 of its inhabitants.

Kahanamoku to Give Exhibition at Lake Norco

Duke Kahanamoku, famous Hawaiian aquatic star, has given his promise to officials of the Lake Norconian Club to be present next Sunday afternoon in the Pacific Coast and Southern California championship swimming fete. Kahanamoku will give an exhibition at 100 yards free style on the same program with champion diving stars who represented the Pacific Coast in the Olympiad his summer. Such Olympic stars as Pete Desjardines, world's champion; Mickey Riley, "Dutch" Smith and Georgia Coleman, L.A.A.C.; Clarita Hunsberger, Ambassador S.A.C., and Dorothy Poynton of the Pasadena A.C.; Austin Clapp, H.A.C., and Wally O'Connor, V.P.A., are scheduled to appear.

An invitational event in the girls' 100-yard free style was announced last night by Leslie A. Henry, chairman of the Southern California swimming committee. In this event are entered Kathleen Walton, Laura Moore, L.A.A.C. swimmers; Mary Kooyers and Susanna Brown, Pacific Coast Club, and Olga O'Bryne of San Clemente. In the women's Southern California low-board diving championship are entered: Mary Dunsford, far-western champion; Marion Dale and Bobby Koshade, Southern California outdoor champion of the Los Angeles A.C.

Beavers' Bats Beat Seattle

SEATTLE, Sept. 6. (AP)—In a game featured by heavy hitting by both teams, Portland defeated the Seattle Indians, 10 to 5, here today. The Beaver stickmen found Teachout for twelve hits, one a three-bagger by Johnson. Keesey, first-sacker for Portland, in five times at bat, hit out three two-base clouts, and a single. Neis, Ainsmith and Barbee with extra base hits for Seattle, helped the Indians get their total of fourteen during the game. Score:

OAKLAND, Sept. 6. (AP)—Sacramento bunched five hits for four runs in the fourteenth inning to defeat Oakland, 9 to 5, here today.

The Oakland nine made all their tallies in the sixth, when Brooks and Verges hit home runs. Craghead pitched the full game for the Oaks, while Keating, who relieved Kunz in the twelfth, got credit for the victory. Score:

JACK WILLIS LOSES TO BELGIAN FIGHTER

CHICAGO, Sept. 6.—Rene Devos, the Belgian middleweight, won the ten-round decision over Jack Willis of San Francisco in the wind-up of a boxing show at the Mills Stadium here tonight.

The Belgian was far too clever. His left hand piled up many points and he stepped inside or pulled away from Willis's wild swings. Jack tried hard for a knockout in the final round but his blows lacked power and Devos had little trouble holding the advantage. Devos weighed 159 3-4 pounds; Willis 158.

Marty Gallagher of Washington, D. C., won the five-round decision from Tom Sayers of Detroit. They are heavyweights.

Battling Levinsky was given a four-round decision over Jimmy Gardner at 158 pounds.

GAINES LOSES AT DEL MONTE

Former City Champion Bows to Unknown Youth

Chandler Egan Scores Again in Golf Tourney

San Bernardino, medalist, and former Los Angeles city champion.

Williams, a Santa Barbara youth, entered the tourney as an unknown, but definitely established himself today with his one-up win over the other husky Southern Californian. Last June Williams eliminated Watts Gunn, Atlanta star, in the national intercollegiate tournament.

The match was close up to the eighteenth, when Williams dropped his ball in the cup for a par 5 against 6 for Gaines.

Johnny McHugh, defending champion, had no trouble disposing of "Wild Bill" Jelliffe of Santa Monica, 5-4. The San Franciscan, playing a steady but not spectacular game, took advantage of his opponent's poor short game to make the turn, four up. Jelliffe missed half a dozen putts, ranging from less than two feet to five feet. McHugh's score for the first nine was 37.

SEAVER TRIMMED

An unofficial course record of 72, one above par, was set by George Ritchie, San Francisco star, in defeating Charles Seaver, 17-year-old Los Angeles boy, one up. The pair were all square at the turn. Going into the fifteenth Ritchie was two up, but lost that hole when Seaver sunk an eighteen-foot putt for a birdie 3. They halved the remaining holes. Ritchie shot the first nine with a 36 and came in with a 36.

Harold Thompson of Glendale inflicted the worst defeat of the day on Lloyd Warnecke of Oakland, winning, 6-7. In doing so Thompson posted a 33, three under par, for the first nine, to equal the lowest score made on that stretch. Three of the holes were bindies.

The toughest battle of the round saw Chuck Hunter, long-hitting Tacoma youth, nose out Heine Schmidt of Oakland on the nineteenth. Coming into the final stretch, Hunter was two up. Schmidt clinched the sixteenth with a birdie three. They halved the seventeenth with threes and Hunter lapsed into one of his wild streaks on the eighteenth to lose that hole. The Tacoma boy put one brassie shot into the ocean and followed it with another out of bounds. On the extra hole Schmidt's usually reliable putter failed him and Hunter won with a par four after the Oaklander's ball fell short by two feet on a six-foot putt.

Milton Latham, San Francisco, moved into the next round with a 3-1 win over Dick Smith of Los Angeles, while Russell Thompson kept apace with his brother Harold by slipping home with a victory over Dan Sangster of Los Angeles. A birdie four on the eighteenth settled the match.

The matches today were decidedly disastrous to the Southern California delegation as six were eliminated. Clear, warm weather brought out fair-sized galleries while the golfers benefited by the lack of wind.

LOS ANGELES GIRL LOSES AT DEL MONTE

DEL MONTE, Sept. 6. (AP)—In the first round of the Del Monte championship for women held on the Del Monte golf course here today, Mrs. Helen Sheedy of San Francisco, former city title-holder, defeated Miss Helen Lawson, Los Angeles girl, one up.

Other results:

Mrs. W. C. C. Smith, Los Angeles, defeated Mrs. A. C. Lillie, Los Angeles, on the twenty-first hole.
Mrs. R. F. Lee, San Antonio, Tex., defeated Mrs. F. J. Morris, Dallas, Tex., 4 and 3.
Barbara Lee, Piedmont, defeated Hazel Cochrane, Los Angeles, 1 up.
Mrs. J. Du Praster, Oakland, defeated Mrs. R. Owens, Hollywood, 2 and 1.
Miss Marjorie Fordham, Los Angeles, defeated Mrs. E. Marcellus, San Francisco, 7 and 6.

KENNEDY TO REFEREE

Popular Navy Official Named as Third Man in Ring for La Barba-Graham Bout Tuesday

Interest was practically doubled in the Bushy Graham-Fidel La Barba bout for next Tuesday night when it was officially announced yesterday that Lieut. Jack Kennedy would referee the bout.

This match has more than ordinary importance due to the fact that the fight is practically a championship affair although each boy has a 2000 weight for fait up to come in over 118 pounds.

Fidel La Barba

Graham has been compelled to do his training in the evenings when it is cool in order to keep above the bantamweight limit. La Barba only scales 120 pounds and is doing all his training minus the usual sweaters in order to keep his helft up.

The public knows that either fighter could weigh 118 easier than he can come in above the championship poundage. La Barba, if he wins, would have some sort of a claim on Graham's synthetic title.

Graham's crown is an eastern award and the West up to the present has had no part in the shuffle. However, Graham is a great fighter and well deserves the championship unless La Barba can outsail him.

Kennedy is well liked by the fans. His system of pointing to the corners at the end of each round to designate which had the round is popular.

There is some talk, although not official, that judges will be dispensed with for this particular bout and leave Kennedy in complete control. Both George Blake and Bill Parr favor the one-man system.

There was little or no betting on the bout until the referee was named yesterday. Fans now feel assured that the real winner will have his hand raised.

The universal dissatisfaction over the Sangor-Zorilla outcome is believed the reason Commissioner Jim Woods and Chief Inspector Bill Bomb broke the rule of secrecy for referees.

JOCKEY COLLINS RIDES LAST RACE

DADE PARK (Ky.) Sept. 6. (AP)—Jockey R. Collins was fatally injured here today when his mount, Blossom House, stumbled during the running of the second race, throwing his rider heavily. Collins died en route to an Evansville hospital.

It is thought that the horse struck the inner rail, causing the fatal fall.

Youth well trained

Enrollments being accepted by California Preparatory School

A SPLENDID opportunity is presented visitors at this famous educational institution for boys this week to inspect the extensive grounds and every nook and corner of the numerous school buildings and dormitories. Competent guides will be furnished all callers.

COME, see how and where boys are being trained at this California school, amidst beautiful surroundings and under the guidance of a staff of Masters whose educational work in all lines has been eminently successful. California Preparatory School will remain open to visitors for preliminary inspection every day until the beginning of school September 11.

HERE, for YOUR boy, you may have all the advantages of the finest eastern boarding schools, with California's natural advantages for growing boys. Cal-Prep is now enrolling boys for the fall term.

Preparation for all college entrance board examinations. Fully accredited all Eastern and Western Universities. Complete 4-year high school course; 1 year Junior College. Separate Lower School, Grades 5 to 8. General or Elective courses.

Swimming, music, riding, drama, athletics, beautiful dormitories. Small, select groups of boys, individually trained—always. Graduates of Cal-Prep are making excellent records in their college examinations. All sports included as part of training. Boys are normally developed while acquiring their education. Strictly non-military. Term begins September 11.

Los Mejicanos Propician Otro Vuelo de Amistad Cordial

EL PASO (Tejas), Septiembre 6. Dice El Continental de hoy que el dia 15 del mes actual emprenderán los aviadores mejicanos A. Santana y J. García el vuelo de la ciudad de Méjico a la de Los Angeles, trayendo consigo un mensaje de buena voluntad de la capital mejicana y de los sindicatos obreros de allá para el pueblo norteamericano y los sindicatos similares de aquí.

La Rusia Soviética Se Ha Adherido al Pacto de Kellogg

MOSCU, Septiembre 6.—Hoy se efectuó el acto formal de adhesión de la Rusia soviética al pacto de Kellogg, y consistió la ceremonia en la entrega que hizo el subsecretario de Relaciones Litvinoff de la respuesta de Rusia al embajador francés Herdette.

En nota anexa manifiesta Litvinoff que confía en que Rusia recibirá de las potencias una lista exacta de las naciones que fueron invitadas para adherirse al plan de suprimir las guerras.

Llévase la Muerte a un Poeta Nicaragüense

MANAGUA (Nicaragua), Septiembre 6.—Hoy ha muerto aquí el poeta nicaragüense Ramón Sáenz Morales, de 33 años de edad.

Sus versos han sido extensamente publicados por toda Centro y Sudamérica.

Los Luteranos Señalan la Fiesteia Extranjera de los Católicos

COLUMBUS (Ohio), Septiembre 6.—Hoy ha sido adoptada aquí una resolución importante por la Asociación Nacional de Editores Luteranos. En dicha resolución se refiere esa sociedad a las elecciones presidenciales que se avecinan, y hace observar que "quizá resultare en contra de los mejores intereses de este país el peculiar pleito homenaje que, de acuerdo con las doctrinas de su iglesia, debe rendir todo fiel católico a un soberano extranjero que pretende también ser supremo en lo tocante a cuestiones seculares."

La referida moción aboga por que se apoye el principio de separación de la iglesia y el Estado; pero encarece a los editores que no luchen en esta campaña ni en pro de Herbert Hoover ni en pro del gobernador Smith.

Fue aprobada después de que la asociación, compuesta de editores de periódicos que tienen como 2,000,00 de lectores, hubo dado a conocer su actitud respecto a un presidente católico en una declaración redactada por el doctor C. R. Tappert, de Filadelfia, y adoptada por la asociación. El doctor Tappert es director de "The Lutheriscber Herald."

Smith Marchará Rumbo a la Zona Maicera

ALBANY (Nueva York) Septiembre 6.—Para iniciar su campaña presidencial, dirigiráse el gobernador Smith al corazón de la zona del maíz. La noche del martes 18 del actual hablará en Omaha, y marchará después rumbo al estado limítrofe de Oklahoma para hablar dos noches después en Oklahoma City. Su primera semana de alocuciones electorales rematará en la ciudad de Denver la noche del sábado 22 del corriente.

Esta primera fase de su itinerario oratorio fue dada a conocer hoy por el candidato demócrata, quien agregó que su jira se prolongaria por una semana más antes de regresar al Estado de Nueva York para hablar el primero de Octubre ante la convención democrática del Estado, que se reunirá en Rochester. En cuanto al itinerario que haya de seguir y los compromisos con que debe cumplir durante ese período, o durante el subsecuente a su aparición en Rochester, nada puede decir, pues sus planes no están aún ultimados.

Se Da Trabajo a los Presos que Salen en Libertad

Han recibido acomodo durante el mes de Agosto, trás de haber salido libres, cuarenta y dos ex-presos de la cárcel del condado. Les ha prestado este servicio la oficina de contacto del departamento del sheriff, la que ha hecho público ayer su informe mensual.

Con esos cuarenta y dos, llega a 698 el total de presos que han recibido empleos de Junio 15 de 1927 a la fecha. El número de los que recibieron auxilios pecuniarios en Agosto próximo pasado llegó a treinta, y el total de los de esta clase, desde 1927, es de 275. Los préstamos hasta la fecha suben a $2078.73, y los reembolsos sobre estos préstamos suben a $753.58. Lo no reembolsado sube a $1325.15, y la existencia en caja, a $3941.38.

Es penoso decir que siguen en cero las contribuciones del público al fondo especial del sheriff para rehabilitación de presos.

WHEN you mope around and sigh for "one understanding friend" you don't mean you want a friend who really understands you. The trouble probably is that you have too many of that kind already.

What you yearn for is one who can see a lot more in you than really is there.

Still, I never did hear anybody complain, habitually, that he was misunderstood without realizing that he told the truth—but the misunderstanding is all done by one person—himself.

It's because everybody else soon sees through a fellow like that that he has such a gloomy time of life.

It is worth while remembering that Niobe, who wept a river of tears, didn't really get anywhere by her efforts. And as long as she holds the Olympic record for crying there's small chance for an inferior modern imitation to gain half as much as she did.

Yes, Palomine, when it comes to taking the ills life puts on you, you'll find the world mighty helpful if you're game. But in that respect, it hasn't any use for a "wet"—the most it will stand for is light whines and jeers.

...ome days ahead of her sched-...departure, the aircraft carrier ...ga sailed yesterday afternoon ...the Puget Sound navy yard for ...first overhaul, during which ...ship will receive new lower-...turbine blades, which are ex-...ted to make her the fastest ...ier in the fleet.

...ter this ship, the Lexington, ...now at the Puget Sound yard ...going overhaul, including in-...lation of new blades, and when ...ir modernization plants return to ...Diego in November for their ...final duty are expected to develop a top speed of thirty-five knots. The Lexington is due about November 20 and the Saratoga about November 30.

SCHEDULE CHANGED

The Saratoga originally was scheduled to depart Los Angeles Harbor for Puget Sound on the 21st inst., the Bureau of Navigation advancing her overhaul in an effort to have both carriers complete all trials prior to January 1, 1929, and thus be available for the cruise to South America, on which the fleet will depart the harbor January 15, next.

Her sudden departure also alters the plans of both Rear-Admiral William A. Moffett, chief of the Bureau of Aeronautics, and Edward P. Warner, assistant Secretary of the Navy for Aeronautics, who are here on Pacific Coast air inspection tours. Both aviation chiefs were to visit the Saratoga this week and to take passage aboard her during the fleet tactical exercises on the 14th and 15th inst.

ADMIRAL AT SEA

Admiral Moffett yesterday postponed his inspection of Allen Field, harbor airport, and spent the day at sea aboard the fleet flagship California in conference with Admiral William V. Pratt, battle fleet commander-in-chief. Today, Secretary Warner will board the California for a two-day conference with Admiral Pratt and his staff regarding fleet aviation.

Tomorrow both Admiral Moffett and Mr. Warner will be present at the opening of the National Air Races at Mines Field.

His researches and demonstration on clinical applications of abnormal and normal growth and regeneration of bone-muscle joints won him the award.

SWEEPING BRIBE QUIZ DEMANDED

Attorney for Sweeney Asks None be Shielded

Conference Discusses Need of Wide Inquiry

Convicted Gas Man May Tell Story, Lawyer Says

A demand that the grand jury investigation into the charges made by E. E. Sweeney, former land and tax agent of the Southern California Gas Company, of asserted graft conditions in the City Hall, be sweeping in character and carried on regardless of who it may hit, was made yesterday by Joseph W. Ryan, former deputy District Attorney and counsel for Sweeney.

Ryan was called into conference with Thomas F. Cooke, foreman of the grand jury and Deputy Dist.-Atty. Eagan, who is in charge of grand jury work in the District Attorney's office, to discuss Sweeney's appearance before the inquisitorial board. At the conclusion of the conference it was announced that the investigation will be held in abeyance until next Tuesday.

WANTS CLEAN SWEEP

At his office following the meeting Ryan said he will be inclined to counsel Sweeney against testifying before the grand jury unless the investigation is carried on with a view of getting down to the bottom of conditions in the City Hall and "not just to cover the whole thing up."

During his trial for the embezzlement of $300,000 from the gas company on false vouchers, which resulted in his conviction, Sweeney set up defense the money had been used to obtain favors for the gas company from city officials. He named present and former representatives of the city government as asserted bribe-takers, all of whom denied his charges.

MAY BE CALLED

Since his trial closed, Sweeney has declared that he had knowledge of bribery operation of lobbyists for other concerns that will run into the hundreds of thousands of dollars. He was to have been subpoenaed before the grand jury yesterday but following the conference with his attorney it was decided to wait until next Tuesday.

Mr. Cooke and Deputy Dist.-Atty. Eagan denied they are considering appealing to Gov. Young to appoint Lieut.-Gov. Fitts as special prosecutor to assist the grand jury in carrying on its investigation. Commenting on the report Atty. Ryan expressed a belief it would not be the proper procedure.

FIFTY GIVEN GRAND JURY INDICTMENT

Federal Body Puts in Heavy Day Following Vacation of Six Weeks

After a long session yesterday the Federal grand jury returned indictments against fifty persons on numerous charges. The jury, having been on vacation for six weeks, had an accumulation of work ahead of it and worked throughout the day.

The charges include violations of the Immigration Act, the National Prohibition Act, the Tariff Act, the Counterfeiting Act and Dyer Act.

Leo Strawn and Peter Vasquez are charged with counterfeiting. Boyd Canfield is accused of forgery of narcotic prescriptions. Joe Loukowski is accused of violating the Counterfeiting Act. Anna Woods is accused of forgery of a narcotic prescription.

A large number of the cases involve violations of the immigration laws and the Tariff Act, which includes the importation of liquor.

Commission Trying to Place Orange County Project

Seattle Banker Proposes New Coast Network

Radio Brings New Note Into National Politics

BY DR. RALPH L. POWER

Here is a digest of the week's radio news from Washington. Of local interest particularly is the fact that the Radio Commission is trying to find a place in the broadcast spectrum for the newly incorporated Pacific Broadcasting Federation of Los Angeles, which proposes to erect a superstation in Orange county with remote-control studios in various focal points in California, Nevada and Arizona.

The promoters of the project intend to broadcast cultural programs as a protest against "the prevalent debauchery of the air," if their license is granted.

NETWORK TO ENLARGE

Coast interest is also given to the proposed network projected by Adolph Linden, Seattle banker, who visited Washington this week.

He says he expects to hook up with a Los Angeles and Salt Lake City station in a few weeks and perhaps others later to the Northwest chain.

The network now includes KJR, Seattle; KEX, Portland; KGA, Spokane, and KYA, San Francisco.

Another radio item tells us that most radio-equipment sales are made on the installment plan, according to the Department of Commerce electrical division, with the statement continuing that the largest percentage of deferred payment sales is in the Pacific group of States, California, Oregon and Washington.

LOCAL EXPERT TALKS

Radio has brought a new note to politics, according to a talk yesterday at the National Radio Show in Ambassador auditorium, by H. L. Harper, Los Angeles voice-amplication expert.

Through introduction of radio public address and music-reproducer systems which mingle the low and high notes with an accuracy that permits speakers to make their utterances virtually in a whisper, Harper declared the days of the old-time shouting political orator are done.

An address system, of the kind to which Harper referred, is in daily use at the radio show, he pointed out, and is bringing a new tonal touch to the music and talks there.

This new system is being tried out in Los Angeles for the first time, having been shipped here by the Graybar Electric Company for the purpose direct from New York.

SPEAKER UNITS POWERFUL

One of the horns used at the radio show recently was used in a test address in New York, it was said, in which the speakers' voices were tossed across the Hudson River and were distinctly heard on the New Jersey side.

The exposition was visited yesterday by Navajo, Zumi, Arapahoe, Mission, Crow, Cherokee and Choctaw Indians, who are here from Arizona and New Mexico for a pow-wow today and until Monday at the site of the proposed Ramona Village on West Washington Boulevard. In full regalia of their ancestors, the braves presented a striking appearance as they stalked in and out, among the booths containing the world's latest great discovery.

CHINESE STUDENTS EN ROUTE

Bound east to enter leading universities, a body of 120 Chinese students direct from the Orient will arrive in Los Angeles by special train over the Santa Fe from San Francisco tomorrow at 7:45 a.m., and spend the day here. The special will depart for Chicago at 8 p.m.

The students are the pick of the republic and include both young men and women who have passed the required entrance examinations. It is planned to take them for a round of sightseeing while here, to include a visit to the moving-picture studios and other points of interest.

NEW RADIO'S TONE RANGE ASTONISHES

Fifty to 5000 Cycles Per Second Covered by Improved Apparatus

More than ordinary interest is attached at the Gilfillan display booths at the Los Angeles radio show this week because these radio receivers are distinctly a local product.

W. W. Lindsay, chief engineer for Gilfillan Brothers and a member of the Institute of Radio Engineers, has been at the exposition much of the time to explain queries about the Gilfillah line, its tonal qualities, selectivity and range.

For those who are interested in Gilfillan radio sets, Mr. Lindsay has prepared the following data:

Those who have studied the physics of sound know that there are very distinct limits that the human ear can distinguish. Experts in acoustics tell us that the lowest musical sound that can be heard is produced by the great bourbon pipe of the organ. This vibrates at the rate of sixteen cycles or vibrations per second. Going to the other end of the sound scale it has been found that the piccolo's highest note vibrates at the rate of 4608 cycles per second.

Now as all these sounds have what are called overtones or harmonics to make them what they are, their presence is necessary in radio reproduction to produce realism, brilliance and definition; that is, a sound full of its overtones has a richness and naturalness to it that makes it most lovely and enjoyable.

The new Gilfillan radio models for the coming season have what is called a "uniformly amplified audio range." This means that each tone, low or high, receives the necessary and corresponding amplifications in the radio and audio stages of the instrument, bringing out the full measure of its harmonics or overtones. By concentrating the laboratory research on tone quality and tone range, the new models have been given a tone range of between fifty and 5000 vibrations or cycles per second—the widest tone range in radio. Compare this with the human voice range, which is only from the low bass notes of sixty vibrations, to the high soprano notes of about 1300 vibrations per second and it will be appreciated that the Gilfillan claim of widest tone range is supported by the facts.

DOHENY MAKES GIFT TO LOYOLA

Oil Man Starts Building Fund With $100,000

City's Leaders Gather to Discuss Campaign

Speakers Picture University as Step Forward

Loyola University scored the first point in its $4,000,000 building-fund campaign yesterday when E. L. Doheny announced a contribution of $100,000 at a business meeting of the Central Committee at the Biltmore.

Mr. Doheny spoke briefly on the urgency for producing concrete results from the committee meetings and suited the action to the word by offering his contribution. He added that this sum did not constitute the total amount he will subscribe.

FIRST OF COMMITTEE

Yesterday's meeting was the first of business sessions of the Central Committee and was attended by approximately fifty men of Los Angeles in an effort to put the campaign into motion. James Woods, chairman, presided. He explained the work thus far hand been largely preliminary with a view to creating the proper interest in the campaign. The 12th inst., he said, will find the work actively under way.

Judge Louis Myers, general chairman, urged that the buildings for the new university should be so substantial that they will endure for all time as a lasting monument.

It was emphasized by Harry Chandler that Loyola University will be a strong factor in combating intolerance and will at the same time perform a constructive and economic service to the community.

PICTURE MAN TALKS

Louis B. Mayer, vice-president of Metro-Goldywn Mayer Corporation said working for this cause offered men of vision the opportunity to perpetuate their names in the interests of a lasting contribution to Southern California and at the same time to do something constructive for youth.

Pointing out that it is the colleges of England which have made her history, Joseph Scott said:

"Oxford and Cambridge may serve as examples of universities in which the one thing required of prince and pauper alike is that they serve. The royal road to success is reached only by hard work and it is in a university like Loyola where this very thing is emphasized as a part of the development of character. Here boys will always have before them the example of service and sacrifice, tolerance and kindliness, and yet no matter what his faith, the virility of his own religious beliefs will be left unimpaired. Loyola University occupies a place here different from that of any other institution and we must stand back of it to show our boys we are taking the proper interest in them."

PLEDGES SUPPORT

Father Sullivan pledged his support and the support of the university faculty to the task of giving to Los Angeles an institution which will serve the needs of the city's youth in the best manner possible.

The campaign is for the purpose of raising funds for the erection of seventeen university buildings on the 100 acre tract in the Del Rey hills. Construction has started on the arts and faculty buildings.

NEWS OF THE CAFES

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Stevens, proprietors of Stevens's Coffee Shop, opposite the Commodore Hotel in West Seventh street, state that the exceptional success of their eating establishment is due to the personal attention which they endeavor to give each patron. Also, much credit is due C. A. Schroeder, head of the culinary department, and his assistant, Fred Macker, who have been with them since the day they opened, nearly three years ago, Mr. Stevens recently said.

COLLEGIANS TO FOREGATHER

Seeking diversion before the opening of the near-by universities, college students in numbers have made reservations for the special week-end dance this evening and the tea dansant tomorrow afternoon at the new Roosevelt Hotel in Hollywood, it is reported.

The collegians will have as their host and hostess two well-known film stars, who will present the new gold-and-silver Roosevelt medals in the dancing contest that is a weekly feature of the affairs, arranged by Proff L. Moore, director of amusements at the film colony hostelry.

AIR RACES FEATURED

Frank Reiter, manager of Oaks Tavern, announces that starting next Sunday a new revue entitled "Wings" will be presented in his cafe noon and evenings to commemorate the opening Saturday of the National Air Races at Mines Field. Each guest will receive a miniature aeroplane and will participate in mock races to be held in the Tavern. An exceptionally fine musical program has also been arranged for the occasion.

SANDWICHES IN DEMAND

Carl Jahnke reports that the new electrical machine for toasting sandwiches recently installed in his cafe in West Ninth street near Broadway has more than doubled his sandwich business both at noon and evening. Shoppers and theatergoers have commented on the exceptionally fine flavor of these new toasted sandwiches and "acclaim them superior to any they have yet tasted."

MUSICAL GANG POPULAR

Billy McGee and his "Musical Gang" are the chief reasons for the growing popularity of Will Morrissey's College Inn, located in Palisades Del Rey, it is said. "Not only are the boys proficient musicians, but they are adept in other lines as well, such as singing and dancing," McGee states.

In addition to Will Morrissey and Midgie Miller with her glorious girls, an Italian troupe presenting songs and dances is also a nightly attraction. "Shore Dinners," with sea foods in season and chicken and steak dinners are featured in this attractive night club.

IMPROMPTU ENTERTAINMENT

With Mickey Walker as master of ceremonies and stars of stage and screen presenting an infinite variety of impromptu entertainment, Frank Sebastian's popular Cotton Club Cafe will again take on the aspects of a gay New York night club this evening.

WIGS TO BE FEATURE

Sadye Nathan, wig maker for Mary Pickford, Norma Talmadge, Bebe Daniels and other picture actresses, has been appointed wig designer for the Pom Pom, Hollywood. Her first assignment is a group of colored wigs to be worn by the eight "blazing babies" in the new "Follies Bergere" revue tonight.

These wigs are tinted in royal orchid, moonbeam silver, oriental titian, spun gold, peacock blue, Killarney emerald, burnt orange and taffy pink. Some are bobbed, others are in curls, and the spun gold carries out the Mother Eve motif.

Apparatus at Show Like That of Sound Films

New dynamic receivers like those used in motion-picture sound recording have been functioning all this week in the public address system at the National Radio Show at the Ambassador Auditorium, according to H. T. Simmons, sales manager of the Graybar Electric Company, which supplied the apparatus to the show.

The system, which is declared to represent the last word in public address and music reproducer devices, according to Mr. Simmons, blends the high notes of the violin with the low basso of the pipe organ, together with all intervening pitches, thereby producing a well-modulated and virtually perfect rendition. An air of intimacy is engendered, so that a whisper into the microphone is heard by the crowds in the center of the large building.

Aeroscape Book to Be Given Out

A booklet showing California aeroscapes has been prepared by Western Air Express, Inc., and will be distributed to visitors at the aeronautical exposition at Mines Field, with the aim of providing a new means of advertising the State in the East.

The booklet contains photographs in natural colors of some of the most beautiful spots in the State and also gives information as to the complete air-transport facilities in California.

The booklets will be distributed with the understanding that they be sent east by air mail, and postal facilities will be provided at the company's booth.

GOOD-WILL CHILDREN PLAN SCHOOL FETE

A regular "Last Day of School" program is to be given by the children of the Daily Vacation Guild of the Goodwill Industries of Southern California in the chapel, 342 North Main street, today at 2:30 p.m. At this time thirty-five school-age children of working mothers, who have been kept off the street and constructively occupied during the vacation days, will exhibit their learning and handcraft.

One hour each morning has been taken with chapel and Bible instruction and the remainder of the day spent at the Macy-street school in the regular summer course.

Specially invited guests at this "last day" are the ladies of the woman's auxiliary of the Goodwill Industries, who have sponsored the summer school.

COMEDY "FILLS IN" WITH GOOD HUMOR

"Puppy Love," Pasadena Effort, Belongs in Wholesome Fun Category

BY MURIEL BABCOCK

It should be a very good hot-weather show, this "Puppy Love," which the Pasadena Community Players are presenting this week and next.

The play, a farce comedy, is, according to the advance billing, "an animated picture of modern youth doing a nose dive into love's young dream and escaping with nothing more than a double wedding, a wrecked automobile and a garage which needs the attention of a good carpenter."

"Puppy Love" is all of this. In addition, it is light, rollicking in its fun and merry-eyed in its outlook upon life. It belongs distinctly in the category of "clean, wholesome plays for the family." Even little Eva, or perhaps Elsie Dinamore, could be taken to see it with perfect impunity.

The Pasadena Players attempt to play it at a rapid tempo, as befits its farce nature. In so doing they miss the import of lines which the authors, the Misses Adelaide Mathews and Martha Stanley, no doubt intended to be fast, snappy and crackling with slangy wit.

As a whole, the cast oversets, most noticeably Madge Cleveland as the flapper daughter, Patrick Michael Cunning as the small town social favorite and Virginia Zykins Brown as Medora, hired help. This is probably not entirely their fault and Mr. Ralph Freud, the director, who is himself an extraordinarily good actor, must take some blame.

Richard Menefee makes a pretty capable job of his role, and I liked, as well, Blanche Phillips Coolidge seen opposite.

Interesting to know is that two members of the cast, Cunning and Robert Setter are picture actors at the Playhouse for stage training in preparation for the talkies.

"Puppy Love" will do to fill the interval in between "East Lynne" and the George Bernard Shaw drama, "The Devil's Disciple," which is next, but go to see it when you are in a light and jovial mood and capable of appreciating nonsensicalities.

CONSELMAN QUITS FOX FILM POST

Supervisor Leaves Firm After Third Year; Plans Canadian Tour

Upon his insistent request William M. Conselman, premier supervising factor under Sol Wurtzel at Fox studios, yesterday procured rescision of an exercised option on his contract and will quit the organization as soon as his two current productions are completed, it was reported last night.

Conselman, noted not only for his extraordinary cinematic rise but also as the author of successful short stories, two comic strips including the famous "Ella Cinders," now running in The Times and 190 other newspapers, will complete his third year with Fox next week.

He has supervised twelve Fox productions the last season, including "The High School Hero" and "Dressed to Kill," the original stories of which Conselman also wrote. "Silk Legs," most profitable of all Madge Bellamy vehicles; "Why Sailors Go Wrong," the Cohen-MacNamara comedy and "Making the Grade," the Movietone special soon to be released, also are Conselman productions. He is the author of a prize-winning play, "And Then, What?" produced five years ago and of a number of headline vaudeville sketches and one-act playlets.

Conselman leaves on his first day away from studio activities next week for a four weeks' tour of Canada. He may devote his future to playwriting, though even before information regarding his forthcoming departure leaked out he had offers of supervisorial posts in two other studios. Of his twelve Fox pictures this season he wrote nine, five of the nine being his own idea originals.

Crabs Climb Trees in Odd Tropic Land

The Marquesas—an island empire where umbrellas grow on bushes, crabs climb trees to gather cocoanuts, and bread is a tropical fruit.

Strikingly novel features of the island paradise in the mid-Pacific are presented in "White Shadows in the South Seas," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's first sound picture, now at Grauman's Chinese Theater.

It rains daily in the islands, and when the downpour assumes uncomfortable proportions the native Polynesian steps to the nearest tare bush and plucks one of the gigantic leaves to be used as an umbrella until the shower subsides.

Giant land crabs that climb the towering cocoanut trees and pick off the ripe nuts are pests of the island planters. Interesting views of these robber crabs at work are presented in the picture.

The staple food of the islands is breadfruit, a round, pulpy melon that grows on a tree. The rind is scraped off by the natives, the pulp baked and eaten. Preparations of this and many other strange tropical foods form many interesting scenes in the picture, which was filmed under the direction of W. S. Van Dyke in the South Seas.

Murray Revue Due Wednesday

Bud Murray, for the past twelve years with Messrs. Shubert and now stage director of "Good News," has been secured by Proprietor Frank Sebastian to stage an elaborate series of girl revues at the Cotton Club Cafe, which formally opens the 12th inst.

Bud, who is best known as the director who sent the first California girl revue to New York from Los Angeles, will introduce his second all-California revue to patrons of the Cotton Club Cafe. Some twenty personable and well-known entertainers will appear in a brand-new creation Wednesday night at the opening.

For the Man Who Laughs

GUS EDWARDS WILL ARRIVE SOON

Harold Hurley Promoted From Publicity to Producing; Rockett Leaves for East to Hire Stage Directors; Connie's Ex-Husband is Her Studio Manager

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

The first musical gag man in pictures will arrive Sunday. He is Gus Edwards, noted song writer, vaudeville impresario and musical comedy producer.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has Edwards under contract, and he will write special music and produce musical comedy and cabaret sequences for that organization's talking pictures, in addition to writing special acts for the audible screen.

Edwards is known not only for such songs as "I'll Get You," "Sunbonnet Sue," and others, but as the creator of many famous vaudeville acts, mostly with juvenile talent. He discovered "Cuddles," who later became Lila Lee of film fame; also Georgie Price, Lillian Gonne, Louise Groody and others now famous on stage and screen.

Edwards was placed under contract for the new post at the studios by Harry Rapf, on the producer's recent New York visit, and will fill one of the most important of the new studio offices created by the development of the talkies.

Harold Hurley Promoted

There's one man in Hollywood who has been giving other people columns of publicity who is now going to get a break himself, with all us newspaper people delighted to put nice pieces in the paper about him.

That man is Harold Hurley, formerly assistant to Arch Reeve, Paramount's west coast publicity director. Having told how good Lasky pictures are, he is going to have a chance to make them better. Hurley is to be given an opportunity to demonstrate his ability in the production department, according to an announcement made today by B. P. Schulberg, general manager of west coast production.

Hurley, who has been identified with motion picture publicity in both the studio and theater fields for the past decade, in the future will serve as assistant to B. P. Fineman, Paramount associate producer.

The former publicist returned from his vacation this week and at once assumed his new duties. At the time of his transfer to the production staff, Hurley occupied the post of president of the Wampas, the screen publicity men's organization, which office he resigned yesterday.

Leonard Directs Normas

Robert Z. Leonard has been selected by Irving G. Thalberg to complete "The Little Angel," Norma Shearer's first talking picture for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

NORMA SHEARER

Leonard will take up the direction of the picture where Sam Wood was forced to drop it when rushed to the Hollywood Hospital yesterday for an operation for appendicitis. While photography was stopped, Miss Shearer, Johnny Mack Brown, Gwen Lee and Lowell Sherman took advantage of the layoff and rehearsed the dialogue for several sequences which, when the silent picture is completed, will be re-photographed with voices recorded by Movietone.

Al Rockett Departing

Al Rockett, production and studio manager for First National, leaves Los Angeles Saturday night for New York. He expects to return to Hollywood with two or three stage directors under contract to supervise the making of talking pictures at the Burbank studios. He will confer with President Irving D. Rossheim on production plans, and discuss with Mrs. Florence Strauss, head of the scenario department, new stories for the company. He will also complete arrangements for the new sound stages at the studio.

AL ROCKETT

Several units of these stages are to be built and equipped with reproducing equipment of the Electrical Research Products, Inc.

During Rockett's absence in the East, production plans will be handled by Robert North, his assistant.

Connie's Ex Her Supervisor

What a small place the world is, after all, as the old Cook tourists used to say.

Who do you think is acting as studio manager at Rex Ingram's plant in Nice, where Constance Talmadge is to make her United Artists picture? None other than her last ex-husband, Capt. Alistaire McIntosh!

Miss Talmadge is already on the bounding main, on her way to Europe. Since Miss Talmadge divorced Capt. McIntosh, he has married an English girl.

As Norma Talmadge does not commence work on her next United Artists picture until January, it is quite likely that she may take a trip to Nice to be with her sister.

CONSTANCE TALMADGE

Corrinne Griffith Leaving

Corinne Griffith is leaving for New York the middle of next week to spend a several weeks' vacation, doing nothing except viewing shows and attending parties. Her husband and business manager, Walter Morosco, will accompany the First National star.

Her next picture will be "Saturday's Children," the scenario for which is now being prepared and cast chosen.

Actress Deaf to Rifle-Fire Outside Door

Charlotte Merriam, picture player, yesterday tested out a sound-proof building designed and built by the John M. Cooper Company in conjunction with J. H. Hadfield, acoustical engineer.

Test was made for the purpose of determining whether this type of construction was efficient and economical. F. L. Bishop, vice-president of the Califelt Insulation Company, whose product was used in the walls of the building, banged away at the door with a 30-30 rifle while Miss Merriam stayed inside.

"I had to believe my ears," said Miss Merriam. "The silence was absolute!" Her opinion is concurred in by Dr. Bern A. Knudsen of the University of California, and Prof. Floyd R. Watson of the University of Illinois, well-known authorities on acoustics and sound-proof construction, who inspected and approved the building.

"RUNNIN' WILD" LATE MATINEE A MAGNET

Prominent theatrical stars and players will attend the jubilee midnight showing of "Runnin' Wild" at the Mason Theater Saturday night, the management states. These will include performers from almost every theater in Los Angeles, who, because of their work, are unable to view the "high-brown" show at any other time.

Midnight shows of musical comedies originated with "Shuffle Along," the older brother of "Runnin' Wild," it is said. Because of its popularity in New York among show folks who could not see it during the week, Miller and Lyle, the producers, staged it at midnight. Attendance was so great that it was continued as a regular feature.

CHILDREN OF OLDER STARS ACT

Second Generation Seen in "Four Sons," Opening at Metropolitan

"Four Sons," the Fox special film which starts a one-week engagement at the Metropolitan today, has more representatives of a notable second generation than possibly any other film.

Francis X. Bushman, Jr., son of the matinee idol of early screen days, plays one of the title roles. Ruth Mix, a daughter of Tom Mix, celebrated cowboy star, is following in her father's footsteps for the same company. June Collyer, granddaughter of Dan Collyer, well-known on the stage as a comedian for more than half a century, has a leading part.

Ferdinand Schumann-Heink, a son of Mme. Schumann-Heink, famous as a grand opera diva, also appears in this picture, depicting an army surgeon in a small town garrison. The story parallels to an extraordinary degree some of the experiences of Mme. Schumann-Heink's own family in the war, with brother against brother.

Films, Talkies and Stage Act Comprise Bill

The silent drama, the talkies and the stage—the three mediums of modern-day showmanship, are represented in the new program at Loew's State starting today.

The photoplay offering is Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's screen version of the French farce, "The Cardboard Lover," which scored a decisive hit on Broadway. It depicts the humorous and risque adventures of an American college girl in Monte Carlo, who is hired by a Parisian Adonis to protect him from the alluring charms of what is described alliteratively as a voluptuous vamp-pire who has set her cap for him. Marion Davies is the star of the picture; Jetta Goudal plays the "vamp" and Nils Asther is the gentleman who causes the strife between the two.

A Fox Movietone novelty, "Schubert's Serenade," with voices, song and the violin audible, and the talking news weekly, are the sound features of the screen program. Billy Sunday, his hymn leader, Homer Rodeheaver and 12,000 people singing; William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, in his address; the Elks' Opera Chorus, and others of national prominence are seen and heard in the news reel.

Fanchon and Marco present their "Orientale" idea on the stage, with Jue Fong, Mosby's Blue Blowers, oriental girls and others. Al Lyons is master of ceremonies.

Popular Heavy Seen Locally in Two Hits

Noah Beery is enjoying the distinction of being featured in two of the most important film undertakings of the season, both locally current.

At the Biltmore he is a motivating Cecil B. De Mille protagonist in "The Godless Girl," with Lina Basquette, George Duryea, Marie Prevost and Eddie Quillan also prominent.

In "Two Lovers," the "farewell" of Ronald Colman and Vilma Banky, at the United Artists' Theater, Noah is the Duc d'Alba.

Soon the player will be seen in "Noah's Ark," the Warner Brothers Vitaphone special scheduled to be disclosed here, in all likelihood, at Grauman's Chinese Theater.

Lines Form at Theater Early for War Drama

The luster of the Paramount air picture, "Wings," is still as great as ever. This was indicated yesterday at the Criterion Theater, where the special opened for its first popular showing.

A line of fans, two blocks long, extending from the theater to Seventh street, and down Seventh to Olive, was on hand when the doors were opened at 11 o'clock.

War in the air!

The fascination of a mighty conflict sways all races, all ages—this was indicated in the representation in the throng which awaited the initial performance.

With its spectacular sound effects, the deadly hum of the German planes, the rat-a-tat of machine guns, the crash of a fallen winged warrior, the boom of the mighty guns—"Wings" lives up to its asserted slogan—"an epic of the air."

Figueroa Sound Film Stars Dix

"Warming Up," starring Richard Dix, opens at the Figueroa for a week's run today. This fast-moving baseball story is Paramount's first sound picture, and presents the popular star in a novel characterization. Jean Arthur, new screen "find," makes her debut in the film as Dix's leading lady.

Two Vitaphone acts will also be featured on the new bill, including Hobart Bosworth in "A Man of Peace," and Brown and Whitaker in a comedy skit, "In the Park."

SOCIETY

One of the prettily appointed weddings of the early fall was that of last Sunday when at 6:30 o'clock Miss Louise Margaret Caddell, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Winfield Caddell of Covina, became the bride of Harold Woodworth Kennedy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Kennedy of Pomona, the ceremony taking place in Trinity Episcopal Church with Rev. M. L. Kain officiating.

Miss Thelma Burke presided at the organ and as the guests were assembled Mrs. F. H. Richards, sister of the bride, sang several numbers. Miss Mary Hare of Los Angeles was maid of honor while Justin McMurray Kennedy served his brother as best man, little Richard Calhoun carried the ring and Nancy Lee Richards was the dainty flower girl, and Archie Nisbet and Holton Dickson were ushers.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was charming in a gown of ivory satin with veil of tulle held in place by a coronet of pearls and orange blossoms and she carried butterfly rosebuds, gardenias and lilies of the valley.

Miss Hare wore a frock of pink taffeta with blue velvet trimmings and carried pink rosebuds and blue delphinium, while the flower girl was in blue over pink silk, a picture hat of the same shades completing the dainty costume.

Immediately following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy left for a motor honeymoon to British Columbia and after their return will make their home here.

HEALTH and DIET ADVICE

By Dr Frank McCoy
author of "Ten Years' war to Health"

Dr. McCoy will answer personal questions on health and diet, addressed to him, care of The Los Angeles Times. Inclose stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

Dr. McCoy's menus suggested for the week beginning Sunday, September 9, 1928:

Sunday—Breakfast: Coddled eggs, retoasted shredded wheat biscuit, stewed or ripe figs with cream. Lunch: Baked eggplant, cooked celery, sliced tomatoes on lettuce. Dinner: Tomato and celery soup, roast veal, string beans, stuffed beet salad, ice cream.

Monday — Breakfast: Waffle, broiled ham, applesauce. Lunch: Melon or any one kind of fresh fruit all desired. Dinner: Broiled steak, spinach, combination salad of tomatoes, celery, and cucumbers, Baked peaches.

Tuesday—Breakfast: Poached egg, Melba toast, stewed apricots. Lunch: Baked potato, string beans, lettuce. Dinner: Roast mutton, baked ground beets, McCoy salad, Jello or Jellwell.

Wednesday—Breakfast: Cottage cheese, fresh or canned peaches. Lunch: Cooked carrots and peas, raw celery. Dinner: Boiled lean beef, mashed turnips, salad of cold cooked asparagus on lettuce, prune whip.

Thursday—Breakfast: Baked eggs, crisp bacon, Melba toast, stewed raisins. Lunch: Fresh pears as desired, with handful of pecan nuts. Dinner: Roast pork, zucchini, salad of sliced cucumbers, baked apple.

Friday—Breakfast: Toasted breakfast food, with cream or milk. Lunch: Maccaroni, spinach, head of lettuce. Dinner: Baked white fish, stewed tomatoes, string bean salad, plain Jello or Jell-well, no cream.

Saturday — Breakfast: Coddled eggs, Melba toast, stewed prunes. Lunch: One pint of buttermilk, ten or twelve dates. Dinner: Nut loaf, buttered beets, sliced tomatoes on lettuce, baked pears.

"Baked peaches: Peel and halve the desired number of large, ripe peaches. If the fresh peaches are not procurable use the canned ones. Heap into each half a tablespoonful or more of ground seedless raisins and bake for about twenty minutes with a little water in a tightly covered pan. Serve hot or cold with cream.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Question: J. L. asks: "Can a person be anemic and have high blood pressure at the same time?"

Answer: It is possible to have anemia and high blood pressure at the same time, as high blood pressure is caused either by hyper-tension of the arteries, or due to hardening of the arterial walls. Anemia is a condition where there is a lack of red blood cells and hemoglobin.

Q.: W. H. J. asks: "What is a pignolia?"

A.: A pignolia is the same as the pine nut, a seed of the pine tree which is frequently used in confectionery and eaten raw, roasted and salted as are other nuts. Most of them are imported from Italy, Spain and France, but some excellent varieties are raised in Mexico and the western States. They are an excellent food, rich in protein and fats and may be used as the principal part of a protein meal.

Q.: R. S. asks: "Will you please explain what is meant by an internal bath? One woman I know is drinking a quart of warm water night and morning, and another is using two quarts of warm water as an enema night and morning. Which is correct? Also, is a warm tub-bath all right when one hasn't a shower?"

A.: When the term "internal bath," is used it usually refers to a washing of the colon by what is otherwise known as an enema. It is true that one can wash out the stomach by drinking large quantities of water, but this has a very different effect upon the intestines, as the water is absorbed mostly in the stomach. You can arrange a very satisfactory shower by securing one of the shower attachments which connects with your bathtub faucet. A shower can then be taken while sitting or squatting in the bathtub. It is better to use cool or cold water, as the warm water is always enervating.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Papier Mache

An occasional washing is necessary with papier mache ornaments, but great care must be taken with them. Wash with a soft cloth moistened in warm water (just dampened, not wet.) Let dry and then rub the article well with a little sweet oil. Papier mache articles should be dusted frequently and regularly so that they do not gather dust and make them difficult to clean.

The New Covers

The new ironing board covers have eyelets and lacers and one can remove them easily to launder and return them to the board with no more trouble. Be sure to ask for this sort when purchasing a new one. The material is a durable unbleached muslin.

Storing Newspapers

Stored newspapers will not be unsightly if baled together in five or ten-pound bundles, then marked with crayon as to their weight. You will find you will get a better price for them from the junk man if you have weighed them yourself. The junk man's scales frequently register under weight.

Geneva, Switzerland, is to have a new $1,000,000 rayon manufacturing company.

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope, forwarded to this office, will bring a personal reply.

This department offers aid on weaning and feeding the child from 2 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema, colitis for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, kinky, wavy, rupture, stres and boils and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

THE WAYS OF SOME MOTHERS WITH THEIR CHILDREN

A summer resort is an excellent place in which to observe mothers and children. If there is ever a time when a child's good manners and habits serve him well it is in these hectic places, where discipline goes by the boards and the loudest shriekers get the most favors. Incidentally there is much justifiable pride and an equal amount of mortification for conscientious and slack mothers.

The history of most of the meals would fill a book entitled "The Wrong Way to Handle Children" and gave me much food for thought on the futility of the written word, as against dyed-in-the-wool convictions. One can denunciate loudly against the utter uselessness of forcing children to eat, but from every table one sees fond, but often distracted mothers, hustling each spoonful into a reluctant mouth; picturing the "grandness" of this and that vegetable; and growing positively livid at a refusal.

And usually the child doesn't eat, in spite of all this. One wonders what satisfaction the parent gets out of such heated battles when the victory is always to the weak. But we didn't intend to talk about food.

"Agnes" was a huge, inflated, rubber seal which was intended for the water, but never left dry land. On its fat back the smaller children jumped. They lugged Agnes about, they kissed her ugly, gray face, they adored her. One night Elaine's mother came to where Bobby, aged 9, and her daughter were romping. "Just a few minutes more, darling, and then you will be going to bed."

"I'll go right away, mother," said Elaine, "if you'll sit on Agnes's back."

"I don't want to, darling. I would feel so silly."

"Please, please, please," pleaded the excited children, and Bobby in his eagerness grasped her arm and pulled and hauled at her. Unable to get away from the two of them, the mother turned to her daughter and said helplessly:

"See what Bobby is doing to your mother!"

It worked like magic. Elaine flew to her mother's defense, loosened Bobby's clinging hands and bidding him good-night went off happily clinging to her mother's arm. She had all the airs of a rescuer.

One can think of so many, many ways in which the average mother might have bungled this situation, that this little lesson in tact, and the use of just the right plea at the right time, struck this observer as particularly effective.

TRADE CLUB AT WORK ON CONVENTION

Imposing Schedule Fixed for Pacific Convention Meeting Here Shortly

Members of the Foreign Trade Club are making preparation for the convention of the Pacific Foreign Trade Council which, for the first time, will meet in this city from the 18th to 20th inst., inclusive. Delegates and speakers from every city on the Pacific Coast, including Canada and Mexico, will attend. Gov. Young and other leaders in civic and business affairs will be guests of honor.

Sessions will be held at the Biltmore Hotel commencing at 10 a.m. on the 18th inst., at which time the council's president, William Pigott of Seattle, will call the meeting to order. Gov. Young will issue the welcoming message for the State and Mayor Cryer for the city.

Among speakers will be Henry F. Grady, dean of the college of commerce of the University of California; Gurney C. Newlin, president of the American Bar Association; Donald M. Conn of the California Vineyardists' Association, E. W. Clark, American Petroleum Institute; John Matthews, Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, United States Department of Commerce; Russell H. Ballard, Southern California Edison Company; William A. Schoenfeld, United States Department of Agriculture; Charles A. Allen, United States Shipping Board; Frank Foisie, Waterfront Employers' Association of Seattle; Capt. S. Steele Sandberg, United States Shipping Board; A. P. Haines, Pacific Steamship Company; B. C. FISH SALAD IN ASPIC

Soak one and one-half tablespoonfuls of gelatine in one-third of a cupful of cold water twenty minutes, and dissolve in three-quarters of a cupful of hot fish consomme. Strain into a cold bowl, place over cracked ice, and when it starts to thicken, beat until frothy and beat into it one cupful of stiffly whipped cream, one cupful of chilled and flaked cooked salmon with the skin and bones removed, one teaspoonful of lemon juice, and a seasoning of salt and paprika, pour into a wet mold, set in the ice box and when firm, unmold on a lettuce covered plate, and garnish with capers, lemon slices, chopped pimentoes, parsley branches, and radish roses. Serve with a lemon mayonnaise.

BAKED APPLE TAPIOCA

Cover half a cupful of pearl tapioca, with two and one-half cupfuls of cold water and let stand over night, place in a double boiler and add a half teaspoonful of cinnamon, half a teaspoonful of salt, and half a cupful of currant jelly, one cupful of peeled, cored and chopped apples, four tablespoonfuls of seedless raisins, two well-beaten eggs, half a cupful of sugar, and two tablespoonfuls of cooking sherry, or orange juice; heat thoroughly, pour into a buttered pudding mold, place in the oven and bake until brown.

CALIFORNIA SALAD

Peel and cut in dice two medium sized oranges, remove all of the white membrane, peel two firm ripe bananas and cut in quarter-inch slices, peel and seed one pound of firm ripe grapes; bread two dozen walnut halves in coarse pieces, mix the oranges, bananas, walnuts and half a cupful of lemon French dressing in a cold bowl, chill, drain out and serve on lettuce covered plates.

SWEET CORN PUDDING

Grate six ears of corn into a bowl and add to them two tablespoonfuls of melted butter, half a teaspoonful of salt and the well-beaten yolks of two eggs, beat well and fold in the stiffly beaten whites of the two eggs, pour the mixture in a buttered baking dish and bake in a quick oven for thirty minutes.

Mrs. Wyman does not reply to letters, but requests for recipes are answered in the department, "PRACTICAL RECIPES," published every Tuesday.—(All rights to reproduce reserved by A. L. Wyman.)

The LAST WORD

By ALMA WHITAKER

MADAME CHAIRMAN

Madame Chairman, charmingly garbed, arose to preside at the literature-section luncheon. Two famous authors were the speakers of the occasion, and several lesser lights had to be introduced.

At first Madame Chairman spoke with slight hesitation, a little anxiously, carefully. But presently she was more self-confident and her introduction of the famous authors, showing as it did a knowledge of their works and personalities, proved most happy and successful. The club was proud of this new chairman of the literature section of this one of the largest and most influential clubs in the metropolis.

When a most satisfactory program was completed and we were all making ready to depart, Madame Chairman came in for her full share of the compliments. She looked gracefully flushed, triumphant, and happy.

"Can I give you a lift home?" she asked me presently, I being one of the few rare duffers left who cannot drive a car. So that's how it came about that Madame Chairman took me into her confidence.

"I really was all right, wasn't I?" she asked presently. And I could say most veraciously that she certainly was.

"You know, it has been a great day for me—my first job as a presiding chairman. It will stand out as a big milestone in my life. You know my family was very, very poor when we were little. My older sister and I never went beyond the fourth grade in school. We all had to work or help mother at home, and father had such a dreadful time.

"When I married Robert I was such an ignorant girl, and so shabby. Robert was much better educated than I, but he wasn't rich, and fortunately I knew all about economy. He seemed rich to me, of course, and I loved making $5 go as far as anyone else's $20. The babies came along pretty soon—so I couldn't go in for much self-education. But Robert introduced me to good literature and we read together after the babies were asleep. Robert really educated me.

"By and by, when the children were older and in high school, and Robert's affairs were prosperous, I attended some summer courses in English at the university, with my older girl. After that I joined this club—and they had no meeker or more humble member than I. That was four years ago, and this year they gave me the chairmanship of the literature section. Can't you see how thrilling it is. My husband and children are just as proud and conceited about it as though I had done something really distinguished. I was able to talk about those authors' works so sagely, because Robert had read some of them with me, posted me on all the outstanding points of their personalities. Dear Robert, I owe him so much.

"The club, too, has meant so much to me. Growing older has been a joy to me all along. I can't think how any women could resist growing older. Every age has brought me greater happiness. My childhood was very unhappy—it was for all of us. But age has brought us all growth, improvement, both mentally and in living conditions. Every tiny advance in our improved conditions has been thrilling to me. It has been wonderful, utterly enthralling, to be able to give our children the education I was denied. It has been even more thrilling catching up with them, and best of all having Robert so happy in watching my mental progress. You can not imagine what an ignorant girl my Robert married," she laughed, tenderly.

So just attending a literature section luncheon provided me with a charming little life—drama. I, too, rejoiced with Madame Chairman.

Rival Claimant to Stage Name Now in Dis... Informs Judge by Letter She Will Not Be ... Court for Hearing Today

Presiding Judge McComb received a letter from a woman yesterday, but he declined to let it annoy him.

"She means Judge Gates," he explained.

The letter is from Miss Mildred Bromley and is somewhat tart in tone. How, Miss Bromley, wants to know, is a girl going to defend her right to use her stage name in Los Angeles when she is in Denver? And anyway she doesn't particularly care about using it in Los Angeles right now, so why should she be bothered with a lawsuit over the matter?

As Judge McComb pointed out, these are questions Judge Gates will have to answer today. For today is the day for the hearing of Elizabeth Page's application for an injunction to prohibit Miss Bromley from using the name "Anne Howe," which Miss Page says is exclusively her own.

Several days ago Miss Page started her suit. At that time Miss Bromley was playing at a downtown vaudeville house. Miss Page said she was appearing as "Anne Howe." She put up a surety bond and Judge McComb, in routine proceedings, restrained Miss Bromley from using the name until today, when the quarrel was set down for a hearing before Judge Gates.

In the meantime vaudeville has called Miss Bromley to Denver, where the writs of the California courts mean little ... letter she can't be ...

WEDDING HAS WIDE INTEREST

Newspaper-World Romance Revealed

Mr. and Mrs. Sim W. Crabill

GREAT will be the interest among their many friends when they read this morning of the wedding of Mrs. Bertha Just and Sim W. Crabill, manager of the Times-Mirror Printing and Binding House, which took place last evening at the home of the latter's daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Alter, 508 South Van Ness avenue.

Before a gathering of thirty-five relatives and close friends, the ceremony was performed by Dr. Bruce Baxter of the University of Southern California, with Jacob Baum serving as best man and Mrs. George C. House, sister of the bride, assisting her as matron of honor. Master Richard Alter was ring bearer and his small sister, Caroline, was flower girl. Preceding the ceremony there were solos by Nell Lockwood Josephs and Harold Procter.

Immediately following the ceremony a wedding supper was served in a private dining-room at the Jonathatn Club, after which the bride and bridegroom left for an extended motor trip to Del Monte, San Francisco and Lake Tahoe. Mr. and Mrs. Crabill will return home the latter part of the month and after October 1 will make their home at Crabill Cottage, Rustic Canyon, at the Uplifters Club, Santa Monica.

Decorations were carried out in pink and orchid dahlias and blue delphinium. A background of ferns with tall baskets of the blossoms and cathedral candles formed the altar before which the ceremony took place.

Mrs. Crabill has been a member of the Times-Mirror organization ten years, the last seven of which she served in the capacity of office manager of the American Engraving Company. She is a graduate of Syracuse University and for a number of years has been an ardent piano student under Thilo Becker. She has also been an active club worker.

Mr. Crabill has been identified with the Times-Mirror Company for many years, having started his service in 1894. Since October 1, 1910 he has been manager of the printing and binding house and subsidiary concerns. He has also been engaged actively with Masonic affairs in Los Angeles. He is a Past-Commander of the Golden West Commandery, No. 43, and last year was the Potentate of Al Malaikah Shrine. He is a past-president of the Uplifters Club.

Following is the list of guests who attended the ceremony: Mr. and Mrs. Richard Alter, Mr. and Mrs. George C. House, Dr. and Mrs. Samuel M. Alter, Mr. and Mrs. J. Baum, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Musgrove, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Chandler, Miss Constance Chandler, F. X. Pfaffinger, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Bell, Dr. and Mrs. Louis Josephs, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Altman, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Evans, Dr. and Mrs. Frank McCoy, Miss Olive Milner, Charles E. Crabill, O. J. Rhode, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard F. Alfs, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore P. Peirce, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Procter and Mr. and Mrs. Louis M. Cole.

FUNERAL SERVICES ARRANGED

Final Tribute to Be Paid Mrs. Rebecca Fulmer Tomorrow Morning

Mrs. Rebecca Fulmer, 80 years of age, mother of Misses Grace and Maude Fulmer, heads of an exclusive girls' school here, passed away at the Queen of the Angels Hospital yesterday noon.

Funeral services will be conducted Saturday morning at 11:30 o'clock from the chapel of Bresee Brothers' mortuary, 855 South Figueroa street. The body will be sent to Marshalltown, Iowa, for interment.

Mrs. Fulmer broke her hip six weeks ago and it is thought the resulting shock caused her death.

A native of Hagerstown, Md., Mrs. Fulmer spent the major part of her life in Iowa. She came here in 1917 to reside with her daughters. The family residence is at 627 South St. Andrews Place.

Besides her two daughters here, Mrs. Fulmer leaves another daughter, Mrs. I. S. Rist of Oakland, and two sons, William R. Fulmer and S. Guy Fulmer, both of Chicago.

Gelatin Expert Will Appear at Cooking School

Mrs. M. R. Hare, head of the educational department of the Knox Gelatin Company of Johnstown, N. Y., will be the guest of The Times cooking school this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway, and will take an active part in the demonstration, Mrs. Maybelle (Chef) Wyman presiding.

Mrs. Wyman has accorded the introductory part of the menu to Mrs. Hare, who will demonstrate two novelties in which the product of the firm she represents will be utilized. These are molded tuna salad and angel parfait with candied fruits.

Mrs. Wyman will demonstrate chocolate nut fudge cake with butter-cream frosting, to be followed by fresh corn pudding and spradie.

COLLEGES PLAN NEW BUILDINGS

Pomona-Scripps-Claremont Group Expanding

Structures to be Erected at $1,000,000 Cost

Economics Course to Open This Semester

Significant in Southern California's collegiate development is an educational expansion and construction program to be launched with the new school year, beginning this month, by Pomona (co-educational,) Scripps (girls) and Claremont (post-graduate) colleges, occupying contiguous sites on a tract of some 500 acres at Claremont. A new economics course under supervision of nationally known educators and the erection of new buildings valued at more than $1,000,000 will materially further the co-operative plan of management under which these institutions operate.

Pomona College is to have a new auditorium of 2500 seating capacity, endowed by A. S. Bridges of San Diego, and for which the design is being prepared by William Templeton Johnson, architect, of San Diego. Mr. Bridges was the donor of the Mabel Shaw Bridges Hall of Music completed at Pomona College about eleven years ago.

There also is to be a $300,000 first unit of a men's new dormitory, being planned by the architectural firm of Webber, Staunton & Spaulding.

SCRIPPS BUILDINGS

Scripps College, which is to become more than ever a well-equipped college this year, is to have a $250,000 administration and recitation building, to be started in November, designed by Hunt & Burns. The structure will contain administrative offices, classrooms, lecture-room and an auditorium of 300 seating capacity. It will be of Italian style and will occupy a commanding site of about 311 feet by 130, at the entrance to the quadrangle on which various of the Scripps College buildings will front.

Scripps also is to have a new Mediterranean style dormitory representing an expenditure of $225,000. It has been designed by Gordon B. Kaufmann, architect, and is scheduled to be started about the first of the year.

A dormitory of similar cost just has been completed, there and one of about the same cost was completed last year.

An infirmary for the use of all branches of Claremont Colleges, may be projected for next year on a convenient site in the town of Claremont.

While Claremont College, the post-graduate institution as distinguished from the affiliation name, is theoretically in existence as regards equipment, it will continue to make use of Pomona College facilities, but a widening of its scope presages structural existence for it as soon as conditions warrant.

It already has an endowment fund of more than $1,260,000.

NEW ECONOMICS COURSE

A course in economics devoted to industry and its relationship to transportation, will be added this semester.

Dr. Frank A. Fetter, head of the department of economics at Princeton and considered one of the six foremost national authorities on that subject; Dr. Horace Secrist, director of the bureau of business research at Northwestern University, together with the economics instructors at Pomona and Scripps, will inaugurate the new economics course, both Dr. Fetter and Dr. Secrist having obtained leave of absence in order to remain at Claremont for a year.

The Claremont management feels that this economics course is of special value to Southern California, in view of the magnitude of industrial and transportation development here.

EXPANSION POSSIBILITIES

While Claremont Colleges, or the Associated Colleges of Claremont as they perhaps may become known, are not making a drive for students, it is conceivable that the three institutions now functioning there are the nucleus of an association of colleges that eventually will bring the attendance up into the thousands.

Pomona College is forty-one years old and has an enrollment limited to 750 students. The ratio of applicants for admission there is stated to be five for every student vacancy. There are eighty-seven instructors at Pomona.

Scripps College, founded on an endowment from Ellen Browning Scripps of La Jolla, was enabled to be placed in service for the first time last year by reason of the construction of its first dormitory and various temporary structures. It started off with a freshman class of fifty and will begin the new school year with a sophomore class of fifty and a freshman class of about the same number, it being planned to make the eventual limit-attendance there 250.

Pomona College's assets, based on original costs, are given as somewhat in excess of $5,690,000 and those of Scripps College, similarly figured, as somewhat more than $1,213,000. Figured on present-day replacement costs, it is estimated that the tangible assets would be doubled.

EFFECTUAL TRYOUT

While the affiliation plan at Claremont Colleges was announced in 1925 and has been in effect since the launching of Scripps College a year ago, the method, it is felt, during the ensuing year will more effectually demonstrate the purpose of preserving the close educational contact that is considered of special value in smaller colleges and yet enable the use of equipment and facilities of a large university. Thus it is planned to have available an extensive research library, specially equipped laboratories and other equipment less limited than might be the case if provided only for each college.

The plan though somewhat modeled on the Oxford method, incorporates original ideas of its sponsor, Dr. James A. Blaisdell, for eighteen years president of Pomona College and now president of Claremont Colleges.

Dr. C. K. Edmunds is president of Pomona College and Dr. E. J. Jaqua is president of Scripps.

This photographic reproduction of a perspective drawing by Architect Gordon B. Kaufmann, shows Scripps College, one of the institutions of Claremont Colleges, as it is proposed eventually to be developed. At left corner, is a $225,000 Mediterranean-style dormitory to be built next year; design by Architect Kaufmann. Back of it is a proposed chapel. At rear is shown a proposed social hall with swimming pool, tennis courts and bowling green. At rear right corner is perspective of a $250,000 administration and recitation building on which work is to be started in November; design by Hunt & Burns. At right center is a proposed library building. Next to it at extreme left end is a dormitory just completed, costing $225,000. Structure shown to left of front center is a $225,000 dormitory completed last year.

RUTH ELDER WILL IGNORE MATE'S SUIT

Husband Charges Cruelty and Indifference on Part of Aviatrix Now Here

Divorce proceedings instituted against Ruth Elder in Balboa, Panama Canal Zone, by her husband, Lyle Womack, will go uncontested as far as she is concerned, according to a statement made yesterday by the aviatrix, who now is in pictures in Hollywood. Miss Elder said yesterday that the filing of the divorce action came as a surprise to her.

"I knew nothing about it until informed by the newspapers," she said. "Under similar circumstances I would certainly have told him about it. I will not contest the divorce. He knows where I am and I think the least he could have done was to tell me."

According to yesterday's dispatches, Womack filed the proceedings in the Canal Zone District Court on the grounds of cruelty. Womack was quoted as saying he tried to effect a reconciliation with Miss Elder but she refused to join him in Panama, preferring a career.

Further the charges assert cruelty in that Womack's "weight has been reduced, efficiency for work lessened and health and reason endangered."

The divorce complaint also charges that her attempt at trans-Atlantic flight caused him many sleepless nights and he suffered grievous embarrassment when she failed to kiss him upon her return to New York.

When he attempted a husbandly kiss, he says she rebuked him, saying, "Don't be a fool."

Womack states he would be delighted if Miss Elder would return to him and he has begged her to do so but she always has refused.

Under the laws of Panama Womack may receive an interlocutory divorce decree in December, but a full divorce may not be granted before June, 1929.

TONIC TRIAL TO BE MADE STATE TEST

Federal Agents Raid Cafe in Santa Monica After Patent Remedy Drink

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, Sept. 5. (Exclusive)—Certain proprietors of soft-drink establishments in the Bay District, asserted by police to be selling wine tonics and other patent medicines said to contain high alcoholic content, are declared to be watching with interest the case of Antonio Andrianos, whose establishment, the Casino Cafe, 2941 Ocean Front, was raided last night after Prohibition Officer Brown purchased a drink there, according to Santa Monica police.

Federal officers from Los Angeles made the raid, and the beverage purchased by Brown was asserted to contain 22 per cent alcohol. Detectives Watson and Greer of this city's police force were with the posse.

Andrianos was arraigned before Police Judge Spencer this morning on a charge of violating the State liquor law, and Police Chief Webb, who admitted the arrest was a test case, declared that a conviction would mean action against scores of amusement-zone and other establishments.

Assistant City Attorney Orlando Rhodes, who will prosecute the case, stated that convictions in similar cases have been obtained in Oregon and Idaho, the Supreme Court of the former State having upheld the conviction of a defendant charged with the sale of patent medicine containing 20 per cent alcohol.

Other California cities are said to be watching the Santa Monica test case with interest.

BENEFIT SHOW ARRANGED

A variety-vaudeville entertainment for the benefit of American war mothers is being arranged by Gertrude Gifford Hand, to be presented at Patriotic Hall, 1816 South Figueroa street, the evening of the 21st inst. The program will include more than a dozen headline acts. Eddie Quillan will be master of ceremonies. Among those who will appear will be Jane Hall, Doris Spencer, Adia Rowe, Edward Schenck, Mme. Rial Muriel, Emilie Lindsey, Ralph Coates, Jane Crowley, Harry Roberts, Lotta De Lone, Paul Franz Anhalt, Sheldon Lewis, Cedric E. Hart and others.

ENDURANCE GOAL PERILED

Roscoe Turner Will Seek to Outdo Record Germans Hold for Time in Air Tomorrow

Roscoe Turner will take off Sunday morning in an effort to break the world's airplane endurance record, he announced yesterday. The flight will be essayed at the Long Beach municipal airport. He must stay in the air sixty-six hours and twenty-six minutes to break the present world's record of sixty-five hours and twenty-six minutes made in July by the Germans Zimmerman and Ristics.

Carl Shorey, secretary of the National Aeronautical Association, and four other official timers, will officiate at the watches, it was announced.

ROSCOE TURNER.

Turner will fly a specially built biplane made in the Glendale plant of O. W. Timm and powered with a 360-horsepower Menasco - Salmson engine. It made a test flight yesterday with 500 gallons of gasoline and took off in 1800 feet, it was asserted. Tomorrow the gasoline load will be 720 gallons, Turner said. He has been preparing the plane and arrangement for the flight for some time.

Turner came here with Mrs. Turner as his navigator last March from the East in a big bombing plane for use in motion pictures. He has not announced who his assistant will be in the proposed flight.

TWO-STOP PACIFIC HOP TO SHANGHAI PROJECTED

A two-stop flight from San Francisco to Shanghai, China, backed by the Chinese government, may be attempted early in 1929, it was disclosed yesterday by Jimmie Angel, former Fresno flyer now located at the Airflite, Inc., field near Gardena, who has agreed to make the trip as a copilot if a suitable plane is provided.

Arrangements are being made by Dr. Tien Lau Huang, Chinese goodwill flyer, who now is in Chicago. Joe Lynch of Atlantic City has been selected tentatively as the other pilot, Angel said. Dr. Huang is expected to visit here or enter further negotiations with Angel within the next few days. Both a Prudden trimotored all-metal ship and a trimotored Fokker are under consideration.

Angel is rushing to completion at Long Beach a special plane equipped with a 300-horsepower Hispano-Suiza motor in which he and Lieut. Lang Gornall, formerly of the Royal Flying Corps, will enter the National Air Races nonstop flight from New York to Los Angeles. They plan to leave here Saturday morning and make New York in two hops.

WOMEN AID CULVER CITY AIR MARKING

Friday Luncheon Club Puts Finishing Touches to Sign on Studio Roof

Women of Culver City are doing their part to aid aviation, and incidentally to gain publicity for their city, according to an announcement made yesterday by Miss Evelyn Williams, president of the Friday Luncheon Club of that city which is just completing its task of making their community the "best air-marked town in the world."

While the newsreel cameras click on the roof of a stage at the De-Mille Studios today, members of the club, who are business women, will apply the finishing touches to their last marker, Miss Williams said.

A campaign was started by the club several weeks ago to place markers on principal buildings of the town, it was stated, and through the co-operation of city officials and various organizations signs were painted on five buildings and the name Culver City was placed on the roof of the City Hall in white tile. "Culver City Welcomes Airmen" also has been painted on the ground at Lindbergh Park.

"It was a magic record for us," said Mrs. Josephine Tague, vice-president, who, with Miss Marian Rafferty and Miss Helen Nason, formed the committee in charge of the project. "Everywhere we were received with enthusiasm and cheerful co-operation was extended. The Lions' and Exchange clubs did splendid work. The studios fell in line immediately and as a result we are over 100 per cent."

Insurance Chief Accepts Post in Chest Campaign

George I. Cochran, president of the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company, yesterday became head of Committee No. 1 of the Community Chest's central division, which will obtain the contributions of the "big giver" group during the 1928 campaign commencing November 12, next.

George I. Cochran

Mr. Cochran accepted one of the twenty-five vice-chairmanships in the central division, adding his name to those of John G. Bullock, Ben R. Meyer, Harold Janss, Orra E. Monnette, Joseph Scott and others.

"While the 'big giver' group in Los Angeles in the past has contributed far less individually than similar groups in other large cities," Mr. Cochran declared in announcing his acceptance, "I feel that this is due to the fact that the chests have existed for a greater number of years in those cities. Our business men only now are awakening to the fact that the Community Chest has done much to solidify a fine-spirited civic consciousness of those communities."

NONPROVIDER GIVEN YEAR ON ROCK PILE

Declaring that he would rather work than quit drinking, Artemus W. Elsey, 1421 West Fifty-seventh street, was told yesterday by Municipal Judge Bullock that he would do both for at least a year. Elsey was sentenced to serve the year on the rock pile, after he had been found guilty of failure to provide for his two children, Mary, 14 years of age, and Earl, 11. Mrs. Ora Elsey, his wife, testified that for the last year her husband has worked only long enough to get money to go on a spree. He had been drunk since he gave her $20 three weeks ago, she declared.

Suspect Held in Pinchings

If women are to be pinched in Los Angeles the job is one that falls within the rights of the police, who are sure to do the pinching in a lawful manner. So when several women, among them Mrs. Pat O'Neill of 2636 South Grand avenue, and Miss Minnie Rodriguez of 402½ East Fifth street, reported that a man had pinched them as they walked down the street, police immediately began to hunt for the man.

Upon the description provided by the women Police Officer Pascal arrested William R. Bailey, 27 years of age, who says he resides at 1204 Cloverdale avenue and is a bus boy. He was booked on a charge of suspicion of vagrancy.

POSSESSOR RECEIVES JAIL TERM AND FINE

Von L. Dickerson, taxi driver, yesterday was sentenced to pay a fine of $2000 and to serve nine months in jail by Municipal Judge Valentine after he had pleaded guilty to a charge of having liquor in his residence at 412 Lucas street. Police Officers Crane and Smith testified they found three quarts of gin, five pints of moonshine and a bottle of creme de menthe at Dickerson's home. Under questioning by Deputy City Prosecutor Higgins, Dickerson admitted that he had two prior convictions for violations of the Wright Act.

VINCENT MARTINS SAIL SATURDAY FOR EUROPE

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Martin (nee Sally Jeffries) will sail tomorrow for Antwerp, Holland, where Mr. Martin has been assigned to a position in a branch of National City Bank of New York. They have been spending their honeymoon in New York.

TITLE CONCERNS OPEN TAX FIGHT

Three Trust Companies Seek Return of $500,000

Contend Escrow Income Can Not be Assessed

Payment of Millions in Future Involved

With the filing yesterday of an action in the United States District Court $500,000 is sought in return for taxes paid by three large Los Angeles title and insurance companies and the prospect of the payment of millions of dollars in the future was placed in the balance.

Three companies, Title Insurance and Trust Company, Title Guaranty and Trust Company and the California Title Insurance Company, each filed two suits against the United States government for the recovery of income taxes paid from 1921 to 1924.

Two other suits are to be filed by the Union Title and Trust Company of San Diego, it was stated by Marc F. Mitchell, attorney for all of the companies.

AMOUNT SOUGHT $500,000

The total amount sought to be recovered, it was stated, would reach $500,000. It is one of the largest suits for recovery of taxes filed in the local Federal Court, it was stated.

It is asserted in the action that the corporations paid $500,000 in taxes during the period from 1921 to 1924, but they assert they are entitled to the return of the money because the revenue law does not tax their income as they are insurance companies and are taxed in that capacity. It was stated in the suits that Commissioner of Internal Revenue Blair has always taxed the title companies as insurance companies and that such tax is not questioned. It is contended by Attorney Mitchell that the government cannot tax the companies on trust and escrow income as such items are not mentioned in the laws.

CHARGE DOUBLE TAXATION

It is also contended that the title companies are really insurance companies and have been taxed as such. They assert that the case involves double taxation and seek the return of the amount mentioned in the suit, all of which has previously been paid in as taxes.

Rex B. Goodcell, who was Collector of Internal Revenue during the period of the collection of the taxes, was mentioned as a party defendant.

Grand Jury's Quiz Shakes Teeth Loose

Blame for the disappearance of a woman's false teeth while she was in the Sheriff's office Tuesday yesterday was traced directly to the Los Angeles county grand jury.

The missing teeth, which for two days caused no end of embarrassment to deputy sheriffs who were accused of talking the woman out of her molars, were finally discovered reposing beside the witness stand in the grand jury room.

Investigation revealed that the woman who lost the teeth had been called before the grand jury to testify in an investigation. While answering the rapid-fire questions put to her by members she finally removed her plates.

When the questioning was finished she left the room without replacing them.

Boating Novice Given Blame for Abbott Accident

A youth whose name was not learned is held responsible for the motorboat accident Monday in Newport Harbor in which F. Roderic Abbott, purchasing agent for Pasadena schools, was hurt seriously.

According to A. T. Waldo of Alhambra, who was with Mr. Abbott's party in the latter's boat, a youth, apparently a novice in operating an outboard type motorboat, veered his course as the larger craft passed and Mr. Abbott was struck in the face by the tiny craft as it crashed into his boat.

Mr. Abbott was taken to the Newport Hospital for treatment and later removed to his island summer home. Mr. Abbott's coat is one of the larger seaworthy craft of the harbor.

In the past four years 181,000 boxes of apples from the United States were eaten in Norway.

NEW BLOW AIMED AT DY

Opposition Files Plea for Supreme Court Action Fifth Major Legal Move in Fight

Factions in the Wilshire Boulevard Congregational Church opposed to Dr. Frank Dyer, whose ouster from ministerial duties has been sought in varied court actions during the past two months, yesterday filed petition with the State Supreme Court for a hearing on a writ to prohibit Dr. Dyer from all spiritual and temporary control of the church.

The petition, filed by Attorney Frank Hutton in behalf of the anti-Dyer faction, seeks a Supreme Court injunction barring the pastor from the pulpit and all activities related to the conduct of the church.

The action is the fifth major legal move in the fight to oust Dr. Dyer.

VARIED PROCEEDINGS

The original suit went to trial followed by an injunction prohibiting the pastor from a voice in the temporal affairs, but permitting him the use of the pulpit. The Appellate Court shortly there
